This is one of my Direct line on my Mother's line of Howse/House/Howes line thru to Lothrop of Mayflower line of Fuller. There wasn't a lot to research from this line of Howse but did find some to fill in the family. More research needs to be done.

I started doing genealogy in 1969 and all my grand parents were gone but had other members of their's could get info from. Otherwise I worked at the court house and library and cemeteries to find info I need.

I with others spent many a week at the Ft. Wayne, IN library, Salt Lake City library, Madison, WI library and many hours at Columbia, MO library just about every year from when I started. There was 4 of us who went to Iowa City every month during the good weather but now one has moved, one has passed and the other can't get out any longer and no fun to go by your self. So decided it was time to stop. This was before the internet so didn't have that to rely on but was just as well as have found a lot of wrong info on the internet. (I can't say mine is all right either) As much of it was not able to be proven for sure so just had to go by what we could find. But if anyone has proof of what you find is wrong in any of my books I would appreciate knowing it. We know every one is not 100% right as no one is perfect, even in research. New Data June 2017-GLT

So hope these books will be appreciated and enjoyed as much as I had putting them together. But I think now is the time to turn them over to someone else to enjoy as I can't get to the libraries any longer and only the internet to rely on and that isn't as much fun as going to the places where your ancestor's walked themselves.

You will notice different address's but the one above is correct.

Some of this book has been redone as found new information.

WIFE - Margery Corbett

Her parents were Robert Corbett 1485 Hatherton, Cheshire, Eng. Married Elizabeth Vernon.

CHILD 1 - Thomas Howes

Article: Religious and Political Radicalism in London: The Family of Thomas Howse, With Massachusetts Connections, 1642-1665. By Craig L. Dalley. This info says Thomas Howse stayed in London while two of his siblings had moved to New England namely Samuel Howse and Peninnah Linnell as had his sister Hannah's widower Rev John Lothrop and their children. Those siblings had been arrested for religious non-conformity in London before seeking refuge in Plymouth Colony. Like his siblings. Thomas appears to have been a religious radical.

Thomas made his last will and testament on 18 Oct 1643 even though he was only 35 years of age and enjoyed good health. (this info has to be for Thomas b 1608 son of Rev. John Howes)

Other sources listed Thomas Howse and Alice Hinton and they had son Rev. John Howes who had the children Thomas, Samuel, Peninnah Linnell and Hannah Lowthrop.

1st line of Howes: Thomas Howes 1545 Moxbury, Kent Co. Eng and and Alice Hinton.

their son Rev John Howes and Alice Lloyd who had Hannah Lowthrope, Peninah Linnell, Thomas Howes who and Elizabeth Checkett. Believe they also stayed in Eng. as Rev John Howes d. 1630 Eastwell, Eng.

HUSBAND - Thomas Howes

Article: Religious and Political Radicalism in London: The Family of Thomas Howse, With Massachusetts Connections, 1642-1665. By Craig L. Dalley. This info says Thomas Howse stayed in London while two of his siblings had moved to New England namely Samuel Howse and Peninnah Linnell as had his sister Hannah's widower Rev John Lothrop and their children. Those siblings had been arrested for religious non-conformity in London before seeking refuge in Plymouth Colony. Like his siblings. Thomas appears to have been a religious radical. Thomas made his last will and testament on 18 Oct 1643 even though he was only 35 years of age and enjoyed good health. (this info has to be for Thomas b 1608 son of Rev. John Howes)

Other sources listed Thomas Howse and Alice Hinton and they had son Rev. John Howes who had the children Thomas, Samuel, Peninnah Linnell and Hannah Lowthrop.

1st line of Howes: Thomas Howes 1545 Moxbury, Kent Co. Eng and md Alice Hinton. their son Rev John Howes md Alice Lloyd who had Hannah Lowthrope, Peninah Linnell, Thomas Howes who md Elizabeth Checkett. Believe they also stayed in Eng. as Rev John Howes d. 1630 Eastwell, Eng.

Pedigree chart from RootsWeb WorldConnect project. (copy)

CHILD 1 - John Howes Rev.

Oct 2018 located info on John Howse from the Wikitree internet site which listed more children than other sources listed so not sure which list is actually right.

Those listed were with info on most of them: Elizabeth Howse, Hannah House Lathrop, Peninah Hawse, Jemimah Howse Thomas Howes, Drusilla Howse, John Howse, Pricilla House, Thomas House, John House, Samuel House Sr., Henry Howse, Elizabeth Howse Chamion. (13 children.)

It is possible that Jemimah and Peninah Jemimah are the same person. But why 2 Thomas's and 2 Elizabeth's. These children were listed from WikiTree pedigree chart as well as site of John and Alice Lloyd Howse.

He was said to be rector at the church of Eastwell in Kent, England. From 1603 to his death 1630.

He most likely married his daughter Hannah to John Lothrop (Rev). in Oct 1610. Hannah b. 1594 (been 16 at time of marriage).

Elizabeth Overman Feb 2005 stated wife was Alice Lloyd b. ca 1572 d. 8 Nov 1653. Also stated Rev. John b. abt 1560 and died 30 Aug 1630.

John may have had 2 wives. Alice was named in his will. But another wife mentioned died before he came to America and possible the first 3 children were from 1st wife, Unknown? This info was from "The Register" Journal of American Genealogy, Vol 170, Winter 2016 n pg 25-44

The first 3 children has been listed as Hannah (Allen) Chapman, 2 other's.

Most info on Rev John Howse from The Lothrop Family Foundation Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010 about his life and his children, however only listed death as 1630 when he was at Eastwell, England.

Few sites on Internet list some of same info and some little different.

Info from Lothrop Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 from article "The Howes, Lothrop's & Linnells of Kent & London, England and Scituate & Barnstable, Massachusetts" by Dan R. McConnell and reprinted with the permission of the Cape Cod Gen. Soc.

The family of Reverend John Howes (also House, Howse), whose children, kin, and friends were brought before the Royal Court of the High Commission in London, England in the 1630's, were persecuted and imprisoned for their religious beliefs. These beliefs also were political effects, which we will explain. Some fled to America, first to Scituate, then Barnstable, both of which were in Plymouth Colony, a place friendly to their Separatist beliefs. Others remained in England and played a key role in the emergence of non-conformist churches, the disputes in Parliament and the English Civil War.

In the 17th Century, for ordinary people, a lengthy confinement in the London prisons of Newgate, Clink, Fleet or Bridewell was tantamount to a death sentence due to crowded, filthy, disease-ridden conditions. Such dangerous

Notes CHILD 1 - John Howes Rev. (Continued) confiement, for religious nonconformity, under the arbitrary rules of the High Commission, became adriving force for like minded people to flee to America. English resentment to the many breaches of Common Law by the High Commission led to the rise of Parliament in opposition, and ultimately to the abolishment of th High Commission in 1641 and the Civil War of the 1640's . After the "Glorious Revolution" in 1688, the English Bill of Rights was enacted to specifically forbid such practices, echoed famously in our own Bill of Rights, the First Ten Amendments to the US. Constitution. For the Howes family an their kin, the road to prison and to America began in Kent. The Revermd John Howes matriculated at St. John's College, Cambridge in 1590. He is listed in the Alumni Cantabrigienses as such, with the further note that he was Rector at Eastwell, Kent, in 1610. From the Bishop's Transcripts of Eastwell (held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives) and from his location at the times of the baptisms of his children, he seemed likely to have been Rector of Eastwell from 1603 until his death in 1630, and this has subsequently ben confirmed from other sources. He performed the marriage ceremony for his daughter Hannah, in her marriage to Rev. John Lothrop (also Lothrop) in Eastwell, 16 Oct 1610. In his will dated 1630, he is described as Minister, Eastwell. Also in his will, his wife's name is given as Alice. In the Bishop's Transcripts of Egerton (again held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives), John Howes is shown as Curate between 1592 and 1596. Other sources confirm that he was appointed Curate there in 1592 and still held that post in 1599. He had presumably left by 1605, when a Mr Austen was shown as Curate there. John Lothrop was appointed as Curate of Egerton in 1610. There seems too much different info on this Howse Family is hard to know what is right.

confronted for religious nonconformity under the statutory rules of the High Commission, became a driving force for like minded people to flee to America. Notes

Henry Howse, Elizabeth Howse Chapman. (13 children.)

It is possible that Jemimah and Peninah Jemimah are the same person. But why 2 Thomas's and 2 Elizabeth's.

These children were listed from WikiTree pedigree chart as well as site of John and Alice Lloyd Howse. His birth listed 1566 Eastwell, Kent, Eng, Married 1593 to Alice Lloyd. (copy)

He was said to be rector at the church of Eastwell in Kent, England. From 1603 to his death 1630.

He most likely married his daughter Hannah to John Lothrop (Rev). in Oct 1610 . Hannah b. 1594 (been 16 at time of marriage).

Elizabeth Overman Feb 2005 stated wife was Alice Lloyd b. ca 1572 d. 8 Nov 1653.

Also stated Rev. John b. abt 1560 and died 30 Aug 1630.

John may have had 2 wives. Alice was named in his will. But another wife mentioned died before he came to America and possible the first 3 children were from 1st wife, Unknown? This info was from "The Register" Journal of American Genealogy, Vol 170, Winter 2016 n pg 25-44

The first 3 children has been listed as Hannah (Allen) Chapman, 2 other's.

Most info on Rev John Howse from The Lothrop Family Foundation Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010 about his life and his children, however only listed death as 1630 when he was at Eastwell, England.

Few sites on Internet list some of same info and some little different.

Info from Lothrop Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 from article "The Howes, Lothrop's & Linnells of Kent & London, England and Scituate & Barnstable, Massachusetts" by Dan R. McConnell and reprinted with the permission of the Cape Cod Gen. Soc.

*The Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc. Newsletter Summer 2020 Vol XX1, No 3:

The Howes, Lothrop's & Linnells of Kent and London, England and Scituate & Barnstable Mass, by Dan R. McConnell.

The family of Reverend John Howes (also House, Howse), whose children, kin, and friends were brought before the Royal Court of the High Commission in London, England in the 1630's, were persecuted and imprisoned for their religious believes. These beliefs also were political effects, which we will explain. Some fled to America, first to Scituate, then Barnstable, both of which were in Plymouth Colony, a place friendly to their Separatist beliefs. Others remained in England and played a key role in the emergence of not-conformist churches, the disputes in Parliament an the English Civil War.

In the 17th Century, for ordinary people, a lengthy confinement in the London prisons of Newgate, Clink, Fleet or Bridewell was tantamount to a death sentence due to crowded, filthy, disease-ridden conditions. Such dangerous confinement, for religious nonconformity, under the arbitrary rules of the High Commission, became a driving force for like minded people to flee to America. English resentment to the many breaches of Common Law by the High Commission led to the rise of Parliament in opposition, and ultimately to the abolishment of the High Commission in 1641 and the Civil War of the 1640's . After the "Glorious Revolution" in 1688, the English Bill of Rights was enacted to specifically forbid such practices, echoed famously in our own Bill of Rights, the First Ten Amendments to the US Constitution.

For the Howes family and their kin, the road to prison and to America began in Kent. The Reverend John Howes matriculated at St. John's College, Cambridge in 1590. He is listed in the Alumni Cantabrigienses as such, with the further note that he was Rector at Eastwell, Kent, in 1610. From the Bishop's Transcripts of Eastwell (held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives) and from his location at the times of the baptisms of his children, he seemed likely to have been Rector of Eastwell from 1603 until his death in 1630, and this has subsequently been confirmed from other sources. He performed the marriage ceremony for his daughter Hannah, in her marriage to Rev. John Lothrop (also Lothrop) in Eastwell, 16 Oct 1610. In his will dated 1630, he is described as Minister, Eastwell. Also in his will, his wife's name is given as Alice. In the Bishop's Transcripts of Egerton (again held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives), John Howes is shown as Curate between 1592 and 1596. Other sources confirm that he was appointed Curate there in 1592 and still held that post in 1599. He had presumably left by 1605, when a Mr Austen was shown as Curate there. John Lothrop was appointed as Curate of Egerton in 1610. (copy)

Husband Alice Howse, Son of NN Howse and NN Howse (other info says he was son of Thomas Howse and Alice Hinton). Burial Royal Tunbridge Wells, Kent Eng, death 30 Aug 1630 age 54. Father of Hannah Lathrop, Jemimah Linnell, Drusilla Player/Plyer, Thomas House Sr. Samuel House and 4 others. (Elizabeth Champion, Peninah Howse Linnell, Priscilla, Henry)

There seems too much different info on this Howse Family is hard to know what is right.

WIFE - Alice Lloyd

Elizabeth Overman has listed wife Alice Lloyd b. ca 1572 died 8 Nov 1653 don't know from what source. Feb 2005

Some internet sites from Family Search and Worldconnect also have wife of Rev. John Howes as Alice Lloyd and also Alice ?. born 1572 of Eastwell, Kent, Eng and died 8 Nov 1653 (1633) prob Eastwell, Kent, England. Believed buried in England. Md 30 Aug ? Kent, England

First child appears to have been born 1592 Eastwell, Kent, England, died.

2nd appears to be Hannah Howse/Howes b. abt 1594 of Eastwell, Kent, England who md Rev. John Lothrop. She died living just outside London in Lamberth Marsh, England while he was in the Newgate prison. Hoowever her death date does not agree with other sources where stated He was let out in 1633 to visit his dying wife and 1634 his children begged him to be let out if left for America whcih was stated he did. John died 1653 so that is where dates differ.

Hannah and Rev John Lothrop has listed 8 children born from 1612 thru 1624 all in England.

Md 10 Oct 1610 name listed as Hannah Howse at EAswell, Kent, England.

Was said John and Alice had 8 children, possibly they had 10 children: Hannah, Drusilla, Elizabeth, Jemimah (Pinninah?), Elizabeth, John, Henry, Priscilla, Thomas. (from one listd on the internet).

Was said they had a son Samuel as well.

CHILD 1 - Hannah Howse

*2018 located info on Hannah (House) Lathrop from WikiTree internet site. Name formerly House aka Howse, Howes. Born abt 1594 Eastwell, Kent, Eng. Dau of John Howse and Alice Lloyd. Died 16 Feb 1633 London, Middlesex Co. Eng. Married John Lothrop 10 Occt6 1610 (to 16 Feb 1633) London, Middlesex Co. Eng. She died just before or just after John Lothrop got out of prison and was to leave for America. Was stated Hannah's father married them. They listed 8 children and listed 12 siblings. Their son Samuel married Elizabeth Scudder, not the Samuel from the generation before. Jane Fuller, Anne, John, Barbara Emerson, Thomas md Sarah Larned Ewer, Samuel md Elizabeth Scudder, Joseph md Mary Ansell and Benjamin md Martha ?. Hannah was buried in London, Middlesex Eng. (copy)

Latest name change was from The Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc, Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010 which listed his name as Reverend John Howes and all their children was listed with that spelling.

Hannah may not be dau of Alice, as has been said John's 1st three children may have been from and unknown wife before he married Alice. Elizabeth Champion, Hannah Lothrop, Drusilla Howes

She was said to be dau of Rev. John Howse and Alice. Had a brother Samuel who came to America with husband Rev. John Lathrop 1634.

They were living just outside London, England when she died at Lamberth Marsh while husband was in jail at Newgate. Was said she died before 24 Apr 1634 when her husband was released from prison.

He had to leave London as soon as he was released and many of his friends and family went with him to America. this info was from The New England Historical and Genealogical Register 170 (Winter 2018 45-57.

Hannah and John believe to have had 8 children.

Hannah's name has also been written as Howse and House besides Howes.

CHILD 2 - Jemimah "Peninah" Howse

*Oct 2018 located info on Peninah Howse from WikiTree site. Birth 11 Apr 1595 Egerton, Kent, Eng.

Death 1643. (another death date listed 1669 so not sure which is right). Death date not right.

Dau of John Howse and Alice Lloyd. 12 siblings listed. No info on mg or children here. (copy)

Name could have been listed as Jemima "Penninah" Howse also. as there was info on her from WikiTree site with

Notes

same info that applied to Peninah Howse. Married to Robert Linnell b. 1584 London, Eng. Married 10 Aug 1610 London to Jemimah Howse listed 7 children. Robert d. 23 Jan 1662 Barnstable, MA. This site listed info on the will of Robert Linnell and it listed his wife Jemimah (Penniah) Linnell as widdow and then she on 20 Oct 1669 complained to the court that David Linnit had possessed himself of the house and land given to her by her deceased husband. Appeared David did agree to her complaint. (copy)

Rootsweb site from Furtaw & Edwards Ancestry liste peninah Howes born bef 1638 Eng and died after 1663 MA. Dau of John Howes and Alice Lloyd and md Robert aLinnell and listed 1 dau Hannah Linnell (copy)

Info from The Lothrop Family Foundation Inc, Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010.

Peninah Howes bapt Egerton 11 Apr 1596. Died after 1669 Barnstable, MA. Md between 1632 and 1638 to Robert Linnell, probably in London (the will of her brother Thomas Howes in 1643 gives her name as Peninah Linnell (also Lynell). In the High Commission proceedings in 1632 she is given as Peninah Howes. All used the spelling of Peninah.

Its also been listed as Jemimia Penniah Howes md Robert Linnell?

CHILD 4 - Druscilla Howes

*Oct 2018 located info on Druscilla Howse from WikiTree internet site. Listing birth date 1601 Ashford, Kent, Eng. Death 1629 no location (other source said living 1643-44). Married Simon Player/Plyer 1623 Ashford, Kent, England. (other source said md 1637) Parents John House and Alice Lloyd. Children unknown. Listed 12 siblings. Some of info same as should be but others somewhat different. (copy) Would make sense if b 1601 & md 1623 not if b. 1616 & md 1623 unless the 1637 is right and could have been born 1616 then. Just need more research on this family.

Only other actual source is this one and dates don't match other source but will use Wikitree site now.

Inf from The Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc, Newsletter Vol XXI, no 3 Summer 2010.

Druscilla Howes bapt unkn. Married Eastwell to Simon Player 17 Apr 1637. Believe parents of Sissell Player bap14 Sep 1640 died after 16 Oct 1643.

Difference of opinion of birth date: Some have listed 1597 and 1606? and 1601 and 1616.

CHILD 5 - John Howse

*Oct 2018 located info on John Howse from WikiTree site. Listed birth date and place, death date here 1634 Eastwell, Eng. (other source says same day as brothers will so aft 1643?) Parents: John Howse and Alice Lloyd. Listed 12 siblings. Married Mary Osborne 18 Sep 1623 Ashford, Kent, England (copy)

Info from The Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc Newsletter Vol XX 1 No 3 Summer 2010

John Howes bapt Eastwell 19 Jun 1603. Married Eastwell to Mary Osborn of Ashford, 18 Sep 1623. She was about 20 when married. He was a saddler of Lenham, Kent. Maybe parents of Mary Howse bp12 Sep 1624 Lenham. and Elizabeth Howse pg Lenham 24 Sep 1626. And perhaps other children?

Died aft 18 Oct 1643 same date as his brother Thomas's will.

CHILD 8 - Thomas Howes Capt.

*Oct 2018 located info on this Thomas Howse from Find A Grave internet site that listd his birth 1608 Eastwell, Eng. and death Dec 1644 age 35-36 Greater London, England. Burial St Stephen Church (defunct), London, City of London, Greater London, England. Parents: John House 1566-1630 and Alice Lloyd 1572-1640. Spouse: Elizabeth Checkett Smith b. ?- d. 1652

Listed 4 siblings.

Note: Born abt 1608 and baptized at Eastwell, Kent on 21 Aug 1608, son of Rev. John Howse, Husband of Elizabeth (Checkett) Howse Smith.

Note: Formerly an officer in the Honourable Artillery Co, he was a captain in the Parliamentarian Army's Red Regiment of Westminster during the English Civil War.

Info from the Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010.

Thomas Howes Bapt Eastwell 21 Aug 1608. Died 1644 London. In his will dated 18 Oct 1643 and he left a codicil dated 15 Oct 1644 he lists his wife Elizabeth, to be sole executrix his brother Samuel of Scituate & Barnstable Mass., his sister Peninah Lynell, his sister Druscilla Player and his son Samuel Howes. He also list as administrators the famous Puritan, Praise God Barbon (influential Member of Parliament of the Commonwealth period, known as "Barebones Parliament") and William Granger, who was brought up before the High Commission along with Barbon's wife Sara. The Barbons, Granger, Peninah and Samuel Howes (brother to Thomas) along with Robert Linnell, were members of the Rev. Lothrop's congregation in London. This congregation is known to modern historians as the Jacob/Lothrop/Jessey church.

Overseers were to be brohter in law Symon Player and Prayse Barbon. Elizabeth the mother left a will dated 14 Oct 1652, proved 23 oct 1652, mentioning children Samuel House and Elizabeth House.

Religious and Political Radicalism in London: The Family of Thomas Howse with Massachusetts Connections 1642-1665 by Craig L. Dalley (copy)

Civil War Service in the Parliamentary Militia:

St Stephen Coleman Street parish records list Thomas's burial as 17 Dec 1644 and identify him as "Thomas House a Captaine". At first glance this appears to contradict both Thomas's will, which identified him as a 'brownebaker' and notarial record for his brother Samuel, which identified Thomas as a 'watchmaker'.

Pg 28 Leadership in London Livery Companies (more about Thomas) pg 29-31 Religious Radicism of Thomas Howse's Friends. More abt his will and who he listed in it.

Pg 32 Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howes's Siblings:

Pg 33-35 Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howse's Wife's Family: She survived Thomas by 8 years and 12 Jun 1645 she md Robert Smith at St Alphage London Wall.

Pg 36 Radicalism of Thomas Howse's sister Hannah (Howse) Allen Chapman:

More from this site listed Rev. John Howse's info and on his children also. seems the first Hannah md Allen Chapman and the second Hannah md Rev John Lothrop. Also listed info on son Thomas Howse's children as well here.

Just so much different info on this Howse family it is hard to tell what is right.

CHILD 9 - Samuel Howes

* Oct 2018 located info on Samuel House Sr. from WikiTree site listed his birth abt Jun 1610 Eastwell, Kent. England. Parents John Howse and Alice Lloyd. Md Elizabeth Hammond 1635-36 Mass. He died 12 Apr 1661 Scituate, Plymouth Co. MA. Samuel listed Father of Elizabeth Sutton and Samuel House Jr. His siblings listed as Elizabeth Howse, Hannah Lathrop, Peninah Hawse, Jemimah Howse, Thomas Howse, Drusilla Howse, John Howse, Priscilla House, Thomas House, John House, Henry Howse and Elizabeth Howse Champion. Died maybe in England? No spouse or children listed. Was listed his siblings. Same as other siblings listed. Died aft 29 Mar 1631 when his indenture was presented to the Brown Bakers" Court of Assistants in London. CHILD 13 - Elizabeth Howse * Oct 2018 located info on Elizabeth Howse from Wikitree internet site. Birth 1615 Eastwell, Kent, Eng, Death not known but in England. Parents John Howse and Alice Lloyd. Wife of Unknown Champion married 1637 in of Ashford, Kent, Eng. , but was said she md John Champion. Listed 12 siblings. (copy) If born 1615 and md 1637 she would be 22 which makes more sense. Use WikiTree site as dates for now untill more research has been done. Info from The Lothrop Family Foundation Inc Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010 . Elizabeth Howes bapt unknown, married, Eastwell to John Champion, of Little Chart, 28 Sep 1607. This can't be right unless her birth was say 15 years before would be abt 1592 and if abt that time she would have been abt age 37.

Mrs Alice Howse was born about 1572.

According to June G. Henderson's 'The Ancestry of Chamberlin and Grant, Vol. II' (Baltimore, MD: Gateway Press, 2000, 788), Alice Howse's maiden name was 'Lloyd.' She married, about 1590, Rev. John Howse (variously spelled 'Howse,' Howes,' and 'House').

According to Clifford L. Stott's "Lothrop and House Entries in the Parish Registers of Eastwell, Kent: The Rev. John Lothrop of Scituate and Barnstable, Massachusetts" (The American Genealogist Vol. 70, No. 3 (July 1995): 250-252), burial occurred in Eastwell on 17 June 1640.

Contrary to the link below, the remains of her husband - Rev. John Howse - were definitely not laid to rest at Kent and Sussex Crematorium and Cemetery in Royal Tunbridge Wells, Kent. He passed away in 1630 in Eastwell, Kent (where he was then serving as the parish's Anglican minister) and the parish register indicates that his remains were laid to rest at Saint Mary's Church in Eastwell. Royal Tunbridge Wells did not have a church until 1829 and the cemetery indicated did not open until 1873 - over 240 years after the death of Rev. John Howse.

ASK QUESTION

It has been claimed, without evidence, that the Rev. John Howse was son of Thomas Hulse and Alice Hinton of Norbury, Cheshire. There is no reason to think this is correct. There is no scrap of evidence linking this man to Cheshire or the Hulse family.

There was a John House who married Alice Lloyd, but it is unknown if this is the same person.

Note: There are several different spellings for the family surname.

Died 30 Aug 1630

John Howse (or House) is believed to have been born between 1560 and 1566 in England. He passed away 30 August 1630. He is thought by some to have married Alice Lloyd, who died about 1640.

Children were:

1. Hannah (House) Lothrop (1594 – 1633)
2. Jemima Peninah (Howes) Linnell (1599 – 1679)
3. John Howse (b. abt. 1603)
4. Priscilla Howse (1605 – 1618)
5. Thomas Howse (1608 – 1644)
6. Samuel House (b. abt. 1610)
7. Henry Howse (b. abt. 1612)
8. Elizabeth Howse (b. abt. 1615)

Rev. John Howse passed away September 1, 1630 in Eastwell, Ashford Borough, County Kent, England and was buried on September 8, 1630 at the Kent and Sussex Cemetery and Crematorium in Royal Tunbridge Wells, Tunbridge Wells Borough, County Kent, England. He served as rector of the parish at Eastwell from 1603, until his death in 1630. ^{[1][2][3]}

The family of Reverend John Howes [also House, Howse], whose children, kin, and friends, were brought before the Royal Court of the High Commission in London, England in the 1630's, were persecuted and imprisoned for their religious beliefs. These beliefs also had political effects, which we will explain. Some fled to America, first to Scituate, then Barnstable, both of which were in Plymouth Colony in that time, a place friendly to their Separatist beliefs. Others remained in England and played a key role in the emergence of non-conformist churches, the disputes in Parliament, and the English Civil War.

In the 17 th Century, for ordinary people, a lengthy confinement in London prisons such as Newgate, Clink, Fleet or Bridewell was tantamount to a death sentence due to crowded, filthy, disease-ridden conditions. Such dangerous confinement, for religious non-conformity, under the arbitrary rules of the High Commission, became a driving force for like minded people to flee to America. English resentment to the many breaches of Common Law led to the rise of Parliament in opposition, and ultimately to the abolishment of the High Commission in 1641 and the Civil war in the 1640's. After the "Glorious Revolution" in 1688, the English Bill of Rights was enacted to specifically forbid such practices, echoed famously in our own Bill of Rights, the First Ten Amendments to the U.S Constitution.

For the Howes family and their kin, the road to prison and to America began in Kent. The Reverend John Howes matriculated at St. John's College, Cambridge in 1590. He is listed in the Alumni Cantabrigienes as such with the further note that he was rector at Eastwell, Kent in 1610. In the Bishop's Transcripts for Canterbury he is also given as Curate for Egerton, 1592-6. From his location at the time of the baptism of his children, he is likely to have also been Curate for Eastwell from 1603 to his death in 1630. He performed the marriage ceremony for his daughter Hannah, in her marriage to Rev. John Lothrop [also Lothrop] in Eastwell, 16 October, 1610. In his will, dated 1630, he is described as Minister, Eastwell. In his will, his wife's name is given as Alice.

Note. There has been great confusion in the American record to the effect that Robert Linnell's first wife was a Jemimah Howes, presumably another daughter to Rev. John Howes. This has been compounded by an LDS record of the supposed marriage of a Jemimah Howes to Robert Linnell in 1621 in Ashford, Kent. There are no records to support this.

John Lothrop, son of Thomas Lothrop, bapt, Etton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec, 1584, first entered Oxford, then withdrew and matriculated at Queen's College, Cambridge, graduating with a B.A 1606, M.A. 1609. He was curate at Little Chart 1609, Egerton 1610, serving until his resignation between 1621 and 1624. In 1625, he succeeded Henry Jacob as Minister to the first Independent Church in London, founded in 1616, and one of the five oldest independent [non-conformist] churches in England. The principles or covenant of the Jacob/Lothrop church were essentially Separatist and were very close to those of the Rev. John Robinson in Leiden [Pilgrims]. During a period of exile before 1616, Henry Jacob resided with the Robinson congregation in Leiden. These churches were illegal, as the Church of England, under the King and his appointed Archbishop of Canterbury was the only legal church. The Jacob/Lothrop church met in private, in the homes of congregants. These secret meetings for the purpose of praying preaching and interpreting the Bible, were called conventicles.

In 1632, Rev. Lothrop was arrested in the house of one of his congregants along with 42 of his congregation, and was brought before the Court of the High Commission. He, and they, were charged with sedition and holding conventicles. The political nature of the charge of sedition ["an insurrection against established authority"], and the antique language of "conventicle" [a private meeting to hear illegal preaching] renders the charges unclear to modern ears. The charges were, however, deadly serious and the court proceedings unimaginable. The accused had none of the rights of modern citizens. The court was an inquisition, where the accused were forced to testify against themselves, with our counsel. The process was so intimidating that many people were driven to flee. It was one of the driving forces in the Great Migration to New England. It was no dispute over prayer books and vestments. It was about life, death, and salvation.

First, what was the Court of the High Commission? It, along with the Court of the Star Chamber, was a Royal Prerogative Court [King's Rights], originally created in the time of Henry VII [1485-1509]. These courts were separate from the Civil Courts, or Common Law Courts, which operated on the basis of precedent, and the rights of English people under the Common Law. Originally, these courts were established under the King's right to protect individuals from abuse in Common Law Courts. Under the Elizabeth I and the Stuart Kings [James I and Charles I], these courts were used by the Church of England to suppress those who sought to reform the church, or to seek a different path to salvation, using court rules that were in clear violation with the Common Law. They came down, with extreme severity, on Separatists in particular. Because of their covenant relationship, Separatists believed that every congregation could be a church unto itself, and could elect it's own Ministers, by vote of it's elders, based upon the model of the early Christian church [pre-Constantine]. To do so meant they had no need of the Church of England, and did not accept the authority of the Bishops. This was unacceptable to the Crown. As famously said by King James I, "No Bishop, no King". Since the King was the head of the Church of England, and appointed the Archbishop, he wanted one church with order and conformity. To the King, the Separatists position implied anarchy and chaos, and must be stopped. As James I said further, "I will harry them out of the land".

Under Charles I and his Archbishop, William Laud, the screws were tightened much more. Laud was the Chief Judge of the High Commission. In his zeal to suppress nonconformists, he scrapped several principles of English Common Law, including [1] protection against self-incrimination, [2] the right to confront one's accusers, [3] the right to produce witnesses in one's own defense, [4] the right to a prompt hearing in court, so one did not languish in a dangerous jail without a trial, and [5] cruel and unusual punishments. All of these rights were suspended for those, such as the members of Rev. Lothrop's congregation, who were brought before the Court of the High Commission in May 1632.

The Ministers and there flock faced brutal treatment. For the high crime of publishing tracts critical of the Bishops many ministers had their ears cut off, their faces branded and were confined to prison for life, which meant death within a few months or a few years at most. When one was brought before the court, the requirement was to sign an oath of Allegiance to the Church of England, to forswear any contrary belief or practice and to answer any question posed by the judges, consisting of Laud and five other Bishops. To do so meant to abandon their right to choose their own Minister, to hear preaching and to attend Bible study with a Minister of their choice. They believed their own souls to be at stake. They were not allowed any of the basics of a fair trial, and certainly faced cruel punishment. So what did they do? They refused to swear the oath and were jailed. Some died in

Now, hear the voices of Archbishop Laud, of Rev. John Lothrop and of the Howes and their friends [from the Proceedings of the Court of the High Commission]:

"5 May, 1632. This day were brought to the court out of prison diverse persons which were taken on Sunday last at a conventicler met at the House of Barnet, a brewer's clerk, dwelling in the precinct of Black Friars: By name, John Lothrop, their Minister, Humphrey Barnard, Henry Dod, Samuel Eaton, William Granger, Sara Jones, Sara Jacob, Peninah Howes, Sara Barbon, Susan Wilson and diverse others"—

Statement by the Archbishop—"You show your selves to be unthankful to God, to the King and to the Church of England, that when, God be praised, through his Majesties care and ours that you have preaching in every church, and men have liberty to join in prayer and participation in the sacraments and have catechizing to enlighten you, you in an unthankful manner cast off all this yoke, and in private unlawfully assemble yourselves together making rents and divisions in the church.—You are unlearned men that seek to make up a religion of your own heads!"—"you are desperately heretical"

"Th en came in Mr. Lothrop, who is asked by what authority he had to preach and keep this conventicler." Laud,— "How many women sat cross legged upon the bed, while you sat on one side and preached and prayed most devoutly?" Lothrop. "I keep no such evil company" "Will you lay your hand upon the book and take your oath?" Lothrop. "I refuse the oath."

Peninah Howes "I dare not swear this oath till I am better informed of it, for which I desire time";—"I will give an answer of my faith, if I be demanded, but not willingly forswear myself"

Sara Barbon "I dare not swear, I do not understand it. I will tell the truth without swearing"

Then they were then all taken to the New Prison.

About English \(default\)

history

Rev. John Howse, perhaps the son of Thomas and Alice (Hinton) Howse, was born about 1570 and died on 30/Aug/1630 - Eastwell Par., Co. Kent, England - bur: 2/Sep/1630. His wife was Alice, perhaps Lloyd.

"Of his children, at least three emigrated to New England, which suggests that at least some members of the Howse family had Puritan sentiments."

Religious and Political Radicalism in London: The Family of Thomas Howse, with Massachusetts Connections, 1642–1665

Craig L. Dalley

As London moved toward civil war in the early 1640s, Thomas Howse stayed in London, while two of his siblings had moved to New England, namely, Samuel Howse and Peninnah (Howse) Linnell, as had his sister Hannah's widower, Rev. John Lothrop, and their children. Those siblings had been arrested for religious non-conformity in London before seeking refuge in Plymouth Colony. Like his siblings, Thomas appears to have been a religious radical.

Thomas made his last will and testament on 18 October 1643, even though he was only 35 years old and enjoyed good health. Identifying himself as a London citizen of St. Stephen Coleman Street parish, Thomas explained that he wrote his will due to the "uncertaintie of this mortall lyfe."^[1] Although his parish was notorious as a wellspring of religious dissent, his burial record provides evidence that he faced greater risk than just belonging to a radical parish and that the uncertainty in Thomas's life was more than just a conventional expression.

Civil War Service in the Parliamentary Militia

St. Stephen Coleman Street parish records list Thomas's burial as 17 December 1644 and identify him as "Thomas House a Captaine."^[2] At first glance, this appears to contradict both Thomas's will, which identified him as a "brownebaker,"^[3] and a notarial record for his brother Samuel, which identified Thomas as a watchmaker.^[4]

English governmental records clarify why the burial register designated Thomas as a captain. A Parliamentary order issued in August 1644 indicated payment was due to Captain Thomas Howse and fellow captains for having "served in the Entertainment [service] of the Parliament." Ten years later, a petition submitted on behalf of Thomas's widow, a fellow captain, and a fellow captain's widow requested payment and identified Thomas as an officer of the Middlesex regiment.⁵

The petition was again considered in February 1655/6. Finally in April 1656, Oliver Cromwell approved an order specifying payment of £1,238 for Thomas's salary and his expenses as a captain of the trained bands of Middlesex from 15 February 1641/2 through 9 August 1643. This order documented that Thomas had been called to fight in the Second Battle of Newbury, where he contracted the sickness that killed him. It also indicated that Thomas had not been paid earlier because the Treasurer responsible for paying him had left office after the original payment order was issued in the summer of 1644.⁶

The trained bands were local militia units that served as key participants in the Parliamentary war effort from the beginning of the Civil War through the Second Battle of Newbury. In the seventeenth century, officers of the trained bands were drawn from members of the Honourable Artillery Company, a respected fraternity that provided a training ground for military leaders. Thomas was admitted to the Honourable Artillery Company in 1635, by which time many religious non-conformists had already joined the company.⁷

One of the final events that propelled England toward civil war occurred just six weeks before Thomas began his active military service. On 4 January 1641/2, King Charles I led an armed guard to arrest five opposition leaders in the House of Commons. However, instead of removing those leaders from power, the king only succeeded in solidifying the opposition against him. In rapid succession, King Charles withdrew his family from London on 10 January 1641/2, and on the following day Parliament issued an order for the sheriffs of London and Middlesex to send two companies of the trained bands of the City of London and the County of Middlesex to provide daily security for Parliament.⁸

In August 1643 companies of Middlesex Trained Bands from the north and west of London were added to the Westminster Trained Bands and brought under control of the Committee for London Militia. After that date, Captain Thomas Howse—and his co-petitioners Captains Thomas Constable and Richard Warren—served in the trained bands of the Red Regiment of Westminster. Their regiment was deployed three times during the Civil War. The regiment was first deployed in October 1643, when it participated in the

The payment was authorized again in January 1656/7, but there is no record confirming the payment was ever made. assault of Basing House, skirmishes near Farnham, and the capture of Alton before returning to London on 20 December 1643. In July 1644, men from this regiment reinforced Abingdon. Finally, in October 1644, they fought in the Second Battle of Newbury, returning to London three days before Thomas was buried.⁹

No muster rolls survive for the Red Regiment, but there are documents listing the men and women fined either for failing to join the regiment's deployments or for failing to send delegates. The 1643 defaulters list for Thomas Howse's company included Sir Christopher Yelverton,¹⁰ who can be identified from contemporary records as living in Cripplegate Without. Identifying the location of Yelverton's residence led to records for two of Thomas's previously unknown children in the registers from St. Giles Cripplegate: the baptism of Thomas's daughter Frances in September 1637 and the burial of Thomas's son John in March 1640/1.¹¹ Thomas apparently lived in St. Giles Cripplegate, which would explain why he commanded a company of trained bands from the County of Middlesex rather than from the City of London, even though his will identified him as belonging to a London parish.

The dates when Thomas made his will and the codicil to his will match closely with the dates of his regiment's two principal campaigns. On 18 October 1643, Thomas signed his will. One week later, his regiment assembled near Windsor for the Basing House campaign.¹² On 15 October 1644, Thomas made the codicil to his will, and four days later Sir James Harrington, the commander of the Westminster regiment, wrote that the concentration of his forces for the Newbury campaign was nearly complete.¹³ It seems likely that Thomas made and then updated his will because he viewed his imminent deployments as being risky. Those deployments probably caused Thomas truly to consider his mortal life to be uncertain.

The Howes, Lothrop's & Linnells of Kent & London, England and Scituate & Barnstable, Massachusetts

By: Dan R. McConnell and reprinted with the permission of the Cape Cod Genealogical Society

The family of Reverend John Howes (also House, Howse), whose children, kin, and friends were brought before the Royal Court of the High Commission in London, England in the 1630's, were persecuted and imprisoned for their religious beliefs. These beliefs also had political effects, which we will explain. Some fled to America, first to Scituate, then Barnstable, both of which were in Plymouth Colony, a place friendly to their Separatist beliefs. Others remained in England and played a key role in the emergence of non-conformist churches, the disputes in Parliament, and the English Civil War.

In the 17th Century, for ordinary people, a lengthy confinement in the London prisons of Newgate, Clink, Fleet or Bridewell was tantamount to a death sentence due to crowded, filthy, disease-ridden conditions. Such dangerous confinement, for religious non-conformity, under the arbitrary rules of the High Commission, became a driving force for like minded people to flee to America. English resentment to the many breaches of Common Law by The High Commission led to the rise of Parliament in opposition, and ultimately to the abolishment of the High Commission in 1641 and the Civil war of the 1640's. After the "Glorious Revolution" in 1688, the English Bill of Rights was enacted to specifically forbid such practices, echoed famously in our own Bill of Rights, the First Ten Amendments to the U.S Constitution.¹

For the Howes family and their kin, the road to prison and to America began in Kent. The Reverend John Howes matriculated at St. John's College, Cambridge in 1590. He is listed in the Alumni Cantabrigienses,² as such, with the further note that he was Rector at Eastwell, Kent, in 1610. From the Bishop's Transcripts of Eastwell (held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives) and from his location at the times of the baptisms of his children, he seemed likely to have been Rector of Eastwell from 1603 until his death in 1630, and this has subsequently been confirmed from other sources. He performed the marriage ceremony for his daughter Hannah, in her marriage to Rev.

John Lothrop (also Lothrop) in Eastwell, 16 October, 1610. In his will, dated 1630, he is described as Minister, Eastwell. Also, in his will, his wife's name is given as Alice. In the Bishop's Transcripts of Egerton (again held at Canterbury Cathedral Archives), John Howes is shown as Curate between 1592 and 1596. Other sources confirm that he was appointed Curate there in 1592 and still held that post in 1599. He had presumably left by 1605, when a Mr. Austen was shown as Curate there. John Lothrop was appointed as Curate of Egerton in 1610.

From the Editor: Well, Summer is finally here and I hope that you are enjoying the warm weather.

Since the last Newsletter, I have been in contact with the Howes Family Association. By chance, I happened to see a notice of their Reunion which is scheduled in Salem, MA in August. Since the proximity of the Howes and Lothrop Families and the venue, are so close, I couldn't resist getting in contact with Al Howes of that group. As it turned out, I am on the program to speak about "Things Seen in Salem". This should be fun, since I have grown quit attached to Salem and its rich treasury of historical events and personages. Thomas Howes and his family were in Salem as early as 1637, the same time that Thomas Lothrop and his cousin Mark were in Salem. Surely, they knew each other. Several Howes, including The Reverend John Lothrop's brother-in-law, Samuel Howes were in Scituate and Barnstable at the beginning of those towns; more about these folks beginning on Page 1.

Work continues on the update. The volunteers are editing, proofing, and still entering data (mainly on unconnected Lathrops who submitted their information). It's not too late to update any information that has been previously submitted. Please send the updated data to Marla Vincent as an attachment (in GEDCOM format if submitting from a genealogy program) to an e-mail, or by USPS to 226 Paddock's Path, Dennis, MA 02638. Submissions will be accepted until 31 August 2010.

I've been meaning to mention to you all, that I will be giving a talk on Rev. John Lothrop and his congregation in London before the courts, at the Sturgis Library in Barnstable on September 19, 2010 at 7:00 PM. The library asked if we would publicize it on our web site or such.

Also, I have been asked to write a similar article for The Congregational Quarterly, a journal of the Congregational Church. It would appear in the Fall.

I have to squeeze these things in, as I am still working, though I plan to retire in September [really].

Subject: Clara Wells LATHROP

From: Dick rpu@mac.com

I am doing some research on the background of the Lathrop Retirement Communities in Northampton and Easthampton, Ma. The root of the name is in the work of Clara Lathrop (1853-1907) who, while living in Northampton, MA established a home for invalid and indigent single women. The home was established in 1884 and is still active.

That home later contributed to the establishment of the Lathrop Retirement in Northampton, (about 1980-84) and then to a second and larger campus in Easthampton (about 1998).

The only information I have been able to find so far is the existence of one Clara Wells Lathrop, who was born in Northampton in 1853 and became a well know painter, whose work still hangs in the Cincinnati museum of fine arts. It is doubtful that there were 2 Clara Lathrops I did find a reference on-line for a Clara Welles Lathrop born in Savannah, GA on the same date and the same date and place of death. Perhaps the Savannah reference is in error?¹

I don't know for sure whether Clara Wells Lathrop is the same person who founded the Lathrop Home in Northampton in 1884. I suspect so, since Clara's Maternal grandfather, was Dr. Daniel Stebbins of Northampton, MA would you be able to confirm that Clara L. was indeed Clara Wells L? and if so, do you have any other information on her that would be helpful in writing about her? For instance, did she attend Smith College in Northampton? Smith is a women's college founded in 1871. Clara Lathrop would have been of an age to attend the then-newly founded college.

Thanks in advance for any help you are able to offer. Richard Unsworth, Senior Fellow, Kahn Liberal Arts Institute at Smith College.

¹ As it turns out, Clara's father Henry was a prominent business person in Savannah and the birth information about Savannah is probably correct.

Editors Note: The present Lathrop Home doesn't seem to be forthcoming on its origins. If you have some knowledge about this would you let me know what you know about this subject?

As we can see, Clara was talented and well thought of.

From Huntington: Lineage of Clara Wells Lathrop

1299. Henry Lathrop, born in West Springfield, Sept. 8, 1811, 3rd Son of Dwight Lathrop. Henry married in Northampton, Mass., Sept. 26, 1849, to Clara, daughter of Dr. Daniel Stebbins. For many years he was a prominent merchant in Savannah, Ga.

632. Dwight Lathrop, born in West Springfield, April 9, 1780. 7th child and 7th son of Rev. Joseph Lathrop, DD He became a merchant and settled in New York City. He married, Feb. 16, 1806, Lora, daughter of Jere and Elizabeth (Brewster) Stebbins of Windham, (presumably CT)

285. Rev. Joseph Lathrop, DD. born in Norwich, CT, October 20, 1731, 2nd child and only son of Solomon Lathrop, Married Elizabeth Dwight on May 16, 1759

The following memoir was furnished by the Rev. Geo. F. Cushman, D.D. of New York City.

Few of the descendants of Lathrop, the pioneer, have reached greater distinction, or conferred more luster upon the name, than the Rev. Joseph Lathrop, D.D., for sixty-five years the pastor of the Congregational Church in West Springfield, Mass. As a husband, father, and citizen; as a scholar and divine, a thinker and writer; as a wise counselor and friend; as a faithful shepherd, he was honored alike in life and in death. He was beloved and revered by his contemporaries, and at the centennial of his ordination, late generations strove to pay to his memory the deserved tribute of praise. - His fame has gained rather than lost by the lapse of time. Even in his lifetime it had crossed the seas; it was bounded by no sectarian lines. He was a Congregational minister, in the days when it meant more than it does now, but an eminent Episcopal clergyman could say, the best works in my library are those of the Rev. Dr. Joseph Lathrop." He was a distinguished light to those without as well as within his own fold. His influence in the valley of the Connecticut was almost without limit. He was ranked with the most distinguished of the New England divines. He was a man of the ripest intellect, of the deepest piety, and now, five generations since his birth, his name is lovingly recalled, and, like the alabaster box of ointment exceeding precious, its fragrance fills the land, so true is it that "The sweet remembrance of the just shall flourish when he sleeps in dust."

118. Solomon Lathrop, born in Norwich, Dec. 13, 1706, 9th of 12 children and 4th son of Joseph Lathrop and 6th child of Elizabeth, (Joseph's 2nd wife.) and married, Feb. 6, 1728-9, Mrs. Martha, widow of Thomas Todd, of Rowley, Mass., and daughter of Dea. Joseph and Martha (Morgan) Perkins, of Lisbon, Conn., where she was born Aug. 28, 1705. He settled in Norwich. His son, the Rev. Dr. Joseph Lathrop, of West Springfield, in his own autobiography, thus speaks of him, not from his own personal recollections, of course, but from some of the father's papers which had fallen in his hands: "From memoirs which he left, and from letters which he wrote to his particular friends, and which I have seen, I have formed an opinion of him, as a person of early and eminent piety, of good natural talents, and of more than a common education for that day. This idea has been confirmed by information from some of his contemporaries. In his writings, I have seen very serious and grateful acknowledgments of the wonderful preservation of his life in a moment of imminent danger when he was a youth."

27. Joseph Lathrop, Born Oct. 1661, Married (1) April 8, 1686, Mary Scudder, who died Sept. 18, 1695, Married (2) Feb 2, 1696-7, Elizabeth "Waterhouse", daughter of Isaac & Sarah Watrous. who was born on March 22, 1661 and died Nov. 29, 1726.

Editor's Notes: (Huntington records Joseph's 3rd wife to be: Mrs. Martha, widow of Thomas Todd, of Rowley, Mass., and daughter of Dea. Joseph and Martha (Morgan) Perkins, of Newnt, now Lisbon, and once part of Norwich, Conn.! He records the wedding to be on Nov. 22, 1727. There is an obvious error as he records Joseph's son Solomon marrying the same woman Feb. 6, 1728-9. I suspect that Joseph, the elder married somebody in 1727, but not Martha, or at least that Martha! Joseph would have been 66 at that time and there are no births recorded to this Joseph after 1718. Solomon was only 5 months younger than Martha Todd and Joseph would have been 45 years the elder.)

7. SAMUEL, born in England, and came with his father to Scituate in 1634, thence to Barnstable, where he married, Nov. 28, 1644, Elizabeth Scudder, who had been dismissed from the church in Boston Nov. 10, 1644, to remove her church relation to that in Barnstable. She is reported in Savage as a sister to that John Scudder who was in Barnstable in, 1640. He had made the acquaintance of Miss Scudder in Boston, where he Continues on Page 5

Samuel: Continued from Page 4: commenced his business, life as house builder, afterwards combining with this extensive farming operations. Their marriage was recorded by his father on the Barnstable Church register as follows: "My sonn Samuel & Elizabeth Scudder married at my house by Mr. Freeman, Nov. 28, 1633"

They settled in Barnstable where his house stood next that of John Scudder. He is reported, in 1643, as one of the five Lothrops in Barnstable liable to bear arms.-

In 1648 he removed to New London, Connecticut, then called Pequot.. We now find Mr. Lothrop mentioned in two letters from Governor Winthrop to his son John, Jr., at Pequot. In one of these, bearing date Aug. 14, 1648, on the subject of obtaining a minister for the settlement, he writes: "Your neighbour Lothrop came not at me (as I expected) to advise about it," etc..

His house lot in the new plantation was the third in order from that of John Winthrop, Jr., Esq. and his name is one of the first eighteen to whom were assigned lands on the east side of the "great river" (Connecticut) of Pequot, and for these the lots were drawn on the 17th and 31st of January 1648-9.

Almost at once Mr. Lothrop is assigned by his new townsmen to places of responsibility and honor. The General Court of the State, in May 1649, organized a local court at Pequot, having for its judges John Winthrop, Esq., Samuel Lothrop, and Thomas Minor, giving them power to sit in the trial of all causes between the inhabitants in which the differences were under forty shillings.

In 1650 he appears with fifteen other townsmen in town meeting "to arrange a system of co-operation with Mr. Winthrop in establishing a mill to grind corn."

He received a large grant of land, also, on the west side of the Pequot river north of the settlement. It was about five miles up the river at a place called Namussuck .. A farm of 200 acres at this place remained in the family until 1735, when it was sold by his grandson Nathaniel, after settling all claims, for 2,300 pounds.

His "cattle marks" were recorded before 1650. When, in 1657, Uncas, routed by the Narragansetts, had been chased into the fort at the head of the Nahantick and was there besieged, Lieut. James Avery, Ur. Brewster, Samuel Lothrop and others, well armed, succeeded in throwing themselves into the fort and aided in the defence.

He sold his town homestead in 1661 to the Rev. Gershom Bulkley. This house stood beyond the bridge over the mill brook, on east side of highway toward Mohegan, probably where now (1852) stands the Hallam House."

In 1670 is recorded a contract of Mr. Lothrop for building the Second Church in New London.

He removed to Norwich in 1668. Miss Caulkins in history of Norwich says, "after the first thirty-eight proprietors, the next inhabitants who came in as grantees of the town are John Elderkin and Samuel Lothrop." A house lot was first granted to John Elderkin, who, finding it too far from his business, had it conveyed to Samuel Lothrop.

Mr. Lothrop appears to have erected a house on the town street before 1670, which from that time became his home. The house built by Dr. Daniel Lathrop, his great-grandson, about 1745, probably stands upon the same site, now Mrs. Gilman's.

The house lot of about seven acres on which he settled, covered mainly that hillside enclosed by the streets and lanes, as now, which lies south of the present residence of Daniel W. Coit, Esq., and extending down to the present Main street. He added during his life time successive tracts of land amounting to about four hundred acres.

The town records of that time are very imperfect, but we find Samuel Lothrop recorded as "Constable" in 1673 and 1682, and as "Townsmen" in 1685-dignified local offices in those days.

After the death of his first wife, of which no record is preserved, he married in 1690, in Plymouth, Mass" a maiden lady, Abigail, the daughter of Deacon John Doane of Plymouth, She was born January 29, 1632, and lived until 1734, Mr. Lothrop having died February 29, 1700: The following notice of the second Mrs. Lothrop is found in Miss Caulkins' history of Norwich: "On her hundredth birthday a large audience assembled at her house, and a sermon was preached by the pastor of the church. At this time she retained in a great degree the intelligence and, vivacity of her earlier years. At the time of her decease the descendants of her husband amounted to 365."

Mr. Lathrop left a nuncupative (orally declared) will, proved in 1701.

congregation in London. This congregation is known to modern historians as the Jacob/Lothrop/Jessey church.

Samuel Howes: Bapt Eastwell, 10 June, 1610. Died 12 September 1667, Mass. Married about April 1636 to Ann Hammond of Watertown, Mass. He emigrated to America in 1634, joined Rev Lothrop's church in Scituate then Barnstable, and returned to Scituate. (See reference above) Henry Howes. Bapt. Eastwell, 28 June, 1612.

Note: There has been great confusion in the American record to the effect that Robert Linnell's first wife may have been Jemimah Howes, purportedly another daughter to Rev. John Howes. This has been compounded by an LDS record of the supposed marriage of a Jemimah Howes to Robert Linnell in 1621 in Ashford, Kent. There are no records to support this. The first wife of Robert Linnell remains unidentified.

See Page 6: Where the Howes and Lothrop Families merge

John Lothrop., son of Thomas Lothrop, bapt, Etton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec, 1584, may have first entered Oxford,⁶ then was matriculated at Queen's College, Cambridge, graduating with a B.A 1606, M.A. 1609. John Lothrop was Curate of both Egerton (see above) and Little Chart, Kent, appointed to both in 1610 and serving Continues on Page 6
Continued from Page 5 until his resignation probably before-1622. In 1625, he succeeded Henry Jacob as Minister to the first independent church in London, founded in 1616, and one of the five oldest independent (non-conformist) churches in England. The principles or covenant of the Jacob/Lothrop church were essentially Separatist and were very close to those of the Rev. John Robinson in Leiden (Mayflower, Pilgrims). During a period of exile before 1616, Henry Jacob resided with the Robinson congregation in Leiden. These churches were illegal in England, as the Church of England, under the King and his appointed Archbishop of Canterbury, was the only legal church. The Jacob/Lothrop church met in private, in the homes of congregants. These secret meetings for the purpose of praying, preaching and interpreting the Bible, were called "conventicles".

In 1632, Rev. Lothrop was arrested in the house of one of his congregants along with some 42 of his congregation, and was brought before the Court of the High Commission. He, and they, were charged with sedition and the holding of conventicles. The political nature of the charge of sedition ("an insurrection against established authority"), and the antique language of "conventicle" (a private meeting to hear illegal preaching) render the charges unclear to modern ears. The charges were, however, deadly serious and the court proceedings unimaginable to our experience. The accused had few of the rights of modern citizens. The court was an inquisition, where the accused were forced to testify against themselves, without counsel. The process was so intimidating that many people were driven to flee by the threat of capture. It was one of the driving forces in the Great Migration to New England. It was no dispute over prayer books and vestments. It was about life, death, and salvation

First, what was the Court of the High Commission? It, along with the Court of the Star Chamber, was a Royal Prerogative Court (King's Rights), originally created in the time of Henry VII (1485-1509). These courts were separate from the Civil Courts, or Common Law Courts, which operated on the basis of precedent, and the rights of English people under the Common Law. Originally, these courts were established under the King's right to protect individuals from abuse in Common Law Courts. Under Elizabeth I and the early Stuart Kings (James I and Charles I), these courts were used by the Church of England to suppress those who sought to reform the church, or to seek a different path to salvation, using court rules that were a clear departure from the Common Law. They came down, with extreme severity, on Separatists in particular. Because of their covenant relationship, Separatists believed that every congregation could be a church unto itself, and could elect its own Ministers, by vote of its elders, based upon the model of the early Christian church (pre-Constantine). To do so meant they had no need of the Church of England, and did not accept the authority of the Bishops. This was anathema to the Crown. As famously said by King James I, "No Bishop, no King". Since the King was the head of the Church of England, and appointed the Archbishop, he wanted one church with order and conformity. To the King, the Separatists' position implied anarchy and chaos, and must be suppressed. As James I said further, "I will harry them out of the land".

Under Charles I and his Archbishop, William Laud, the screws were tightened much more. Laud was the Chief Judge of the High Commission, first as Bishop of London, then as Archbishop of Canterbury. In his zeal to suppress nonconformists, he rode roughshod over several principles of English Common Law, including protection against self-incrimination, the right to confront one's accusers, the right to produce witnesses in one's own defense, the right to a prompt hearing in court (so one did not languish in a dangerous jail without a trial), and cruel and unusual punishments. All of these rights were suspended for those, such as the members of Rev. Lothrop's congregation, who were brought before the Court of the High Commission in May 1632.

The Ministers and their flocks faced brutal treatment. For the "high crime" of the publishing of tracts critical of the Bishops, many ministers had their ears cut off, their faces branded and were confined to prison for life, which meant death within a few months or a few years at most. Repeat offenders were executed. When brought before the court, the accused were required to sign an oath of Allegiance to the Church of England, to forswear any contrary belief or practice and to answer any question posed by the judges, consisting of Laud and five other Bishops. To do so meant to abandon their right to choose their own Minister, to hear preaching and to attend Bible study with a Minister of their choice. They believed their own souls to be at stake. They were not allowed any of the basics of a fair trial, and certainly faced cruel punishment. So what did they do? They refused to swear the oath and were jailed. Some died in prison, some were released and fled to America, and some fought for Parliament in the English Civil War

"Now, hear the voices of Bishop Laud, of Rev. John Lothrop and of the Howes and their friends (from the Proceedings of the Court of the High Commission):

5 May, 1632. This day were brought to the court out of prison diverse persons which were taken on Sunday last at a conventicle, met at the House of Barnet, a brewer's clerk, dwelling in the precinct of Black Friars: By name, John Lothrop, their Minister, Humphrey Barnard, Henry Dod, Samuel Eaton, William Granger, Sara Jones, Sara Jacob, Peninah Howes, Sara Barbon, Susan Wilson and diverse others"---

Statement by the Archbishop-"You show your selves to be unthankful to God, to the King and to the Church of England, that when, God be praised, through his Majesties care and ours that you have preaching in every church, and men have liberty to join in prayer and participation in the Continues on Page 7:

Continued From Page 6: sacraments and have catechizing to enlighten you, you in an unthankful manner cast off all this yoke, and in private unlawfully assemble yourselves together making rents and divisions . in the church.---You are unlearned men that seek to make up a religion of your own heads!""---"you are desperately heretical" Then came in Mr. Lothrop who is asked by what authority he had to preach and keep this conventicle."

Laud,-- "How many women sat cross legged upon the bed, while you sat on one side and preached and prayed most devoutly?" Lothrop. "I keep no such evil company" Laud "Will you lay your hand upon the book and take your oath?". He refused the oath.

Peninah Howes "I dare not swear this oath till I am better informed of it, for which I desire time"---"I will give an answer of my faith, if I be demanded, but not willingly forswear myself"

Sara Barbon "I dare not swear, I do not understand it. I will tell the truth without swearing"

Then they were then all taken to the New Prison.

"8 May, 1632. Laud to Sara Jones-" This you are commanded to do of God who says you must obey your superiors." Sara Jones "That which is of God is according to God's Word and the Lord will not hold him guiltless that takes His name in vain"

Lothrop. "I do not know that I have done anything which might cause me justly to be brought before the judgment seat of man, and for this oath, I do not know the nature of it" Laud "You are accused of schism."

To Samuel Howes 'Will you take your oath?' Howes "I am a young man and do not know what this oath is"

Peninah Howes is then asked to take the oath, but she refused. Laud "Will you trust Mr Lothrop and believe him rather than the Church of England?" Peninah " I refer myself to the Word of God whether I may take this oath or no"

Many of the congregants were deposed again and again, all the while held in prison, over several months. Some, like Henry Dod, died in prison, some like Samuel Eaton were released, then jailed again and again. The fortunate ones like Rev Lothrop, his brother-in-law Samuel Howes, his sister-in-law Peninah Howes, her husband to be, Robert Linnell, and others, were able to emigrate to America over the following six years, settling in Scituate, then Barnstable, Massachusetts, where they were again in congregation. In subsequent years countless others were arrested and imprisoned merely for holding private prayer meetings until, in 1641, Parliament ended the Court of the High Commission. As for Laud, he was arrested at the outbreak of the Civil War and executed.

Note: The complete record of the members of Rev Lothrop's congregation that were taken while in "conventicle" and brought before the High Commission, is as follows - John Lothrop, Humphrey Barnard, Henry Dod, Samuel Eaton, William Granger, Sara Jones, Sara Jacob, Peninah Howes, Sara Barbon, Susan Wilson, Mark Lucar, Elizabeth Sergeant, Tony Talbot, William Pickering, Mable Melbourne, William Atwood, John Egge, Henry Packer, John Woodwynne, John Melbourne, Elizabeth Melbourne, Thomas Arundell, Robert Reignolds, Ralph Grafton, Samuel Howes.

Other Howes / Lothrop Family Connections?

Another Howes family in Massachusetts is descended from Thomas Howes of Kent England. Thomas is documented as being in Salem in 1637 then removed to what is now Falmouth and Dennis on Cape Cod.

Because of proximity, chances are that Thomas Howes and his sons knew Thomas Lothrop in Salem and Rev. John Lothrop in Barnstable. These Howes may actually be related to us by way of a relative of the Rev. John's first wife Hannah Howes (House)!

The records show that Thomas Lothrop signed the Covenant for the First Church in Salem in 1635. Mark Lothrop was in Salem as early as 1643. Both lived, for a while, between the North River and Collins Cove in Salem.

Surely these all these folks were acquainted at least through the church, the only one in Salem at the time.

Howes and Lothrop marriages include Sarah Lothrop, (#162) B. April 22, 1703 to Jeremiah Howes. Sarah was the 9th child born to Barnabas, Lothrop, Jr, (#53) and Elizabeth Hedge. Sarah's Grandfather, Barnabas, Sr. (#10) son of the Rev. John Lothrop and Anna Hammond; his first child born in the New World. Temperance Lewis Lothrop (#1487) B. July 27, 1815 married to David P. Howes of Dennis, MA on June 13, 1836, she was 6 weeks shy of being 16! They had 3 children and lived in Dennis.

Another Howes (Non) Connection Contributed by Dan R. McConnell

There is still no known relationship between Thomas Howes a founder of Yarmouth and Dennis and the Howes siblings, Samuel, and Hannah, first wife to Rev. John Lothrop, and Peninah Howes, wife to Robert Linnell who came to Scituate in 1638 to rejoin Rev. Lothrop's congregation. The Howes siblings were all children of Rev. John Howes, of Eastwell, Kent. From the Eastwell records, Samuel was baptized 10 June 1610 in Eastwell. There was another brother Thomas, who died in 1640 in London.

Some Practical Laws of living

Law of Mechanical Repair - After your hands get coated with grease, your nose will begin to itch and you'll have to pee.

Law of Gravity - Any tool, when dropped, will roll to the least accessible corner.

Law of Probability - The probability of being watched is directly proportional to the stupidity of your act.

Law of Random Numbers - If you dial a wrong number, you never get a busy signal and someone always answers.

Law of the Alibi - If you tell the boss you were late for work because you had a flat tire, the very next morning you will have a flat tire.

Variation Law - If you change lines (or traffic lanes), the one you were in will always move faster than the one you are in now (works every time).

Law of Close Encounters - The probability of meeting someone you know increases dramatically when you are with someone you don't want to be seen with.

Law of the Result - When you try to prove to someone that a machine won't work, it will.

Law of Biomechanics - The severity of the itch is inversely proportional to the reach.

Law of the Theater - At any event, the people whose seats are furthest from the aisle arrive last.

The Starbucks Law - As soon as you sit down to a cup of hot coffee, your boss will ask you to do something which will last until the coffee is cold.

Murphy's Law of Lockers - If there are only two people in a locker room, they will have adjacent lockers.

Law of Physical Surfaces - The chances of an open-faced jelly sandwich landing face down on a floor covering are directly correlated to the newness and cost of the carpet/rug.

Law of Logical Argument - Anything is possible if you don't know what you are talking about.

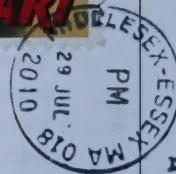

Oliver's Law of Public Speaking - A closed mouth gathers no feet.

William's Law of Commercial Marketing Strategy - As soon as you find a product that you really like, they will stop making it Doctors' Law - If you don't feel well, make an appointment to go to the doctor, by the time you get there you'll feel better. Don't make an appointment and you'll stay sick.

1611 New genealogist Charles Farrow found Rev John, Curate at Little Chart before 1611 and also 1611 curate at St James The Great, Egerton Church there bombed during WWII and only Tower remains.

1616 Henry Jacobs came back from Holland and established the Independant Church to which John later became affiliated iwth.

1623 John renounced his orders and moved to Lamberth Marsh and joined the Independent Church (which was just outside London).

1624 John was sustained as minister of the Independant Church, succeeding Henry Jacobs, who had came to America, where he died 2 years later. His congregation was comprised of both non-separating Independent Puritans and Separatists.

1625 King James I died.

1625-1649 King Charles I was in reign. He married a daughter of King of France.

1628 King Charles appointed William Laud to be Bishop of London. He was death on Independants and ran rampant on the services and imprisoned many.

1629 Parliment was also dissolved.

1632 William Laud started a venditta to track down Rev. John Lothrop. 22 Apr or 29 Apr William sent his men to where Rev. John was holding church and arrested 42 members at the home of Humphrey Barnett in Black Friars in London. 11 were women, 18 escaped.

3 May 1632 John was tried before the High commission. He was sent to prison in worst prison in London, the Newgate. (There for 2 yrs)

16 Feb 1633 John was released from prison to visit his dying wife Hannah. She died then and he was sent back to prison. All this time his daughter Jane was taking food to him as she was allowed.

24 Apr 1634 John's children went to the Archbishop Laud to plead for their fathers release to take care of them. He was released with the stipulation he go to America. He agreed.

"Plymouth Colony " Its History & People 1620-1691 by Eugene Aubrey Stratton # 974.402 pg 320. Lothrop's family can be traced back a number of generations in England and his own baptism is recorded at Etton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec 1584. He graduated from Cambridge University with a B.A. in 1605 and M.A. in 1609. He became curate of the church at Egerton, County Kent from ca 1611 to 1623. In 1623 he was called to succeed Rev. Henry Jacob, who had left for Virginia, at the First Independent Church in Southwark, Surrey. Independent worship being illegal, Lothrop's services were conducted in secret. In 1632 he was imprisoned, but released on bail in 1634 at which time he was able to leave England for America. His first wife may have died about this time which enabled him to sail for America with 4 of his children.

His will dated 10 Aug 1653, inventory 8 Dec 1653 names his sons Thomas, John (in England) and Benjamin and daughters Jane and Deborah and to rest of my children both mine and my wives, each to have a cow. CHILD 1 - Thomas Lothrop (Continued)

Book "Exiled" by Helene Holt pub 1987 (purchased Dec 1987) Listed Thomas and said became a land surveyor, a large landowner, a businessman and was liable to bear arms. Thomas was known to have lived in Barnstable and Eastham, Mass. His son Thomas was born 1640. (other records list his birth 7 Jul 1644 Barnstable, Mass).

While his father was in prison Thomas got a job in Yorkshire to help the family. He was not with the family when they went to the Archbishop Laud to ask their father be released. Brother John, the only Anglican still in the family, having been reared by an Uncle Thomas Lowthrop.

Several other books written on Rev. John Lowthrop.

Thomas was born in Eastwell, Kent, England and lived there till 1623 when his father moved to Lamberth Marsh near London. He stayed at the home until his father was jailed and then he had to look for work to help the family.

Sept 1634 Thomas with his family sailed on the ship "Griffin" for Boston and first settled at Scituate, Mass. 1639 he moved with his family to Barnstable, Mass. Why it is stated he married in Boston, I don't know.

Maybe after 1649 he moved to Eastham, MA. Thomas joined his fathers church in 1627. His name also on list of inhabitants of Barnstable 1640 and again in 1679 (if same person). In 29 Nov 1661 he was one of committees for laying land in Sacconnessett. He was a respectful and useful man but not equal in ability to his brother Jospeh and Barnabas

Several books listed info on him with reference to father Rev. John Lowthropp.

"John Lothrop 1684-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 27.

CHILD 2 - Jane Lathrop *

The name has been spelled several ways, mostly in US Lothrop and Lathrop which is the way most have spelled it and that is what I will use.

Several sources have been located for this family, many same as husbands.

Samuel and Jane were married at Mr Cudworth's in Scituate by Capt. Miles Standish 8 Apr 1635. Also stated 18 Apr.

Samuel and Jane had 9 known children. The last one in 1658 when Jane was 44 years of age.

Jane died before her husband in 1683 but no record of when. Has been stated she died 9 Oct 1683.

"An Ancestral Chart And Handbook" by Olive Barrick Rowland pg123-124 has stated Jane was the dau of Rev. John Lathrop (pg 177) who was first pastor in Scituate in 1634. Many other sources listed the name as Lothrop. Believe it was Lothrop in England but in US most used Lathrop as spelling.

"John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 27 list 8 children for Jane and Samuel. Md 8 Apr. Died between 1658-1683 Barnstable.

CHILD 3 - Anne Lothrop

Book "John Lowthropp 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26.

Several other sources also list Anne.

CHILD 4 - John Lothrop

Book "John Lowthropp 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26.

Only one of children of John and Hannah that stayed in England. He was raised by his uncle Thomas Lowthorpp and became a minister in the Church of England. He probably died in England after 1653 as he was named in his fathers will. Other source said died bef. 1645 which wouldn't be right if in fathers will of 1653.

Book "Exile" by Helene Holt gives very little on the children of John. Did state John Jr was sent to his Uncle to be raised as Anglican as he was the 2nd son. The first Thomas was to be raised Independent and to be prepared for the ministry if wanted. It was said that John Jr. was really the one that caused the Archbishop to let John Sr. out of

"John Lowndes 1804-1853" by Richard Woodford Price pub 1984 pg 27 list 8 children for Jane and Samuel. Feb 8 Apr. Died between 1858-1883 Barmston. CHILD 3 - Anne Lowndes Book "John Lowndes 1804-1853" by Richard Woodford Price pub 1984 pg 28. Several other sources also list Anne. CHILD 4 - John Lowndes Book "John Lowndes 1804-1853" by Richard Woodford Price pub 1984 pg 28. Only one of children of John and Hannah first stayed in England. He was raised by his uncle Thomas Lowndes and became a minister in the Church of England. He probably died in England after 1853 as he was named in his father's will. Other sources said that but 1842 which wouldn't be right if in letters will of 1853. Book "Tales" by Helene Holt gives very little on the children of John. But state John J. was sent to his lands to be raised as Anglican as he was the 2nd son. The first Thomas was to be raised Independently and to be prepared for the ministry if wanted. It was said that John J. was really the one that caused the Anglican to let John Sr. out of prison.	Wife Hannah Howse Husband John Lowndes Rev.*

Mrs Alice Howse was born about 1572.

According to June G. Henderson's 'The Ancestry of Chamberlin and Grant, Vol. II' (Baltimore, MD: Gateway Press, 2000, 788), Alice Howse's maiden name was 'Lloyd.' She married, about 1590, Rev. John Howse (variously spelled 'Howse,' 'Howes,' and 'House').

According to Clifford L. Stott's "Lothrop and House Entries in the Parish Registers of Eastwell, Kent: The Rev. John Lothrop of Scituate and Barnstable, Massachusetts" (The American Genealogist Vol. 70, No. 3 (July 1995): 250-252), burial occurred in Eastwell on 17 June 1640.

Contrary to the link below, the remains of her husband - Rev. John Howse - were definitely not laid to rest at Kent and Sussex Crematorium and Cemetery in Royal Tunbridge Wells, Kent. He passed away in 1630 in Eastwell, Kent (where he was then serving as the parish's Anglican minister) and the parish register indicates that his remains were laid to rest at Saint Mary's Church in Eastwell. Royal Tunbridge Wells did not have a church until 1829 and the cemetery indicated did not open until 1873 - over 240 years after the death of Rev. John Howse.

NOTE: The pictures that have been added by several people of John Lothrop are actually of his great-great-grandson of the same name and also a minister.

According to "The Genealogical History of Edgar Hanks Evans" (research by Donald Lines Jacobus),

John Lothrop or Lowthroppe (Thomas, Robert, John) was baptised in Etton, 20 Dec. 1584 and came to New England. He entered first Christ Church, College, Oxford for according to Foster's "Alumni Oxonienses" John Lothroppe of Yorkshire aged sixteen years, was admitted a pleb of Christ Church 15 Oct. 1602. Thence he went to Cambridge, where according to Venn's Alumni Cantabrigienses, John Lothrop, Lathrop or Lothrop, who was baptised at Etton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec. 1584, son of Thomas of Etton, was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Queen's College in 1606, and to that of Master of Arts in 1609; a brief biographical notice of him is given by Venn. His brother Rev. Thomas Lothrop was admitted sizar at Queen's College, Cambridge 30 June 1601; took his bachelor's degree in 1604/5 and his master's degree in 1608; was rector of Dengie in Essex, 1613-1629 and died in 1629.

Rev. John Lothrop soon located in Egerton, 48 miles southeast from London, in the Lower Half hundred of Calehill, Lathe of Scray, county Kent, as curate of the parish there. To this living he was appointed about 1611 by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul. It was probably his first and only parish charge as a minister of the English Church. Here Mr. Lothrop labored faithfully as long as his judgement could approve the ritual and government of the Church. But when he could no longer do this, we find him conscientiously renouncing his orders and asserting the right of still fulfilling a ministry to which his heart and his conscience had called him.

Accordingly in 1623 his decision was made and he espoused the cause of the Independents. The date of his leaving Egerton was 1623 and next year he was called to the First Independent Church in London, then situated on Union St., Southwark, London now utterly gone.

For being independent in thought he was arrested 22 Apr. 1632 and put in jail, along with a group of 24 others. In the old Clink prison, in Newgate, and in the Gatehouse, there men lingered for months. In the Spring of 1634, all but Mr. Lothrop were released on bail; he, their leader, the chief offender, was deemed too dangerous to be set at liberty.

During the time he was in prison, a fatal illness was preying on his wife and bringing her fast to her end. Her name was Hannah House.

"In New England's Memorials" by Nathaniel Morton, published in 1669, he says -- "His wife fell sick, of which sickness she died. He procured liberty of the bishop to visit his wife before her death, and commended her to God by prayer, who soon gave up the ghost. At his return to prison, his poor children, being many, repaired to the bishop at Lambeth and made known unto him their miserable condition by reason of their good father's being continued in close durance, who commiserated their condition so far as to grant him liberty, who soon after came over unto New England".

In the Journal, kept by Governor Winthrop, under date of 18 Sept. 1634, appears, "The Griffin and another ship now arriving with about 200 passengers. Mr. Lothrop and Mr.

Sims, two godly ministers coming in the same ship." On the next page of the journal it says - "Mr. Lothrop had been a pastor of a private congregation in London, and for the same, kept long in prison, upon refusal of the oath, ex-officio, being in Boston upon a sacrament day, after the sermon, desired leave of the congregation to be present at the administration, but said that he durst not desire to partake in it, because he was not then in order, being dismissed from his former congregation, and he thought it not fit to be suddenly admitted into any other for example sake, and because of the deceitfulness of man's heart".

On reaching Boston with that portion of his London flock who had accompanied him, he found already the preparations begun to welcome him to a new home in Scituate. Before 14 June 1635 he had taken a second wife. She was Anne Hammond, daughter of William Hammond, of Lavenham, England and Watertown, Mass.; she was baptised in Lavenham 14 July 1616, and her sister, Penina married Robert Linnell of Scituate and Barnstable; In the Scituate church records Rev. John Lothrop calls Linnell "my brother". When the Lothrop genealogy was published, little was known of Anne Hammond, but later information regarding her and the family in England appears in the New England Historical Genealogical Registers, 56; 184, 67;46, 261 and 84;437.

When Rev. John Lothrop settled in Scituate he was granted a farm. While there differences arose between him and the people on the question of baptism and he removed to Barnstable, where he had a house lot granted him. He died in Barnstable 8 Nov. 1653; he left a will which had not been signed; and on 7 Mar. 1653/4 administration was granted on his estate to Mrs. Laythorpe". The will mentioned his wife; oldest son Thomas to have a house in Barnstable; son John in England and son Benjamin in Barnstable each to have a cow and 5 pounds; daughters Jane and Barbara had had their portions; to the rest of the children "both mine and my wife's" each a cow; to each of them one book; the rest of his library to be sold and the proceeds divided.

Rev. John Lothrop is an accepted ancestor for the Society of Colonial Dames - "Lothrop, Rev. John (1584-1653) Scituate and Barnstable, Mass. Queen's College, Cambridge, A.B. 1606, A.M. 1609. Minister at Scituate 1634-1639; and at Barnstable 1639-1653."

More information can be found on various genealogies posts on the Internet. For example there is an interesting report about the imprisonment of John Lothrop and the fate of his family. On April 29, 1632, Reverend Lothrop's congregation was discovered by the Bishop's pursuant at the house of Mr. Humphrey Barnet and 42 members were apprehended there, but only 18 escaped. After two years in various prisons they were all released on bail except for Reverend Lothrop, for whom no favor could be obtained. He petitioned King Charles I for liberty to depart from the kingdom, but his petition was rejected.

Apparently while John was in prison, his wife, Hannah fell sick, and he was permitted to visit her. Shortly after this she died either in April or May of 1634 and John's children were placed in the care of some friends, who could scarcely support them. As a result, John's children were often forced to live on the streets and beg for food. Some friends that, and finally visiting coming in the same way. On the next page of the journal is say - "Mr Lush had been a pastor of a small congregation in London, and for the some, kept going in person upon relief of the sick, as well as being in person upon a congregation, after the manner, desired that of the congregation to be present at the administration, but said that he did not desire to be there, as he was not then in order being dismissed from his former congregation, and he thought it was to be suddenly admitted into any other for example sake, and because of the dissolution of that's heart."

On meeting Lush with that portion of the London flock who had accompanied him, he found already the proposition began to welcome him to a new flock in Salisbury.
Before's time he had taken a second wife. She was Anne Wintour, daughter of William Hammond of Exeter, England and Salisbury, who was baptised in Salisbury in July 1610, and her sister Thomas married Robert Lush of Salisbury and Barnstaple in the Salisbury church records. Her sister-in-law called Lush "my brother".
When the Lushes' congregation was baptised, little was known of Anne Hammond, but this information regarding her and the family in England appears in the New England Historical Genealogical Register, 26: 184, 67-68, 201 and 20-27.

When first John Lush was called to Salisbury he was granted a letter. While there differences arose between him and the people on the question of baptism and the removal to Barnstaple, where he had a house for granted that the flock in Salisbury
New 1625, he left a will which had not been signed, and on 7 June 1625 whereafter was granted on his estate in New England. The will mentioned his wife Anne and Thomas to have a house in Barnstaple and John in England and son Stephen in Barnstaple to have a farm and 2 pounds, daughter Jane and Robert had had their portion, to the rest of the children "such moneys and a wife's" such a way to each of them was took the rest of his library to be sold and the proceeds divided.

More information can be found on various genealogical points on the internet. For example there is an interesting report about the imprisonment of John Lush and the loss of his family. On April 20, 1633, Reverend Lush's congregation was dismissed to the Bishop's court at the house of his daughter's friend and members were signified that they had only 10 members. After two years in prison prison they were all released on full costs for Reverend Lush's release, as when no more could be obtained. He returned King Charles I for liberty to depart from the Bishop, but his petition was rejected.

Apparently while John was in prison, his wife, Hannah, had died, and he was permitted to visit her. Shortly after this she died again in April or May of 1634 and John's children were placed in the care of some friends who could scarcely support them. As a result, John's children were often forced to live on the streets and beg for food. Some friends sent the children to petition the Bishop of Lambeth for their father's freedom, who upon realizing their pathetic state, ordered that Reverend John be released from prison in May or June of 1634.

Biography

According to "The Genealogical History of Edgar Hanks Evans"
(research by Donald Lines Jacobus):

John Lothrop or Lowthroppe (Thomas, Robert, John) was baptized in Etton, 20 Dec. 1584 and came to New England. He entered first Christ Church, College, Oxford for according to Foster's "Alumni Oxonienses" John Lothroppe of Yorkshire aged sixteen years, was admitted a pleb of Christ Church 15 Oct. 1602. Thence he went to Cambridge, where according to Venn's Alumni Cantabrigienses, John Loothrop, Lathrop or Lothrop, who was baptized at Etton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec. 1584, son of Thomas of Etton, was admitted to the degree of Bachelor of Arts from Queen's College in 1606, and to that of Master of Arts in 1609; a brief biographical notice of him is given by Venn. His brother Rev. Thomas Lothrop was admitted sizar at Queen's College, Cambridge 30 June 1601; took his bachelor's degree in 1604/5 and his master's degree in 1608; was rector of Dengie in Essex, 1613-1629 and died in 1629.

Rev. John Lothrop soon located in Egerton, 48 miles southeast from London, in the Lower Half hundred of Calehill, Lathe of Scray, county Kent, as curate of the parish there. To this living he was appointed about 1611 by the Dean and Chapter of St. Paul. It was probably his first and only parish charge as a minister of the English Church. judgement could approve the ritual and government of the Church. But when he could no longer do this, we find him conscientiously renouncing his orders and asserting the right of still fulfilling a ministry to which his heart and his conscience had called him. Accordingly in 1623 his decision was made and he espoused the cause of the Independents. The date of his leaving Egerton was 1623 and next year he was called to the First Independent Church in London, then situated on Union St., Southwark, London now utterly gone.

For being independent in thought he was arrested 22 Apr. 1632 and put in jail, along with a group of 24 others. In the old Clink prison, in Newgate, and in the Gatehouse, there men lingered for months. In the Spring of 1634, all but Mr. Lothrop were released on bail; he, their leader, the chief offender, was deemed too dangerous to be set at liberty.

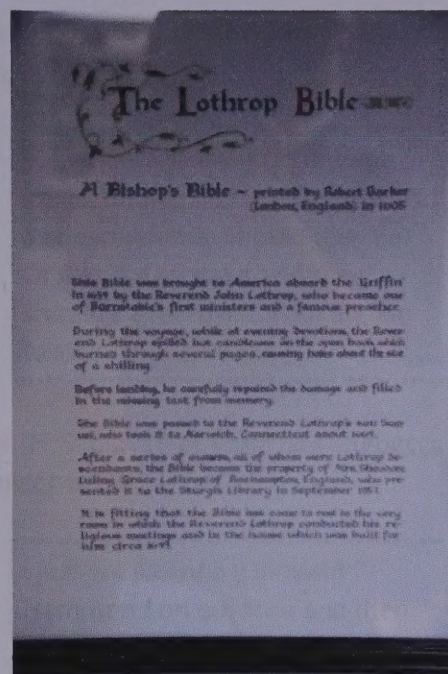

During the time he was in prison, a fatal illness was preying on his wife and bringing her fast to her end. Her name was Hannah House.

"In New England's Memorials" by Nathaniel Morton, published in 1669, he says -:

"His wife fell sick, of which sickness she died. He procured liberty of the bishop to visit his wife before her death, and commended her to God by prayer, who soon gave up the ghost. At his return to prison, his poor children, being many, repaired to the bishop at Lambeth and made known unto him their miserable condition by reason of their good father's being continued in close durance, who commiserated their condition so far as to grant him liberty, who soon after came over unto New England".

In the Journal, kept by Governor Winthrop, under date of 18 Sept. 1634, appears, "The Griffin and another ship now arriving with about 200 passengers. Mr. Lothrop and Mr. Sims, two godly ministers coming in the same ship." On the next page of the journal it says - "Mr. Lothrop had been a pastor of a private congregation in London, and for the same, kept long in prison, upon refusal of the oath, ex-officio, being in Boston upon a sacrament day, after the sermon, desired leave of the congregation to be present at the administration, but said that he durst not desire to partake in it, because he was not then in order, being dismissed from his former congregation, and he thought it not fit to be suddenly admitted into any other for example sake, and because of the deceitfulness of man's heart".

On reaching Boston with that portion of his London flock who had accompanied him, he found already the preparations begun to welcome him to a new home in Scituate.

MARRIAGE: [OF [of Rev John Lothrop]

"(2) by 1635, Ann _____. (On 14 Jun 1635, John Lothrop wrote that "my wife and brother Foxwell's wife joined [Scituate church] having their dismissal from elsewhere." [NEHGR 9:379] She died at Barnstable on 25 Feb 1687/8. [MD 6:238] (She was not a daughter of William Hammond, {1631 Watertown} [GMB2:853-54].)" [1] [2]

When Rev. John Lothrop settled in Scituate he was granted a farm. While there differences arose between him and the people on the question of baptism and he removed to Barnstable, where he had a house lot granted him.

He died in Barnstable 8 Nov. 1653; he left a will which had not been signed; and on 7 Mar. 1653/4 administration was granted on his estate to Mrs. Laythorpe". The will mentioned his wife; oldest son Thomas to have a house in Barnstable; son John in England and son Benjamin in Barnstable each to have a cow and 5 pounds; daughters Jane and Barbara had had their portions; to the rest of the children "both mine and my wife's" each a cow; to each of them one book; the rest of his library to be sold and the proceeds divided.

More information can be found on various genealogies posts on the Internet. For example there is an interesting report about the imprisonment of John Lothrop and the fate of his family. On April 29, 1632, Reverend Lothrop's congregation was discovered by the Bishop's pursuant at the house of Mr. Humphrey Barnet and 42 members were apprehended there, but only 18 escaped. After two years in various prisons they were all released on bail except for Reverend Lothrop, for whom no favor could be obtained. He petitioned King Charles I for liberty to depart from the kingdom, but his petition was rejected.

Apparently while John was in prison, his wife, Hannah fell sick, and he was permitted to visit her. Shortly after this she died either in April or May of 1634 and John's children were placed in the care of some friends, who could scarcely support them. As a result, John's children were often forced to live on the streets and beg for food. Some friends sent the children to petition the Bishop of Lambeth for their father's freedom, who upon realizing their pathetic state, ordered that Reverend John be released from prison in May or June of 1634.

There was a bug in the one FindaGrave footnote making it show as [1] also, which is now corrected.

Since Ann, the 2nd wife of Rev John Lothrop, is already Ann Unknown in the Vital stats section and relationships, I plan to make it match what is in the body of the text, changing where it says "by second wife, Anne Hammond" to "by second wife, Ann Unknown". etc.

The only feedback I've had from the PMs has been in the positive for this so hopefully it will go well.

PS: I found an "extra" son of the 2nd wife in the text and removed it, the children now number 15 and match what is presented in Great Migration by Anderson.

I added a section - "Disputed 2nd Wife of John Lothrop", because we need to examine the sources for Ann Hammond and for Ann Unknown, and discuss them.

Anderson in Great Migrations shows the 2nd wife as Ann Unknown. So does Cutter. Other sources show her as Ann Hammond, and the reasons for that misunderstanding are given in the text now.

Could we please have a response from the profile managers? thank you,

1624 John was sustained as minister of the Independant Church, succeeding Henry Jacobs, who had came to America, where he died 2 years later. His congregation was comprised of both non-separating Independent Puritans and Separatists.

1625 King James I died.

1625-1649 King Charles I was in reign. He married a daughter of King of France.

1628 King Charles appointed William Laud to be Bishop of London. He was death on Independants and ran rampant on the services and imprisoned many.

1629 Parliment was also dissolved.

1632 William Laud started a venditta to track down Rev. John Lothrop. 22 Apr or 29 Apr William sent his men to where Rev. John was holding church and arrested 42 members at the home of Humphrey Barnett in Black Friars in London. 11 were women, 18 escaped.

3 May 1632 John was tried before the High commission. He was sent to prison in worst prison in London, the Newgate. (There for 2 yrs)

16 Feb 1633 John was released from prison to visit his dying wife Hannah. She died then and he was sent back to prison. All this time his daughter Jane was taking food to him as she was allowed.

24 Apr 1634 John's children went to the Archbishop Laud to plead for their fathers release to take care of them. He was released with the stipulation he go to America. He agreed.

18/27 Sep 1634 John and his family, except for one son John, arrived in Boston with 32 members of his congregation. William Laud not knowing he had left for America so soon had wanted him arrested again and had gone to his house just moments after he left for the ship. Samuel House, brother to wife Hannah, also came with him.

14 Jun 1635 or 17 Feb 1636 There are two dates for 2nd marriage of John to Anna Hammond.

8 Nov 1653 John died in Barnstable at the age of 68 and was buried in the Barnstable cemetery.

Back in England 1644 William Laud was beheaded at his request for all the things he had done and 1645 task was done. 1642-46 Civil War in England, the English wrested their liberty from King Charles. 1649 King Charles was beheaded at Whitehall.

Rev. John Lohrop was 1st minister in Scituate, MA in 1634. Then went to Barnstable and was 1st minster there also.

Book "Gen Reg of Plymouth Families" by Davis #974.48 Pg 175: Stated John born in Elton, East Riding, Yorkshire, son of Thomas of Cherry Burton and grandson of John Lowthorpe of Lowthorpe, Yorkshire. First settled in Egertown in Kent, and afterwards succeeded Herry Jacob as pastor of the Southwark Church in London. He came over in the Griffin 1634 and settled first in Scituate, then in Barnstable, 1639.

"Plymouth Colony " Its History & People 1620-1691 by Eugene Aubrey Stratton # 974.402 pg 320. Lothrop's family can be traced back a number of generatiosn in England and his own baptism is recorded at Elton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec 1584. He graduated from Cambridge University with a B.A. in 1605 and M.A. in 1609. He became curate of the church at Egerton, County Kent from ca 1611 to 1623. In 1623 he was called to succeed Rev. Henry jacob, who had left for Virginia, at the First Independent Church in Southwark, Surrey. Independent worship being illegal, Lothrop's services were conducted in secret. In 1632 he was imprisoned, but released on bail in 1634 at which time he was able to leave England for America. His first wife may have died about this time which enabled him to sail for America

WIFE - Ann Hammond?

Book "John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26.
Has been stated John md Ann ? before Jun 1635. Nothing on Ann in this book.
Ann was said to have died in Barnstable 25 Feb 1687/8.

Other sources have listed marriage dates for John and Ann Hammond as 14 Jun 1635 Scituate, Plymouth Co., MA and also 17 Feb 1636/37. Also stated their first child Barnabas was bapt. in Scituate 6 Jun 1636 so believe the earlier day may be correct.

CHILD 1 - Barnabas Lothrop

Book "John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26. Barnabas 1st child of this marriage, said bapt. 6 Jun 1636 Scituate, MA. by his father. Some have said he was born this date.
Pg 29-30: has info on his 2 marriages and his children.

Barnabas was probate judge, deputy and judge of common pleas in Barnstable by 1675 until 1685. 1675 he was also one of the council of War to devise measures for repelling the attacks of hostile Indians. He was also Barnstable member of the Select Courts in 1676, an agent for the settlement of the new town of Rochester. A Justice of Court of Common Pleas in 1692 and Judge of Probate Ct. 1702 to 1714. Also Assistant to Governor for several years from 1681 to 1686. Has been referred to as Esquire and Hon.

Barnabas and 1st wife Susanna Clark(e) had 14 children.

Barnabas md 2nd 1698 Abigail (Button) Dodson.

Died at Barnstable, MA. Said buried in Barnstable near the county jail and the inscription was very legible in 1884.

CHILDREN: Their names were listed in the book Gen Reg of Plymouth Families by Davis. Also listed by family info. All born Barnstable, MA.

1688 1 June, the town of Barnstable granted Barnabus a piece of land at Sand Neck next to Welles Creek which had or initially been given to the town by Governor Hinckly.

1692, 14 Jan he was granted 5 acres by the town of Barnstable in the division of the common meadows.

HUSBAND - Thomas Lothrop

*2018 Nov, located info on Thomas Lothrop from Find A Grave internet site. Birth 21 Feb 1612 (Bapt), Kent, England. Death 1707 age 94-95 Barnstable, MA. Married Sarah Learned 11 Dec 1639 MA. Parents: Rev. John Lothrop 1584-1653 and Hannah House/Howse 1594-1633.

Listed 7 siblinhgs and 7 half siblings names and dates. Listed 3 children (not sure how many they had. (copy)

BIRTH: Eastwell, Kent, England records, Egerton church. Bishops Transcripts at Canterbury Cathedral Archives. It has been stated he was the son of Rev. John and Hannah Howse Lothrop. Also stated father of Hannah, Rev John Howse was rector at this church of Egerton where the baptism record of Thomas Lothrop was listed as 21 Feb 1712/13. He was oldest child of John and Hannah according to father John's will.

MARRIAGE: Recorded Boston Mass according to records. He was age 27. Md widow Sarah Larned Ewer (sometimes written Linnell). She was said to be 14 years his senior. (b. 1598).

DEATH: Not sure of where death took place as books have listed year 1707 but on place. Could be MA.

CHILDREN: 5 children known. According to Barnstable records his first five children were born there from 1640 to 1649.

Book "Exiled" by Helene Holt pub 1987 (purchased Dec 1987) Listed Thomas and said became a land surveyor, a large landowner, a businessman and was liable to bear arms. Thomas was known to have lived in Barnstable and Eastham, Mass. His son Thomas was born 1640. (other records list his birth 7 Jul 1644 Barnstable, Mass).

While his father was in prison Thomas got a job in Yorkshire to help the family. He was not with the family when they went to the Archbishop Laud to ask their father be released. Brother John, the only Anglican still in the family, having been reared by an Uncle Thomas Lowthrop.

Several other books written on Rev. John Lowthrop.

Thomas was born in Eastwell, Kent, England and lived there till 1623 when his father moved to Lamberth Marsh near London. He stayed at the home until his father was jailed and then he had to look for work to help the family.

Sept 1634 Thomas with his family sailed on the ship "Griffin" for Boston and first settled at Scituate, Mass. 1639 he moved with his family to Barnstable, Mass. Why it is stated he married in Boston, I don't know.

Maybe after 1649 he moved to Eastham, MA. Thomas joined his fathers church in 1627. His name also on list of inhabitants of Barnstable 1640 and again in 1679 (if same person). In 29 Nov 1661 he was one of committees for laying land in Sacconnesett. He was a respectful and useful man but not equal in ability to his brother Josphe and Barnabas

Several books listed info on him with reference to father Rev. John Lowthropp.

"John Lothrop 1684-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 27.

WIFE - Sarah Larned

*Nov 2018 located info on Sarah Learned Ewer Lothrop from Find A Grave internet site. Listed birth 1607 Eng, death 1652 age 44-45 Barnstable, MA. She was md first to Thomas Ewer at St Mary Magdalene, Bermondsey, Surrey 13 Jan 1623-24 as his 2nd wife. They had 4 children: John, Sarah Blossom Davis Clarke, Elizabeth and Thomas. She married 2nd "In The Bay", 11 Dec 1639 to Thomas Lothrop, son of Rev. John Lothrop (1634 Scituate) (my son Tho (mas) and Brother Larnett's daughter, widow Ewer). Source Anderson's Great Migration Study Project.

Spouse: Thomas Ewer 1592-1638 md 1623.

Spouse: Thomas Lothrop 1612-1707 md 1639.

Her parents William Learned d. 1645 and Goodith Gillman 1581-1640 4 siblings listed. 3 Lothrop children listed. (copy)

Her birth date has been said to be abt 1607 to put it closer to Thomas Lothrop's but other researchers have now located her birth date however didn't list it but did state she was 14 yrs his senior which makes her birth date abt 1598, prob. which was a considerable age difference even back then.

Thomas Lothrop's baptism was listed as 21 Feb 1612/13 at Eastwell, Kent, England where his grandfather John House was rector at the church there.

Sarah was married 1st to Thomas Ewer. She was the daughter of William Larned of England. Mother not known. She had 3 children by Thomas Ewer and 5 by Thomas Lothrop. The 4 children by Ewer has not been listed either.

Only know of 5 children by Thomas Lothrop

HUSBAND - Samuel Fuller *

BIRTH: Samuel's birth has been listed as 1609 to 1612, not known for sure which would be correct. Even 1616 has been stated.

Samuel was sometimes known as "the Second" to separate him from his Uncle Dr. Samuel Fuller who raised him when his parents died just after arriving in Plymouth on "The Mayflower" at the age of 10. (this would make birth 1609/10) It has been stated that Samuel's parents may have been in Leyden, Holland before coming to America but other sources think Edward met Samuel in England on their way to America and he and Ann weren't in Leyden, Holland. More research in Holland may be in order. There were records of Samuel Fuller who was brother to Edward as being there.

Samuel Fuller was the only Mayflower passenger to settle permanently in Barnstable, MA.

MARRIAGE: Samuel md Jane Lothrop in Scituate, MA at Mr Cudworth's by Capt. Miles Standish on 8 Apr 1635. Has also been stated 18 Apr.

DEATH: Samuel was buried in the Barnstable, MA cemetery. Had been stated he was buried 31 Oct 1683 and other source has stated he died 10 Nov 1683. Need to recheck for will to establish closer. He was the last survivor of the Mayflower pilgrims. That in itself would give him credibility.

WILL of Samuel Fuller dated 20 Oct 1683 made bequests to daughter Hannah Bonham for 4 pounds in money and 2 cows. (Need copy of will).

Samuel was Constable of Scituate in 1641.

Nicholas and Hannah moved from Mass to NJ about 1666 and he became member of the Piscataway NJ Baptist Church. Hannah probably did also. He formed the settlement known as "Bonhamtown" in Middlesex Co., NJ, don't know if they lived there or not, probably did as said children born there. Hannah and son Hezekiah were executors of Nicholas's will.

SOURCES:

"Bonham Families from NJ" by W.A. Bonham. Nicholas Bonham (1628-31, probably b. England, died 20 Jul 1684 Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. Md 1 Jan 1658 Barnstable, MA to Miss Hannah Fuller. Nicholas was admitted to Citizen of Barnstable, MA 3 Oct 1662 as "a son of a present inhabitant". He moved from Barnstable to Piscataway ca 1666. He took the oath of allegiance to the Dutch government in 1672. He was elected Magistrate for the Piscataway District Aug 26, 1671. He was sworn in as Magistrate Sep 15, 1673. In 1676 he received warrant for land in Woodbridge, NJ. There is no record that he ever lived there. On Sep 10, 1678 he received a grant of land of 122 acres. It was on this grant of land that he formed the settlement known as "Bonhamtown" in Middlesex Co. NJ. which was a thriving community down to the present time (1941). Which is located five miles northeast from New Brunswick in Woodbridge Twp. He was a sergeant in the Military organization under Capt. Drake. On Nov 1681 he made oath as "Sergeant Bonham". His will dated 6 Feb 1683 was listed as "Yeoman of Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ". Copied pgs 109-110-111.

children. 3 siblings. Parents: Samuel Fuller 1608-1659 and Jane Lothrop 1614-1659. Married Ann Fuller his first cousin, dau of Dr. Matthew Fuller and wife ?Frances b abt 1639. She died before Dec 28, 1691/ (copy)

Several sources for Samuel but haven't done a lot of research on family.

Married about 1657-58 to 1st cousin Anne Fuller. If indeed 1st cousins, her father Samuel and Matthew would be brothers and we know Samuel was son of Edward and Ann Fuller.

DEATH: One source said will proved Oct 1683 Barnstable, MA. Wifes date was 28 Dec 1691 when estate was inventoried and proved. Need to locate will.

"Fuller-Dunham Genealogy" by Robert Fuller pub 1990 listed estate inventoried 28 Dec 1691. Was also stated in book that Anne's estate settled 30 Dec 1691 so maybe this is where the mixup is. Maybe she died then and Samuel in 1683?

Family group sheet from Salt Lake City had info on Samuel and his children.

"MA Genealogy" Vol 1 pg 444.

Son of Edward & Ann (Hopkins) Fuller. Husband to Jane (Lothrop) Fuller, and father to nine children: Hannah, Samuel, Elizabeth, Sarah, Mary, Thomas, Sarah, John, and a child whose name is not recorded but who died 15 days after birth.

Samuel Fuller was a passenger on the Mayflower, along with his parents. Both parents died shortly after landing at Plymouth during the first winter and Samuel was raised by his uncle, Dr. Samuel Fuller, who was also a Mayflower passenger.

Samuel Fuller became a freeman of Plymouth in 1634. He married Jane Lothrop, the daughter of Rev. John Lothrop and his wife Hannah Howes, on April 8, 1635 in Scituate. He and his wife would raise their family initially at Scituate, before moving sometime shortly before 1641 to Barnstable.

He would live out the next forty years of his life in Barnstable and be one of the last surviving Mayflower passengers. His probate records indicate that his wife preceeded him in death. He also bequeathed an Indian slave named Joel to his son John.

Samuel Fuller is believed to be buried either on the grounds of his estate, or the ancient burial grounds on Lothrop's Hill in Barnstable (known today as Lothrop Hill Cemetery).

Edward Fuller was baptised on 4 September 1575 at Redenhall, Norfolk, England. His father was Robert Fuller, who was a butcher by trade. After receiving 20 pounds in his father's will in 1614, he sold all his possessions and moved to Leiden, Holland where he joined the Separatist Church. The name of Edward Fuller's wife is unknown. Together they had two sons: Mathew (1605) and Samuel (1608). In 1620 he made the decision to take his wife and son Samuel aboard the Mayflower. He and his wife died soon after they arrived in Plymouth. His son Samuel grew to have nine children, and it is from him that the family line descends.

AMERICAN FULLER GENEALOGY.

EDWARD¹ FULLER LINE.

X.1 EDWARD¹ FULLER, baptized Sept. 4, 1575, in the parish of Redenhall, County of Norfolk, England, was son of Robert Fuller, butcher.

No trace of him has been found to indicate that he was with the other Pilgrims in Holland, and it appears probable that he joined the others on the arrival of the Speedwell in Southampton, England, where the Mayflower was awaiting them.

His name appears in the following "Compact," which was drawn up in the cabin of the Mayflower just previous to the landing at Cape Cod in November, 1620:

In the name of God, Amen. We whose names are vnderwritten, the loyall Subjects of our soveraigne Lord King James, by the grace of God of Great Britaine, France, and Ireland King, Defender of the Faith, &c.

Having vnder-taken for the glory of God, and advancement of the Christian Faith, and honour of our King and Countrey, a Voyage to plant the first Colony in the Northerne parts of Virginia, doe by these presents solemnly & mutually in the presence of God and one another, covenant, and combine ourselves together into a civill body politike, for our better ordering and preservation, and furtherance of the ends aforesaid; and by vertue hereof to enact, to constitute, and frame such just and equall Lawes, Ordinances, acts, constitutions, offices from time to tiem, as shall be thought most meet and convenient for the general good of the Colony: vnto which we promise all due submission and obedience. In witnes whereof we haue here-vnder subscribed our names, Cape Cod 11 of November (Nov. 21), in the yeare of the raigne of our soveraigne Lord King James of England, France, and Ireland 18. and of Scotland 54. Little is known about Ann Fuller, other than she was the wife of Edward Fuller and she had two sons, Matthew & Samuel Fuller. She died sometime between January 11th and April 1621.

The only reason the wife in 1620 of this writer's ancestor, Edward Fuller, has been given the first name Ann and last name Fuller is to be able to independently find this memorial on Find-a-Grave. Otherwise, there is no and never has been a documentable record that gives even a first name to Edward Fuller's wife in 1620.

In 1990 the General Society of Mayflower Descendants published volume Four, Edward Fuller, in the Mayflower Families through Five Generations series, better known as a Mayflower Silver Book. As of 2003 the Edward Fuller volume is in its 3rd edition. A statement concerning Edward Fuller has remained unchanged since its first appearance in the 1st edition of 1990 and continues to cause significant consternation to his descendants.

- Savage calls his wife Ann, but there is no known evidence that this was her name.

People parse this statement to only read "Savage calls his wife Ann" then affirmatively claim Savage the authority that Edward's wife was named Ann.

Two of the limited references utilized by the Edward Fuller Mayflower volume include Bradford's History (1952) p. 446, and Savage 2:215 (Fuller). The long-lost manuscript of Bradford's History of the Plymouth Plantation was found in 1855 and published in 1856. It includes two appendixes, the first a list and numerical count of those who sailed on the Mayflower, the second of what happened to those people. A few modern editions combine the two appendix lists, but whether two lists or a combined list they are of:

- The names of those who came over first in the Mayflower, in the year 1620 and were by the blessing of God the first beginners and founders of the Settlements and Colonies of New England, with their families: written down A. D. 1650.

In a reprint edition of Bradford's History that combines the two lists, without any loss in context Edward Fuller's entry is:

- Edward Fuller, his wife, and their son Samuel. 3

Mr. and Mrs. Fuller died soon after they came ashore. Their son Samuel is living, and has four children, or more.

Bradford's entry for Edward Tillie seven entries beforehand states:

- Edward Tillie, Ann his wife, and two children (their cousins) Henry Samson and Humility Cooper. 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Tillie died soon after their arrival. Humility Cooper returned to England and died there. Henry Samson is living and has seven children.

In 1860-62, James Savage published his well-known Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England. In volume 2:215, Edward Fuller's listing states:

- Fuller, Edward, Plymouth, brother of the famous Samuel, came with him in the Mayflower 1620, bringing wife Ann and son Samuel, and leaving Matthew, on the other side, who was elder, died early next year as did his wife, but his son Samuel outlived the hardships.

The entry for Edward Tilley (q.v. Tillie) states (4:302):

- Tilley, Edward, Plymouth 1620, came with wife in the Mayflower, and two children, "their cousins," Henry Sampson, and Humility Cooper. He and his wife died the first winter. Humility went home and died.

Based on Savage, many family genealogies published prior to 1913 state without qualification Edward's wife was named Ann. Other genealogies published after 1913 exclude giving the wife of Edward Fuller a name due to a 1913 statement by George Ernest Bowman in Pilgrim Notes and Queries (1:83). Bowman was the first and longtime respected editor of The Mayflower Descendant. Bowman wrote:

- Gov. Bradford, in his History of Plymouth Plantation, is the only contemporary writer who mentions the wife of Edward Fuller, and he does not give her a Christian name. She is frequently called "Ann" by modern writers, but in no case is the authority given for the name. It is probable that the first writer to call her "Ann" confounded the names of Edward Fuller and Edward Tilley. The latter's wife was given as "Ann" in Bradford's History.

Sure enough, the only wife named Ann that appears in Bradford's History is the wife of Edward Tilley. In 1860 Savage errantly assigned Edward Tilley's wife Ann to Edward Fuller while giving Edward Tilley no named wife. Had the Edward Fuller volume asked why did Savage state what he did, used all available and pertinent references to find the answer, including Bowman's 1913 statement, it could have explained Savage's error preventing countless examples of the subsequent use of false genealogy.

N.B. 1 Through the kindest of a Research Librarian with the Boston Public Library, I was provided a link to the three volume Genealogists Letter-book of Amos Otis, who corresponded with Savage prior to Savage publishing his dictionary. Otis was concerned with Barnstable, Mass. families and in late 1861 began publishing his sketches on Barnstable families in the Barnstable Patriot newspaper.

In a portion of a letter from Savage to Otis dated Boston Nov. 2, 1658 with [annotations] for clarity (vol. 1, p. 5-6):

- What Ann Fuller, a widow, died in 1662, aged 79? It could not be the wife of Edward, Dr. Samuel's brother, of [the] Mayflower family, for Gov. Bradford says, she died before her lord...and he must be right about one of his companions. She could not be Ann, daughter of Matthew, who mar. (you say) her cousin Samuel, son of Samuel senior. But here I am beclouded, for I have Elizabeth, not Ann, as the wife [i.e., of Samuel,³ (Samuel,² Edward,¹)];

Savage was indeed "beclouded," as he was confusing Dr. Samuel Fuller's son Samuel, whose wife was Elizabeth Nichols, with Edward Fuller's grandson Samuel, whose wife was his 1st cousin Ann, daughter of his uncle Matthew Fuller.

The Ann Fuller who Savage sought information on was the mother-in-law of Richard Leach of Salem, Mass., who at "aged" 79 left a verbal will proved June 25, 1662 in the Essex County Quarterly Court. Richard Leach was his mother-in-law's executor, to whom she left the bulk of her property and small moveable estate. Amos Otis likely had no idea who the Ann Fuller was that Savage was asking about. But, more importantly, if the tone of the full letter was similar to others Savage communicated with, Savage was

-Tilly, Edward, 1790-1850, brother of the famous Samuel, came with him in the 1820, bringing with him and son and, and leaving behind on the other side, who was older, died early next year as did his wife, but his son Samuel outlived the family.

The entry for Edward Tilly (p. 111) shows (p. 302):

-Tilly, Edward, 1790-1850, came with wife in the 1820s, and two children,
"John, Emma," Henry, George, and William, Cooper. He and his wife died the first winter, 1820-1821, from and died.

Based on Savage, many family groupings published prior to 1913 state without qualification Edward's wife was named Ann. Other genealogical publications after 1913 exclude giving the wife of Edward Tilly a name due to a 1913 statement by George Edward Bowman in Pioneer History and Genealogy (1913). Bowman was the first and longtime respected editor of the Highway Encyclopedia. Bowman wrote:

-One drawback, in his history of Plymouth settlement, is the only contemporary writer who mentions the wife of Edward Tilly, and he does not give her a Christian name.
She is frequently called "Ann," by modern writers, but in no case is the authority given.
For the name, it is probable that the first writer to call her "Ann," confounded the names of Edward Tilly and Edward Tilly. The latter's wife was given as "Ann," in Bowman's History.

One thing, the only wife named Ann that appears in his history is the wife of Edward Tilly. In 1900, Savage strongly advised Tilly's wife was to Edward Tilly while living Edward Tilly no named wife. Had the Edward Tilly volume asked why did Savage state what he did, might all available and pertinent references to find the answer, including Bowman's 1913 statement, it could have explained Savage's error, providing another example of the subsequent use of this genealogy.

M.B. 1. Through the kind of a Research Librarian with the Boston Public Library, I was provided a link to the first volume of Genealogical Abstracts of New England, which corresponded with Savage prior to Savage publishing his Dictionary. This was connected with Genealogy. It was verified and in the 1913 edition, publishing his history on Genealogy families in the Highway Encyclopedia.

In a portion of a letter from Savage to Catherine Bowman Nov. 2, 1850 with handwritten for change (p. 1, p. 2-6):

-While your father's widow died in 1822, aged 70, it could not be the wife of Edward, the Samuel's brother of [the] 1820s, because family for the 1820s says she died before her last, and he must be right about one of the comparisons. She could not be Ann, daughter of William, who was (you say) her cousin, Samuel, son of Samuel senior. But how can he be called, for I have Edward, not Ann, as the wife is, of Samuel's Samuel's Edward, 1790-1850.

Savage was indeed "confused," as he was confused by Samuel Tilly's son Samuel, whose wife was Elizabeth Hackett, with Edward Tilly's grandson Samuel, whose wife was the first cousin Ann, daughter of his uncle Matthew Tilly.

The Ann Tilly who Savage thought information on was the mother-in-law of Edward Lamb of Salem, Mass., who is "aged" 70 with a widow will prove that 1813 is the last. County Quarterly Court, Edward Lamb was the mother-in-law's son-in-law, to whom she left the bulk of her property and land, more than the estate. Ann (Elizabeth) had no idea who the Ann Tilly was that Savage was asking about, but, more importantly, it the fact of the full letter was similar to others Savage communicated with Savage was a taskmaster imploring others to provide family genealogies to meet his publishing deadlines. No wonder errors occurred.

N.B. 2 The Mass. Historical Society holds original copies of Savage's dictionary, which Savage later either corrected or added additional children to families via marginal notes. No marginal corrections appear for Edward Fuller and Edward Tilley regarding the name of their respective wife.

N.B. 3 In Caleb Johnson's Mayflowerhistory.com website regarding Edward Tilley, Edward married Agnes Cooper on June 20, 1614 at Henlow, co. Bedford, England, daughter of Edmund and Mary (Wyne) Cooper. Edward Tilley ("Eduwaert Tilleij" in the Dutch record), say-worker, appears in an April 1618 Leiden notary record in which he agreed to take on Robert Haggas as an apprentice for the term of five years. The first two witnesses were Thomas Blossom and Jonathan Brewster (s. of Elder William Brewster), both members of Robinson's Leiden Church. However, between 1614 and 1620 neither Edward Tilley nor wife Agnes appear as a witness in the Leiden betrothal records.

In that era the Christian names Agnes, Ann and Anna were interchangeable. By example, Ann Fuller, the younger sister of brothers Edward Fuller and Dr. Samuel Fuller, married William White in Leiden in 1612 as "En" Fuller. As a witness to her brother Samuel's Leiden marriage to Agnes Carpenter in April 1613, both Ann and her husband William White were witnesses, with Ann's name written as "Agnys Weyt." Then in a 1619 betrothal record as a witness with brother Samuel, Ann (Fuller) White is written as "Anna Wit."

As a separate historical fact, Edward and Samuel Fuller's brother-in-law William White and their sister Ann were not the William White and wife named Susanna who sailed on the Mayflower in 1620. Thus, Ann (Fuller) White was not the mother of Mayflower brothers Peregrin and Resolved White.

M.B. The New England Historical Society holds original copies of Savage's dictionary, which Savage later either corrected or added additional children to families via marginal notes. The marginal corrections appear for Edward Fuller and Edward Tilly regarding the name of their respective wife.

It is to John Johnson's Mayflower history can website regarding Edward Tilly. Edward married Agnes Cooper on June 20, 1814 at Haverhill, New England. The daughter of Edward and Mary (Wynn) Cooper. Edward Tilly is the birth record, say-writer, appears in an April 1818 Litchfield record. The first record to date on Robert Tilly's record appears for the first of five years. The first two children were Thomas Tilly and another brother (a of Edward Tilly). Edward Tilly married Robinson's Litchfield Church. However, between 1814 and 1818 neither Edward Tilly nor wife Agnes appear as a witness in the Litchfield records.

It is that the children names Agnes, Ann and John were interchangeable. For example, Ann Fuller, the younger sister of brother Edward Fuller and Dr. Samuel Fuller married William White in 1813 as "Ann" Fuller. A's witness to her brother Samuel's record, marriage to Agnes Cooper. In April 1813, brother Ann and her husband William White were witness with Ann's name written as "Agnes White". Then in a 1813 record, record as a witness with brother Samuel, Ann Fuller White is written as "Ann White".

As a separate historical fact, Edward and Samuel Fuller's brother-in-law William White and their first son were not the William White and wife named Thomas was listed on the May 1813 record. Thus, Ann Fuller White was not the sister of brother Samuel's wife and brother William and brother White.

*Find A Grave internet site listed Edward b 1644 Piscataway, NJ and death 28 Jan 1702 age 57-58 Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. No burial location. Spouse: Elizabeth Bonham 1659-1705 and 1 child listed Phoebe Slater Doty 1693-1745.

Edward had been put in prison in 1681 for speaking out against the governor. The History of Middlesex co. NJ states that Edward Slater was a freeholder in the township in 1683 and owned a large number of Acres. He was the first clerk of courts of the County.

His children listed here was: Filoretta Slater Martin (1691), Phebe Slater Doty (1693), Elizabeth Slater (1697), Abraham Slater (1700 and Aleeshia Slater (1702).

In 1699/1700 Elizabeth's sister Priscilla's Husband John Langstaff and Edward Slater were involved in anti-English, pre-Revolutionary activities. The court wanted to hold proceedings in the Piscataway Public house. The townspeople were opposed to this and nailed the door shut. The Sheriff attempted to break the door open and John and Edward stopped him forcibly.

As documented in "The Story of an Old Farm, Or, Life in New Jersey in the Eighteenth Century" by Andrew d. Mellick, published by Unionist-Gazette, 1889. (copy)

Husband	Edward Slater
Wife	Elizabeth Bonham *
Notes	CHILD 6 - Caleb (Edward) Slater (Continued) Although death records of Piscataway stated Edward son of Edward and Elizabeth died 1702 and not son of Edward and Mary so not sure which is correct here. Believe this son to be son of Edward and Mary. In the will of Samuel Slater, son of Edward and Mary, listed a brother Edward still living in 1711 that was under age so probably referred to this person. Even thought that Edward would have been a half brother as believe his actual brother Edward died in 1702 at same time with his father. CHILD 7 - Elizabeth Slater *Aug 2018 locate info from internet site "Geni" on Elizabeth and husband Benjamin Hull Judge. Birth date, spouse, sisters, dau of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Bonham. Nothing about children. (copy) No marriage date info from Slater or Hull family. Elizabeth married John Drake after the death of Benjamin Hull. Judge Benjamin Hull's will was abstracted from Vol 30 NJ Archives pg 254: Dated 9 Mar 1744-5 Benjamin Hull Esq, of Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ. His wife was executor along with brother in law Benjamin Martin and kinsman Arunah Runyon. Since the will or other sources do not list any children it may be that she and Benjamin had no children. Family group sheet from LDS library list her with parents but not with husband. Piscataway, Middlesex Co. NJ vital records. Birth, death, marriage records. Son of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Slater/Drake. Was one of 8 siblings. No info on children or wife. (copy) NJ Archives Birth records. CHILD 9 - Alushia Slater *Aug 2018 located info on Aleeshia Skibbo from the site "Geni" while listed birth date and place. Death 1740 age 37. Dau of Edward Slater and Elizabeth Slater-Drake Spjouse of Henry Skibbo and Mother of Ann and Lewis Skibbo, Sister of 8 siblings. (copy) NJ Archives Birth records. Family group sheet from LDS library list her with parents but not with husband. Info from 1st Settlers of Piscataway, NJ pg 866 stated Alushia b. 29 Oct 1702 and living in 1740 and mentioned in will of Rev. John Drake. Married Henry Skibbow. (no reason why in will of Rev. Drake?)

Although death records of Pockaway stated Edward son of Edward and Elizabeth died 1705 and not son of Edward and Mary as not sure which is correct here. Believe this son to be son of Edward and Mary. In the will of Samuel Slater, son of Edward and Mary, listed a brother Edward son living in 1711 that was under age so probably referred to this person. Even though that Edward would have been a half brother as below his actual brother Edward died in 1705 at same time with his father.

On 30 Dec 1691 Letters of Administration to administer upon ye estate of Samuel Fuller late of Barnstable, MA by 4 of his sons so not sure if he died by 1683 or 1691. Listed 6 children. 3 siblings. Parents: Samuel Fuller 1608-1659 and Jane Lothrop 1614-1659. Married Ann Fuller his first cousin, dau of Dr. Matthew Fuller and wife ?Frances b abt 1639. She died before Dec 28, 1691/ (copy)

Several sources for Samuel but haven't done a lot of research on family.

Married about 1657-58 to 1st cousin Anne Fuller. If indeed 1st cousins, her father Samuel and Matthew would be brothers and we know Samuel was son of Edward and Ann Fuller.

DEATH: One source said will proved Oct 1683 Barnstable, MA. Wifes date was 28 Dec 1691 when estate was inventoried and proved. Need to locate will.

"Fuller-Dunham Genealogy" by Robert Fuller pub 1990 listed estate inventoried 28 Dec 1691. Was also stated in book that Anne's estate settled 30 Dec 1691 so maybe this is where the mixup is. Maybe she died then and Samuel in 1683?

FamilySearch® Ancestral File™

Husband's Name Joseph WILLIAMS (AFN:8HQX-KC)

Wife's Name Mary FULLER (AFN:8HQP-M2)

Buried: Aft 29 1683 Oct, , Plycol, Bram

Assumed by me to be

Burial grounds in Chiltonville Ply[mouth]col[ony], Bram[hall's corner]

"Passing by Burial Hill and Cole's Hill to be mentioned later, there are Oak Grove and Vine Hills cemeteries ; the Catholic cemetery; two burial grounds in Chiltonville, one at Bramhall's corner, and one at the Russell Mills meeting house; three at Manomet, one where the first meeting house stood not far from the residence of the late Horace B. Taylor, one at the present meeting house, a modern Indian burial ground, on an Indian reservation on the westerly side of Fresh Pond; one at South Ponds, near the Chapel ; one at the head of Half Way Ponds ; one at the head of Long Pond ; one near Bloody Pond, and one at Cedarville There are also burial places in the South part of the town, which have been devoted to family uses and single graves may be found near Hospital landing at Billington Sea, and on the South Pond road, where the old pest house stood. At the last place there is a headstone at the grave of Mary, wife of Thomas Mayhew, who died September 3, 1776, aged 54 years. She was a daughter of Thomas Withereli, and as her husband was one of the most prominent men in the town, it is probable that she died of small pox, and that the removal of her body to a grave among her deceased relatives was thought dangerous."

From ebook Plymouth memories of an octogenarian by William T[homas] Davis, 1906

Unfortunately findagrave doesn't have that listed as a cemetery or burial ground - grave markers may be missing or never present (the pilgrims often hid their early burials so that the Indians wouldn't guess their sorry state).

Regards

Tim

Several other sources listed death between 28 Feb-20 May 1726 East Haddam, CT. One Source listed April 1726. Was stated Deborah and Anne were not listed in will of John 1726. His will on file at Hartford, CT.

He may have joined the Barnstable, MA church 30 Oct 1688.

He lived on his fathers estate at Scorton Neck until 1694 when he removed to East Haddam, Ct. By 1721 he conveyed ample lands and farming implements to each of his sons. His will was written 28 Feb 1725-26 and proven 10 May 1726 which is stated he is from Haddam Twp, county of Hartford, upon east side of the Great River.

"Mayflower Births & Deaths" Vol 1 by Susan E. Roser pub 1992 located at Davenport, IA library # 974.4 Ros pg 450. Listed source as (MD 2:239). Did list wife and info on her.

Family group sheets from Salt Lake City. Listed birth as 1656 and death as 1726, CT. Sources cited from there was Genealogy of Descendants of Edward Fuller of The Mayflower by Hyslop and Fuller of Palmer, MA 1908 Vol 1 and Gen. Dictionary by Savage. Also the book Signers of Mayflower Compact, East Haddam, CT. Also info from the book "Hudson-Mohawk Gen. & Family Memoirs" by Reynolds pub 1911 pg 170.

Fuller-Dunham Genealogy by Robert Dunham pub 1990. Pg 5. Stated Mayflower Society Index # 13790, birth, death, wife and children.

WIFE - Mehitabel Rowley (Twin)

Several sources but haven't done a lot of research on family.

Married about 1678 according to children's births and prob. Barnstable, MA. She was cousin as her mother was a Fuller. They had 12 children.

Her death has been listed as 1732 in East Haddam, CT.

"Mayflower Births & Deaths" Vol 1 by Susan E. Roser pub 1992 located at Davenport, IA library # 974.4 Ros pg 450. Listed Mehitabels birth, death and parents. Daughter of Moses Rowley & Elizabeth Fuller Rowley and was a twin of Shubael Rowley.

Family group sheets from Salt Lake City listed birth as 11 Jan 1661 and died 1732. Sources cited from there was Genealogy of Descendants of Edward Fuller of The Mayflower by Hyslop and Fuller of Palmer, MA 1908 Vol 1 and Gen. Dictionary by Savage. Notes

Ensign Samuel Fullers estate was adm. 12 Mar 1757 by Nathan Sawyer. Inventory 443 pds. 5 shillings. His lands were in what is now Marlboro (See Hartford Ct Probate Records Vol 12 pg 330 & Colchester Records Vol 4 pg 233). He owned a half right in Sharon CT as early as 1741 but did not settle there.

Several sources such as Plymouth Families by Davis and Gen of Descendants of Edward Fuller by Hylsop

Was stated Joseph Smith married into this line but to date have no info on that statement.

CHILD 3 - Shubael Fuller

Family group sheets from Salt Lake City.

MARRIAGE: Has been listed as 7/8 Mar 1708 and also 10th of 7th mo 1708. (8 Dec, the last is Quaker way of writing, Was he Quaker?) Married to Hannah Crocker. At least 9 children.

DEATH: His death recorded East Haddam, CT records where he had resided for some time previous to his death. A deed at Middletown CT, and the homes of his daughters seem to show that he resided in or owned land in the Parish of Middle Haddam CT. (town of Chatham, CT since 1767, before that date Middletown, CT.) near the East Haddam Ct line. His wife Hannah was a member of the Church at East Haddam, CT from 29 Jun 1712 and the children baptized there.

His will made 28 Feb 1725/26 and probated 10 May 1726 states from township of Haddam, County of Hartford, upon east side of the Great River.

This deed recorded in East Haddam Ct dated 22 Jun 1748 as Quit Claim deed in Middletown CT deed book 12 pg 567 between Shubael and Ephraim and listed all their sisters, "To our loving sisters Lydia Gates, Thankful Brainerd, Zeniah Bill, Hannah Daniels and Rachel Hurd, all our right etc, etc, to a certain tract of land in Middletown East side of Conn. River belonging to our Honored Father, Mr Shubael Fuller, late of East Haddam dec'd"

Fuller-Dunham Genealogy by Robert Dunham pub 1990 pg 14-15. List Shubael and Hannah and their children and several of their children's children.

Hudson-Mohawk Genealogical & Family Memoirs pub 1911 pg 170.

CHILD 4 - Thankful Fuller

Family group sheets from Salt Lake City.

John Fuller

1656- 1726

Compiled by Steve Fowler from Genealogy of some of the Descendants of
Edward Fuller by William Hyslop Fuller, 1908

John Fuller, son of Samuel Fuller, was born about 1656 in Barnstable, Massachusetts. He was known as Little John to distinguish him from his Uncle John Fuller. He married Mehitable Rowley, the daughter of Moses and Elizabeth Fuller Rowley, about 1678 in Barnstable. Mehitable was born January 11, 1660 in Barnstable. In 1683 John's father, Samuel, died. The will left John "4 acres of marsh, 3 year old horse running in woods, dwellinghouse, orchard, and all out housing, the indian Jaell, a cart, plow, tooles, one fatt cow, my bald faced horse, my great bible, and one third of the other cattle." John and Mehitable lived in the dwelling house at Scorton Neck on Cape Cod. In 1694 they moved west 146 miles to East Haddam, Connecticut and remain there 32 years until his death. John Fuller died 20 May 1726 in East Haddam and Mehitable died there about 1732. John was buried in Old Cove Burying Ground, East Haddam, Middlesex, Connecticut. Five of John's 12 children were born in East Haddam. Joseph Fuller was one of the children born in East Haddam.

Children, born at Barnstable.

12. #I. Barnabas¹, b. about 1659; m. Elizabeth Young.
13. #II. Joseph¹, b. about 1661; m. Thankful Blossom.
14. #III. Matthew¹, b. about 1663; m. Patience Young.
15. #IV. Benjamin¹, b. Dec. 16, 1665; m.
16. V. Desire¹, b. about 1667; m. June 11, 1703, John Taylor. This marriage is recorded in New London, Ct. She is called late of Barnstable. May have been second wife, for on New London records is the marriage of John Taylor of New London, and Sarah Abram of Haddam, Jan. 15, 1701-2.
17. VI. Sarah¹, b. about 1669.

10. JOHN³ FULLER, (Samuel², Edward¹), b. about 1656⁺ at Barnstable; d. at East Haddam, Conn., between Feb. 28 and May 20, 1726; m. about 1678, Mehitabel Rowley. The will of Moses Rowley, Senior, (Hartford Probate Records, vol. vii, p. 144), dated Aug. 16, 1704, mentions son Moses, daughter Mehitabel Fuller, son Matthew Rowley, and son John Fuller. An East Haddam deed of 1714 in which Elizabeth³ (Fuller), widow of Moses Rowley, Senior, calls John Fuller her son, is additional evidence. Otis is wholly in error. Mehitabel Rowley was born in Barnstable, Mass., Jan. 11, 1660-61, and d. in East Haddam about 1732. Mehitabel, wife of "Little John" Fuller, was admitted to the church in Barnstable Oct. 30, 1688, and four of her children were baptised there soon after. "Sometime in 1704, Elizabeth, wife of John Fuller from Barnstable," was admitted to the East Haddam church. The latter record was made from the minister's recollection, some time after the event, and is in error as to the name Elizabeth. There is no evidence that John Fuller had a second wife Elizabeth, in fact the evidence is quite to the contrary.

John³ Fuller was called "Little John" to distinguish him from his cousin, Dr. John³ Fuller. He lived on his father's estate at Scorton Neck until 1694, when he removed to East Haddam. Here he seems to have prospered in worldly estate. About 1721 he conveyed to each of his seven sons ample lands and farming implements.

His will — on file at Hartford — has never been printed before to my knowledge. It is not in his own hand, and the signature is very poor, showing extreme age or infirmity.

I, John Fuller, Senr of the township of Haddam, County of Hartford, upon the east side of the Great River, by the great goodness of God, retaining my reason, yet being crazy and infirm in body and not knowing the day of my death, have thought it my duty, and do by this my last will and testament, dispose of what temporal estate God has graciously given me as follows: viz: first of all I commit my body to the dust to be decently buried, and my soul to Jesus Christ in hope of eternal life.

Imprimis: I give and bequeath to my dear and loving wife, one cow, such as she shall chuse, eight sheep, four pounds in money, the bed she lies on, one room in my dwelling house, and so much interest in the plow land and grass land of my home lot as may be necessary for her comfortable support during her widdowhood, and I do appoint my son Thomas to take care of the creatures from year to year, and I do appoint my sons Joseph and Benjamin each to give her a day's mowing, in a year yearly, and my sons Shubael and John to do her weaving in same proportion between them yearly.

Item: I give to my oldest son Thomas besides what I have already given him by deed of gift, twenty pounds of my right or interest in the Iron Ware belonging to the field, but not what is in or for the house.

Item: I give to my son Samuel besides what I have already confirmed to him by deed of gift, viz: twenty pounds of my right or interest in the common or undivided land, and one half of my meadow lot called by the name of the little pine meadow, together with sundry other valuable things he has already had of me.

Item: I give to my son Shubael, etc. (Identical with the bequest to Samuel).

Item: I give to my son Edward, six pound in money, that is to say, in case he never finds his lost money, yet the demands upon him from me upon the account of the fat cattle he bought of me late shall be abated to the value of six pound, because he hath a deed of gift and sundry other things from me.

Item: I give to my son John, beside the deed of gift, one half of my first division meadow lot.

Item: I give to my son Joseph, beside the deed of gift twenty pounds of my interest in the common and undivided land, and one half of the little pine meadow.

Item: I give to my son Benjamin, beside the deed of gift, twenty pounds of my interest in the common land and one half of my first division meadow lot.

Item: I give to my daughter Thankful what she has had already in brass, pewter, etc.

Item: I give to my daughter Elizabeth sundry valuables she has already received.

Item: I give to my daughter Mehitabel what she has already received, a coverlet and iron pot, also the bed I lie on after my and my wife's decease.

Item: I give to my wife my mare and to my son Thomas a steer coming

Wife	Mary Heily
Notes
HUSBAND - John Lothrop Book "John Lowthropp 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26. Only one of children of John and Hannah that stayed in England. He was raised by his uncle Thomas Lowthorpp and became a minister in the Church of England. He probably died in England after 1653 as he was named in his fathers will. Other source said died bef. 1645 which wouldn't be right if in fathers will of 1653. Book "Exile" by Helene Holt gives very little on the children of John. Did state John Jr was sent to his Uncle to be raised as Anglican as he was the 2nd son. The first Thomas was to be raised Independent and to be prepared for the ministry if wanted. It was said that John Jr. was really the one that caused the Archbishop to let John Sr. out of Newgate prison to be with his children if he went to America as William Laud was impressed with John Jr. John's mother was not well for several years before she died but she did get to see John Jr one more time on her death bed in 1633. So John must not have had much to do with his family after being taken by his Uncle to be raised.
WIFE - Mary Heily Nothing is known of Mary to date. Prob. was born in England, married there and died there as well. Just have no dates or places. Also no info on any children if there were any.

WIFE John Lathrop 1884-1953, by Richard Woodruff Price, Feb 1984, pp 56 Only one of children of John and Hannah was stayed in England. He was raised by his uncle Thomas Lathrop and became a minister in the Church of England. He probably died in England after 1923 as he was named in his father's will. Other source said died Feb. 1953 which would be right if father was of 1923. John "Edgar" by Henry not given very little on the children of John. Did state John Jr was sent to his uncle to be raised as Anglican as the son. The first Thomas was to be raised independent and to be prepared for the ministry if wanted. It was said that John Jr was really the one that caused the independence to let John Sr. out of Newgate prison to be with his children if he went to America as William Lathrop was impressed with John Jr. John's mother was not well for several years before she died but she did get to see John Jr. one more time on her death bed in 1858. So John must not have had much to do with his family after being taken by his uncle to be raised. Nothing is known of Mary to date. Fred was born in England, married there and died there as well. Notes

Plymouth Vital Records as well.

Capt. Joseph was civilian of distinction, was military officer of Merit and was Deputy to colony CT in 1667 and for 18 years afterwards. In 1676 Lieut Lowthrop as he was styled was the Barnstable Member of the Council of War consisting of one member from each town in the colony, during King Philips uprising and again in 1685. His brothers also was in 1676 and acted as agents for the settlement of Rochester. Joseph was the Register of Deeds and dRegister of Probate in 1702 and for succeeding years. Here was also stated was Sheriff from 1715 to 1721 (which if he died in 1702 wasn't possible) and was Jude of Court of Common Pleas 1701 for several years following (again question?)

One source listed Joseph age 26 when married and became deputy for the town in the General Court. Held title of Captain and Lieutenant. WAS well educated and versed in law, collecting a large library of law books. Settled in Barnstable.

Came to America with his father and siblings in 1634 on the ship "Griffin" and listed first in Scituate until 1639 then moved to Barnstable where he lived the rest of his life.

Book "Linages of Associates of Founders & Patriots" listed the direct line of Gilbert M. Lothrop b. 1907 Boston from Rev. John to Joseph to Thomas & Elizabeth Gorham Lathrop on down to him.

Book "John Lowthropp 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26. Was listed he was bapt. in Eastwell 11 Apr 1624. Yet according to history his parents were in Lamberth Marsh near London by 1623. Did they take him back to Eastwell to be baptized?

Was said he was well educated and versed in law, collecting a large library of law books. Married at age 26 and then became deputy for the town in the General Court. Held the title of Captain and Lieutenant also.

Notes

HUSBAND - Benjamin Lothrop

*Nov 2018 located info on Benjamin from Find A Grave internet site. Birth 11 Apr 1626 Kent, Eng, Death 3 Jul 1691 age 65 Charlestown, Suffolk co. MA. Burial unknown. Parents: John Lothrop 1584-1653 and Hannah House/Howse 1594-1633. Listed 7 siblings and 7 half siblings.

Note: Benjamin, fifth son of Rev. John and Hannah (House) Lothrop was baptized 24 Sep 1626 Eastwell Kent. He married Martha (?) abt 1660 (children by 1551). (on 29 Jul 1660 Goodwife Martha Lathrop was admitted to the Charlestown church) (copy) They had 9 children.

BIRTH: Was stated he his baptizm was recorded in Eastwell, Kent, England where he was baptised by his grandfather John Howse. However one source said John's family had nothing to do with the Howse family after John left the Anglican church of England.

MARRIAGE: Said md Barnstable, MA but no date or maiden name of Martha. Md before 1652 as was stated Nov 1652 1st child was born and according to info all children were born in Charlestown, MA.

DEATH: No date or place has been located to date. The last child was born Jul 1672 and he was listed as Selectman in 1683 in Charlestown so would have died after that. Probably is a will but not checked to date.

CHILDREN: Benjamin was said to have had 9 children all born Charlestown, MA. The Gen Reg of Plymouth Families by Davis have what info have on children to date.

Came to America with his father and siblings in 1634 on the ship "Griffin" and listed first in Scituate until 1639 when they moved to Barnstable, MA. He lived there until 1652 when he moved to Charlestown.

Book "John Lowthropp 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26. Was listed he was bapt. in Eastwell 24 Dec 1626. Yet according to history his parents were in Lamberth Marsh near London by 1623. Did they take him back to Eastwell to be baptized?

Book "The Gen Reg of Plymouth Families" by Davis list all the info we have of Benjamin & children to date.

WIFE - Martha ?Unknown

Nothing is known of Martha other then her first name and she and Benjamin had 9 children all born in Charlestown, MA. It was stated they were married in Barnstable, MA. and first child born Nov 1652 so prob. year before that.

Death at least occured after last child was born 1672.

HUSBAND - Benjamin Bale-Beale Jr.

*Nov 2018 located info on Bathsheba Lothrop Mash/Marsh from Find A Grave internet site.

Listed her birth 1642 and death 8 Jan 1722 age 79-80 Buried Dorchester, Suffolk Co. MA, Dorchester North Burying Ground. Only info on Benjamin Bale (sometimes Beal or Beale) md abt 1668 and had 4 children, Two listed last names as Beale. Benjamin listed Bathsheba as executor of Benjamin's estate 1680. (copy)

Book "John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26 & 31. Was said wife was buried in Dorchester burying lot. Source he cited for info on this family was "Recently Discovered Line of Descent from Rev. John Lothrop" by Arthur Winfred Hodgman which may have also been in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register 86 (1932) 455-60. Benjamin was a mariner, son of Benjamin and Elizabeth Patten Bale.

She married 1st Benjamin Bale of Dorchester and later of Boston and they had 4 children.

Benjamin died between 16 Dec 1676 and 27 Apr 1680 when administration of his estate was granted to his widow, Bathshua. (not sure where?)

Need further research on the name of Bale/Beal/Beale as there were those names around the same time Lothrops and Bale? there.

HUSBAND - John Lothrop Jr. Capt.

* Nov 2018 located info on John Lothrop Jr -Capt from Find A Grave internet site. Listed birth date and place and death date and place aged 82. Burial Lothrop Hill Cem, Barnstable, MA.

Per Rev John Lothrop's own diary, his son John was baptized Feb 9, 1644 in the then English Julian calendar, now written historically as Feb 9, 1644-45 in the modern calendar. Find A Grave uses the modern Gregorian calendar. 2 pictures of his grave marker. Several siblings and half siblings.

He married 1st Mary Cole (believe was Cobb) 3 Jan 1670-71 they had 10 children. 3 listed with dates. (1654-1695) Cobb Family listed this mg also. Dau of James Cole? & Mary Tilson.

He married 2nd Hannah (Morton) Fuller in 1695. (1659-1738) widow of Dr John Fuller. (copy) Gravesite Details age 85.

Book "John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26 & 31.

Capt. John born and died Barnstable. Md Plymouth 1st 1671/2 to Mary Cobb, prob. dau of James & Mary Tilson Cobb of Scituate. He md 2nd Hannah, widow of Dr. John Fuller. His source of info was listed "Scituate and Barnstable church Records" New England Hist. & Gen. Register 10 (1836) 22, 347-348-349.

Other sources have said his first marriage was to Mary Cole, not Mary Cobb
He had 10 children by his 1st wife. Cobb Family also list this marriage.

2nd mg to Hannah Morton, widow of Dr. John Fuller, son of Mathew Fuller, son of Edward Fuller of Mayflower. He had 3 children by 2nd wife.

His death date has been listed as 18/27 Sep 1727.

CHILDREN: All children were said to have been born in Barnstable, MA.

Capt John was born in Barnstable, MA, the 2nd son that was named John. The first son stayed in England with relatives and his Uncle raised him. That John didn't die until 1653 so at some time there was two Johns living at same time with the same father but different mothers.

One source listed John and Mary Cole of Plymouth, MA. Need to do more research on this line to make sure he married a Cobb and not Cole.

WIFE - Mary Cobb

*Nov 2018 located info on Mary Cole? Cobb from Find A Grave internet site and her name listed as Cole as it was who md John Lothrop Jr (but other sources say it was Cobb). B. 1654 and died 1695 age 40-41 Barnstable, Barnstable Co. MA. Burial Lothrop Hill Cem, Barnstable, MA. 3 children of 10 listed with dates. Parents and 1 sibling. (copy)

Husband John Fuller Dr.

Wife Hannah Morton

Notes

HUSBAND - John Fuller Dr.

BIRTH: Has been listed as 1631 England and also has been listed as 1641 Plymouth, MA. Which is correct? If 1631 Frances maybe his mother if 1641 would be Hannah.

MARRIAGE1: No date for 1st marriage but maybe abt 1674 (which would make the 1641 birth date a little closer I would think).

MARRIAGE2: Date has been listed as 1692 so if death was 1692 would be close.
Hannah's 2nd mg was listed as 1695 so maybe John died shortly after marriage.

DEATH: Death has been listed as 1691 and 1692, no place. This date may not be right for his death. Need to check for will or probate to locate right info.

4 children listed born 1675, 1687, 1689 and 1691 and don't know which children is to which wife. It would look like the 1st one would be 1st wife and rest 2nd wife but 2nd child's name was Bethia which was name of 1st wife.

?Rented Patent estate at Scroton Neck.

WIFE - Hannah Morton

*Nov 2018 located info on Hannah Morton Fuller Lothrop from Find A Grave internet site.

Birth 1659 Plymouth, MA. Death Oct 1738 age 78-79, burial unknown.

Married 1st John Fuller 24 Mar 1686-7 and had 3 children. 1 was Bethier Fuller Lothrop 1687-1714

Married 2nd John Lothrop Jr 1645-1727 in 1695. and maybe 3 more children

Daughter of John Morton of Plymouth and Middleboro and perhaps his wife Lettice.

No other info on Hannah but was said she married 2nd Capt. John Lothrop of Barnstable 9 Dec 1695. If married 1st to John Fuller 1692 then was said John died shortly after so prob. had one child with him.

Book "John Lothrop 1584-1653" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26 & 31.

Capt. John born and died Barnstable. Md Plymouth 1st 1671/2 to Mary Cobb, prob. dau of James & Mary Tilson Cobb of Scituate. He md 2nd Hannah, widow of Dr. John Fuller. His source of info was listed "Scituate and Barnstable church Records" New England Hist. & Gen. Register 10 (1836) 22, 347-348-349.

2nd mg to Hannah Morton, widow of Dr. John Fuller, son of Mathew Fuller, son of Edward Fuller of Mayflower. He had 3 children by 2nd wife.

Her death was stated as Oct 1738.

Family Group Record

HUSBAND		John Fuller Dr.
WIFE		Hannah Morton
MARRIAGE		John Fuller Dr. - Hannah Morton
BIRTH		Has been listed as 1811 England and also has been listed as 1841 Plymouth, MA. Which is correct? If 1821 France maybe his mother W 1811 would be Hannah.
MARRIAGE		No info for the marriage but maybe at 1824 (which would make the 1841 birth date a little closer I would think)
MARRIAGE		John has been listed as 1892 so it likely was 1892 would be close. Hannah's 2nd mgt was listed as 1892 so maybe John died shortly after marriage.
DEATH		Death has been listed as 1891 and 1892, no place. This date may not be right for his death. Need to check for will or probate to locate right info.
CHILDREN		4 children listed born 1825, 1827, 1829 and 1831 and don't know which children is to which wife. If would look like the 1st one would be 1st wife and next 2nd wife but 2nd child's name was Betsey which was name of 1st wife.
REMARKS		Revised Patent estate in Scotland held.
WIFE		Hannah Morton
BIRTH		*Nov 2018 located info on Hannah Morton Fuller (info from Find A Grave internet site). Birth 1828 Plymouth, MA. Death Oct 1798 age 70-75 (local unknown).
MARRIAGE		Married 1st John Fuller 24 Mar 1826-7 and had 3 children. I was Betty Fuller (info 1887-1714)
MARRIAGE		Married 2nd John Fuller 1845-1717 in 1892, and maybe 3 more children.
REMARKS		Daughter of John Morton of Plymouth and Middleboro and perhaps his wife Betsey.
BIRTH		His other info on Hannah but was said she married 2nd John Fuller (info 1887-1714) Dec 1892. If married 1st to John Fuller 1826 then was said John died shortly after so prob. into one child with him.
BIRTH		Book "John Fuller (1824-1892)" by Richard Woodruff Price pub 1984 pg 26 & 31
BIRTH		Capt. John born and died Barnstable. His Plymouth 1st 1824 to Mary Child, prob. dau of James & Mary Tison. Capt. of Schute. He and 2nd Hannah, widow of Dr. John Fuller. His source of info was listed "Barnstable and Barnstable Church Records" New England Hist & Gen Register 10 (1892) 25, 247-248-249.
BIRTH		2nd mgt to Hannah Morton, widow of Dr. John Fuller, son of Edward Fuller of Mayflower. He had 3 children by 2nd wife.
DEATH		Her death was listed as Oct 1798.

HUSBAND - Robert Linnell

*Oct 2018 located info on Robert Linnell from WikiTree site which listed his birth date and place and death date and place. He listed 7 children married to Jemimah Penniah Howse Linnell. Not all children were listed in Roberts will dated 23 Jan 1662 but appears all were living. (copy) No reference to another wife here.

Name also written as Lynell.

Appears Robert Linnell had a daughter Susan baptized St Andrew Hubbard 7 Dec 1623. apparently from a first wife.?

WIFE - Jemimah "Peninah" Howse

*Oct 2018 located info on Peninah Howse from WikiTree site. Birth 11 Apr 1595 Egerton, Kent, Eng.

Death 1643. (another death date listed 1669 so not sure which is right). Death date not right.

Dau of John Howse and Alice Lloyd. 12 siblings listed. No info on mg or children here. (copy)

Name could have been listed as Jemima "Penninah" Howse also. as there was info on her from WikiTree site with same info that applied to Peninah Howse. Married to Robert Linnell b. 1584 London, Eng. Married 10 Aug 1610 London to Jemimah Howse listed 7 children. Robert d. 23 Jan 1662 Barnstable, MA. This site listed info on the will of Robert Linnell and it listed his wife Jemimah (Penniah) Linnell as widdow and then she on 20 Oct 1669 complained to

Mr. Robert Linnel, in his will dated 23d January 1662-3, gives to his wife Jemimah (Penniah) Linnel, the use and improvement of his house mid homelot so long as she remains a widow and his furniture a plow a cart and two cows and a calf forever.(p. 152)

To his son David he gives his lot on the south side of the road containing four acres adjoining John Caseley's land three acres of marsh at Sandy Neok and his House and homelot, including the swamp be bought of Thomas Lewes after the death or marriage of his wife. (p. 152-153)

To his daughter Abigail, three acres of upland and meadow in the common field on the north westerly aide of Matta keese pond. (p. 153)

To John Davis, who married his daughter Hannah, his two oxen, on condition that he provided his wife with wood, plowed her grounds, and mowed her meadow two years, if she remained a widow so long, if not then to be free. (p. 153)

To his daughter Bethia ,one cow, to have it when my wife will. (p. 153)

Oct. 20. 1669. Penniah Linnel complained to the Court that, David Linnit had possessed himself of the house and land given her by her deceased hushand Mr. Robert Linnitt, and bad given her no satisfaction for the same. The Court ordered that he give her satisfaction for the same before the next March Court, otherwise the Court order that he shall be disposed of the same. As no subsequent action was taken the presumption is that David did make the required satisfaction. (p. 153)

In the will, evidently drawn up by one not accustomed to framing legal instruments, Mr. Linnel only names three of his children David, Abigail, and Bethia. He names John Davis, who married his daughter Hannah, then living, but does not call her by name. He does not name his daughter Mary, who married Richard Childs. He names neither Shubael nor Samuel Linnel, both of whom were then living, if the names are not confounded and supposed to be his sons.

David Linnell, son of Robert, was able to bear arms in 1643; consequently was born as early as 1627. He was married March 9, 1652-3, by Thomas Hinckley, Esq. to Hannah Shelley, a daughter of Robert Shelley, and then in the sixteenth year of her age.^[2]

Rev John Mayo, Jr

BIRTH	1597 England
DEATH	3 May 1676 (aged 78–79) Yarmouth, Barnstable County, Massachusetts, USA
BURIAL	Cove Burying Ground Eastham, Barnstable County, Massachusetts, USA
MEMORIAL ID	47987228 · View Source

He was possibly the son of John Mayo, rector of Cattistock, Co.Dorset.

His first wife's identity is not known. She was the mother of all of his children. See comments below.

He married, second, about 1672, widow Tamesin ____ Lumpkin. She died Feb 26,1682/3 at Yarmouth,MA.

Children(by first marriage): Samuel Mayo, Nathaniel Mayo, Hannah Mayo Bacon, John Mayo III, and Elizabeth Mayo Howes. Possibly others.

From Cape Cod History website, here:

In his early 20's, John was in Leiden, Holland to marry there: Jan Meyer (John Mayo) of England, baize-worker, accompanied by Thomas Smeth (Smith), his acquaintance, was betrothed March 21, 1618 to Timmosijn Breyck (Tamisen Brike) of England, accompanied by Susanna Breyck (Brike), her mother, and Marytgen Duijck, (Mary), her sister. (N.H., vol. H., fo. 216). (Foreign names were commonly "Dutched".) A baize-worker works with wool fabric, and many Puritans in Leiden had this occupation, because there was a demand.

The Mayos were living at Nauset in the 1640s, where John was the first minister. There is a small indication that John Mayo remarried late in life.

NOTE: It is very possible that earlier Cape Cod resources may be incorrect, but there may be an inconsistency with the identity of John's wife Tamesin. Earlier literature indicated he married, as his second wife in 1671, Tamesin, widow of William Lumpkin, by whom Tamesin had several children. If that is the case, his first wife, and mother of his children, may be the Tamesin mentioned above, and she may be a different women than the Tamesin he married later in life. All comments welcome to sort this out.

He was possibly the son of John Mayo, rector of Catholic, Colorado.

His first wife's identity is not known. She was the mother of all of his children. See comments below.

He married, second, about 1871, widow Tamsin ____ Lumsden. She died Feb 26 1881 at Yarmouth, MA.

Children (by first marriage): Samuel Mayo, Nathaniel Mayo, Hannah Mayo Bacon, John Mayo III, and Elizabeth Mayo. Possible others.

From Cape Cod History website, here:

In his early 20's, John was in London, Holland to many there. Jan Mayo (John Mayo) of England, house-keeper, accompanied by Thomas Smith (Smith), his acquaintance, was detained March 21, 1818 to Timothea Black (Tamsin Black) of England, accompanied by Samuel Blythe (Blythe), her mother, and Mary Ann Dullack (Mary), her sister. (N.H. vol. 11, pt. 216) (English names were commonly "Dutchified") A name-variant with work fabric, and many Puritans in London had this occupation, because there was a demand.

The Mayos were living at Yarmouth in the 1840s, where John was the first minister. There is a small indication that John Mayo remained late in life.

NOTE: It is very possible that either Cape Cod records may be incorrect, but there may be an inconsistency with the identity of John's wife, Tamsin. Ann & Little James:

The vessels parted company at sea; the ANN arrived the latter part of June, and the LITTLE JAMES some week or ten days later; part of the number were the wives and children of persons already in the Colony. The ship Anne arrived in Plymouth in July, 1623 accompanied by the Little James, bringing new settlers along with many of the wives and children that had been left behind in Leyden when the Mayflower departed in 1620. EMIGRANT ANCESTORS, John Camden Hotten, 1874.

EDWARD BANGS is listed as one of the passengers on the Ann.

Probably baptised 28 Oct 1591 in Panfield, Essex, England to John & Jane (Chavis) Bangs. Married first by about 1633 Lydia Hicks, baptized St. Mary Magdalen, Bermondsey, Surrey, 6 September 1612, daughter of ROBERT HICKS. Married 2nd Rebecca (Probably Hobart) by 1635 in Plymouth or Eastham. Died between 19 Oct 1677 & 5 Mar 1678 in Eastham MA. Their child: Rebecca (Bangs) Sparrow.

EDWARD BANGS was born October 28, 1591 in Panfield, Braintree, Essex, England/Braintree, England, and died February 16, 1676/77 in Eastham, MA. He married REBECCA HOBART Abt. 1635 in Massachusetts, daughter of EDMUND HOBART and MARGARET DEWEY. She was born December 29, 1611 in Hingham, Norfolk Co, England, and died 1679 in Eastham, MA.

More About EDWARD BANGS:

Emigration: 1623, On the Ann

Occupation: Shipwright, directed the labor on the 1st vessel built in the Colonies

Places lived: One of seven who began the settlement in Nausett in 1645

Surveyor: January 1626/27, Edward along with Gov. Bradford, Edward Winslow, John Howland, Francis Cook & Joshua Pratt was chosen with instructions to lay out the land near the water on both side of the settlement.

Biography: Thomas the son of Thomas Prence, a carraige maker and his wife Elizabeth Tolderby, the daughter of Reverend John was born in Lechlade, village in Gloucestershire, Eng abt 1600 during the last years of the reign of Elizabeth Tudor. During the first years of young Thomas's life ,the English suffered horrible calaities. The bubonic plaque scorched across the country in 1603 & 1604, emptying the whole villages. In 1606-1607 , floods, that like of which the people had never known before, swept the coast and the waters ran to Glouchestershire and Somerset, lying waste to the lands in an unrelenting, unstoppable destruction. Youn Thomas and his family survived.

In 1621 , during the reign of James, the first Stuart, Thomas, with many adventurous Puritans, left England, with hopes for a wonderful future, they came to America. Thomas aboard the ship "Fortune" reaching Plymmouth, MA in Nov. They hadn't brought enough supplies and as the harsh New England winter continued, the young colonists knew hunger and hardship. Some didn't survive. Thomas did.

In the summer of 1624 (Anderson, without ciding a source claims 5 Aug 1624) Thomas married patience Brewster the dau of William and had 4 children, Rebecca, Thomas (who returned to England, married there and died young (Hannah & Mercy. Patience died of a fever in the winter of 1634 and the following spring Thomas, now governor wed Mary Collier, the dau of William.

On 15 Aug 1635 in the midst of a heatwave that withered the leaves on the trees, the Great Hurricane struck MA. It twisted and turned around Plymouth for 9 days. The colonists had never known such storms and the thing shredded homes, ripped away crops. Many lives were lost. Thomas and his family survived and with their friends and neighbors, began to rebuild, knowing with the crops gone, the winter would be another of hunger. Thomas left the office of governor before his daughter, Jane was born but gained re-election for the birth of his daughter, Mary, serving another year.

Thomas prospered through the years, fur-trading and buying and selling land. 1644 brought more changes to his life. His wife died. He movd again, with Edward Bangs, John Smalley, John Doane, Nicholas Snow, Richard Higgins

Biography

Thomas- the son of Thomas Prence, a carriage maker and his wife Elizabeth Tolderby, the daughter of Reverend John- was born in Lechlade, a village in Gloucestershire, England, about 1600, during the last years of the reign of Elizabeth Tudor.^[1] During the first years of young Thomas's life, the English suffered horrible calamities. The bubonic plague scorched across the country in 1603 and 1604, emptying whole villages. In 1606 and 1607, floods, that like of which the people had never known before, swept the coast and the waters ran to Gloucestershire and Somerset, laying waste to the lands in an unrelenting, unstoppable destruction. Young Thomas and his family survived.

In 1621, during the reign of James, the first Stuart, Thomas, with many adventurous Puritans, left England. With hopes for a wonderful future, they came to America, Thomas aboard the ship Fortune, reaching Plymouth, Massachusetts in November. ^[citation needed] They hadn't brought enough supplies and as the harsh New England winter continued, the young colonists knew hunger and hardship. Some didn't survive. Thomas did.

In the summer of 1624 [Anderson, without citing a source claims 5 August 1624], Thomas married Patience Brewster, the daughter of William and had four children- Rebecca, Thomas (who returned to England, married there and died young), Hannah and Mercy.

Biography

Thomas, the son of Thomas Francis, a carpenter, and his wife Elizabeth Tolbert, the daughter of Richard Tolbert, was born in Lechade, a village in Gloucestershire, England, about 1600, during the last years of the reign of Elizabeth I. During the first years of young Thomas's life, the English suffered terrible calamities. The bubonic plague scourged across the country in 1603 and 1604, emptying whole villages. In 1606 and 1607, floods, that like of which the people had never known before, swept the coast and the waters ran to Gloucestershire and Somerset, laying waste to the lands in an unrelenting, unrelenting destruction. Young Thomas and his family survived.

In 1621, during the reign of James, the first Stuart, Thomas, with
wonderful future, they came to America. Thomas aboard the ship Fortune, reaching Plymouth, Massachusetts in November 1620.
They hadn't brought enough supplies and as the harsh New England winter continued, the young colonists knew hunger and hardship. Some didn't survive. Thomas did.

In the summer of 1624 (Anderson, without citing a source claims 5 August 1624), Thomas married Rebecca Brewster, the daughter of William and had four children: Rebecca, Thomas (who returned to England, married there and died young), Hannah and Mercy.

Patience died of a fever in the winter of 1634.^[2] The following Spring, Thomas, now governor wed Mary Collier, the daughter of William.^[3]

On August 15, 1635, in the midst of a heatwave that withered the leaves on the trees, the Great Hurricane struck Massachusetts. It twisted and turned around Plymouth for nine days. The colonists had never known such storms and the thing shredded homes, ripped away crops. Many lives were lost. Thomas and his family survived and with their friends and neighbors, began to rebuild, knowing, with the crops gone, the winter would be another of hunger. Thomas left the office of governor before his daughter, Jane was born but gained re-election for the birth of his daughter, Mary, serving another year.

Thomas prospered through the years, fur-trading and buying and selling land. 1644 brought more changes to his life. His wife died. He moved again. With Edward Bangs, John Smalley, John Doane, Nicholas Snow, Richard Higgins and Josiah Cook, he founded the new town of Eastham. Thomas married again. His third wife, Apphia Quick, the daughter of William, is said to have divorced her first husband, Samuel Freeman. Thomas had three more daughters- Judith, Elizabeth, and Sarah. He was re-elected governor in 1657 and remained in office.

Though he was one of the richest and most powerful men in the community of Puritans, these weren't tranquil years for him. Thomas was a dedicated Puritan and intolerant of those who didn't share his religious and political agenda. His third term as governor was a savage and constant battle to suppress the Quaker religion. He fined the members of the sect. He imprisoned them. He exiled them. Thomas, the man who built schools and paid some of the colony's debt to English merchants, out of his own pocket, proudly led the persecution of innocent Quaker families.

And then a young Quaker came courting his daughter. Thomas fined the boy, threatened him with dire punishments, but the young man persisted and true love won. Elizabeth Prence married Arthur Howland. About the same time, Thomas wed his fourth wife. Mary Burr, the widow of Thomas Howes, was a companion and comfort in his last years.

Throughout his years, public and private, Thomas sought to maintain friendships with the Native Americans living nearby. In time, he earned their trust and respect. They knew that from Governor Prence, they would have just and fair treatment. This agenda, of peaceful coexistence, wasn't emulated by Thomas's successor in office. Thomas died March 29, 1673 and within two years, the horror that would become King Philip's War had begun.

He was particularly remembered for his interest in establishing a public school system of education which resulted in the passage of a law requiring each township of fifty families to maintain a teacher of reading and writing, while each of a hundred families was called upon to establish a grammar school.

BIRTH	1600 Nottinghamshire, England
DEATH	1634 (aged 33–34) Plymouth, Plymouth County, Massachusetts, USA
BURIAL	Burial Hill Plymouth, Plymouth County, Massachusetts, USA
MEMORIAL ID	7482764 · View Source

Patience Brewster was born most likely in Scrooby, England, to Elder William Brewster and Mary (maiden name varies by source). Her birthdate ranges from 1595 to 1603.

She arrived in Plymouth aboard the "Anne" in 1623 along with her sister, Fear. Her parents and brothers, Love and Wrestling, arrived during 1620 on the Mayflower. Her other brother, Jonathan, arrived with her future husband, Thomas Prence, on the ship Fortune.

On August 5, 1624, she married Thomas Prence who would, on January 1, 1634, become the 4th Governor of the Colony. Together, they had four children, Rebecca, Thomas, Hannah and Mercy.

She died in 1634 of "a pestilent feaver", and is buried on Burial Hill, Plymouth, Plymouth, Massachusetts.

NOTE: A maiden name of Burr has not been proven.^[1]

Mary, maiden name unknown, was born in England sometime around 1603, based on the birth of her first known child.

She emigrated with first (known) husband, Thomas Howe, and two children in 1637, so therefore could not have been married in New England.

After Thomas Howe, died, she married as his fourth wife, Thomas Prence. She survived him and died in 1695. She was buried in Yarmouth, Massachusetts.

daughter of Elder William Brewster. She died before 12 Dec. 1634 and he married (2) 1 Apr. 1635, Mary Collier, daughter of William Collier of Duxbury. She died before Dec. 1662 and he married (3) before Dec. 1662, Apphia (Quicke) Froman, widow of Samuel Froman Sr. He married (4) Mrs. Mary Howes, widow of Thomas Howes of Yarmouth. She died on 9 Dec. 1695. Thomas Prence came to Plymouth on the "Fortune" in 1621. He lived first at Plymouth but in 1632 removed to Duxbury. In 1644 he removed to Nauset, now Eastham, one of the seven original settlers and founders of that town. He lived there many years but returned to Plymouth before his death in 1672. Thomas Prence has the distinction of being second only to William Bradford in his number of years of service as Governor of Plymouth Colony.

JOSIAH WINSLOW: Governor, 1673-1680. Josiah Winslow was the son of Governor Edward Winslow by his second wife, Susanna (Fuller) White. He was born about 1625 and died at Marshfield, 18 Dec. 1680. He married Penelope Pelham who was born about 1630 and died at Marshfield, 7 Dec. 1703. She was the daughter of Herbert Pelham, the first treasurer of Harvard College. Josiah Winslow was a member of the General Court from Marshfield, Assistant Governor in 1657 and Commissioner to the New England Confederacy, 1654-60. In 1659 he was appointed Chief Military Commander for Plymouth Colony. In 1675 he was Commander in Chief of the troops raised for King Philip's War and during that conflict commanded the colonial army at the "Great Swamp Fight" of 1676.

THOMAS HINCKLEY: Governor, 1681-1686 and 1689-1691.2. Thomas Hinckley, Plymouth Colony's last Governor, was born in England about 1618, the son of Samuel Hinckley and his wife Sarah. He died in 1706. He married (1) 4 Dec. 1641, Mary Richards. She died in 1650 and he married (2) 15 March 1640, Mary, widow of Nathaniel Glover of Dorchester. She died 29 July 1703. Thomas Hinckley came to Scituate with his father in 1635, on the "Hercules". In 1640 he removed to Barnstable. He served as Assistant Governor continuously from 1658 to 1680, in 1680 became the Colony's first Deputy Governor and the following year was elected Governor. His administration was interrupted by Sir Edmund Andros' rule as Royal Governor but when the latter was deposed in 1689, Thomas Hinckley again assumed his rightful place. But Plymouth's troubles were not over. In spite of the courageous efforts of such men as James Oudworth and Ishabod Wiswall, the Old Colony's long struggle for a Royal Charter was in

Pilgrim colonist, leader and preacher

Elder William Brewster came from Scrooby, in north Nottinghamshire and reached what became the Plymouth Colony in the Mayflower in 1620. He was accompanied by his wife, Mary Brewster, and his sons, Love Brewster and Wrestling Brewster. The town of Brewster, Barnstable, MA was incorporated Febr 19, 1803 and was named for Elder William Brewster. A large part of the inhabitants being his descendants

William Brewster attended Peterhouse College, Cambridge 1580-1583; was postmaster and baliff-receiver at Scrooby, England 1590-1607. Organized Scrooby congregation 1606-1609; removed his family to Amsterdam and later to Leyden, Holland where he tutored 1609-1616 and was ruling Elder 1616-1619. He was in flight and hiding in England in 1619-1620 while arranging passage for the Sainets to New England. William, his wife and two youngest sons arrived Plymouth via the Mayflower in 1620. At Plymouth, William was Ruling Elder until 1643. He was also purchaser 1626; Undertaker 1627-1641

Biography compiled by William L. DeCoursey, GSMD #68501, a descendant of William Brewster.

William BREWSTER, son of William and Mary (SMYTHE) BREWSTER of Scrooby, England, was born in January 1563/4. He was regarded as leader of the Pilgrims at Scrooby (near Sherwood Forest), where his father became bailiff of the Manor of Scrooby in 1675, and was later appointed postmaster by Queen Elizabeth. In 1580, William Brewster (1563-1644) matriculated at Peterhouse College, in Cambridge, where it is believed he acquired his earliest Separatist ideas. The Separatists held the view that "the worship of the English Church is flat idolatry; that we admit into our Church persons unsanctified; that our preachers have no lawful calling; that our government is ungodly; that no bishop or preacher preacheth Christ sincerely and truly; that the people of every parish ought to choose their bishop, and that every elder, though he be no doctor nor pastor, is a bishop; that set prayer is blasphemous." These were radical views, which struck at the very roots of the government established English church. In Cambridge William BREWSTER joined the Separatist "underground" teachers and students who militantly refused to attend the compulsory services in the state-controlled churches. After completing his studies at Cambridge, William BREWSTER (Jr.) was employed by Puritan, Sir William DAVISON, Secretary of State to Queen Elizabeth and her personal envoy to Holland. William BREWSTER accompanied DAVISON, as his personal aide, to Holland, during the war with Spain. When the Netherlands surrendered their "cautionary towns" to Elizabeth, the keys of these towns were entrusted by DAVISON to the custody of BREWSTER. William BREWSTER visited the Netherlands in 1584 and again in 1585/86, returning to Scrooby in 1588 after the disgrace of DAVISON, which followed the execution of Mary STUART.

William BREWSTER (Jr.) married, ca.1585, to Mary --?--, her maiden surname unknown.. William BREWSTER had children: William, Edward, Jonathan BREWSTER (1593-1659) m. (1) --?-- and m. (2) Lucretia OLDHAM; Love BREWSTER (1595-1651) m.1634 Sarah, dau. William COLLIER; Wrestling BREWSTER; Patience BREWSTER m.1624 Gov. Thomas PRENCE; and Fear BREWSTER (1606-1634) m.1626 Isaac ALLERTON.

Regarding the possible identity of William Brewster's wife, Mary, John G. Hunt in the January 1965 issue of THE AMERICAN GENEALOGIST, v.41, pp.1-5,63, presents circumstantial evidence that William BREWSTER's wife was Mary WENTWORTH, dau. of Thomas and Grace (GASCOIGNE) WENTWORTH. The evidence has not been accepted as conclusive, however.

In 1587, Thomas COPE/COPP presented the Presbyterian "Book of Discipline" to Parliament, and offered a bill for its enactment into law. For this offense he, together with Peter WENTWORTH, another Puritan, who then stood up for freedom of speech, was committed to the Tower by order of Queen Elizabeth. - (Note: Some say that Elder William BREWSTER, of the Mayflower, married, ca.1585, to Mary WENTWORTH, dau. of Thomas and Grace (GASCOIGNE) WENTWORTH. The Peter WENTWORTH who was condemned to the Tower, perhaps was a brother or cousin of Mary BREWSTER.)

(According to Marshall GARDNER of Yuma, Arizona, William BREWSTER married Mary LOVE. No evidence given.)

Until more evidence becomes available, all that can be said is that William Brewster's wife was "Mary", maiden name unknown.

In 1587, Queen Elizabeth, in an effort to conceal her own complicity in the death of Mary STUART Queen of Scots, ordered her Secretary of State, William DAVISON, to trial for supposedly concealing Mary STUART's death warrant among other papers he presented to Elizabeth for her signature. (He was the scape-goat.) He was found guilty, fined and thrown into prison. Queen Elizabeth immediately pardoned Davison, and revoked the fine, and restored his position and title, but unable to face him, she exiled him from the court along with his entourage, including his aide, William BREWSTER.

William BREWSTER [Jr.], upon receiving news of the illness of his father, William BREWSTER, Sr., returned to Scrooby in early 1589. Upon the death of the Senior William BREWSTER, Sir William DAVISON recommended his former aide, William BREWSTER (Jr.), for the bailiff and postmaster positions previously held by BREWSTER's deceased father. During his father's illness, young BREWSTER served more than eighteen months as his father's deputy. On 22 August 1590, a letter was sent from Mr. John STANHOPE to Sir William DAVISON, Queen Elizabeth's secretary. Mr. STANHOPE sent his regrets that he could not comply with DAVISON's request. On the death of old BRUSTER, one Samuel REVERCOTES wrote to STANHOPE for the place of postmaster at SCROOBY, and STANHOPE had complied. He stated his reasons for not conferring the place on young BRUSTER, who had served in that place for his father, old BRUSTER. Secretary DAVISON returned the letter with notes in his own hand in defense of young BREWSTER, and pointed out that since, young BREWSTER had held the positions for over a year-and-a-half during his fathers illness, that he should be allowed to continue. Secretary DAVISON apparently was persuasive and/or able to use his influence. BREWSTER got the positions, which he held until he departed for Holland in 1609.

Parliament, in 1593, forbade the Separatists to hold their own services. Anyone who refused to attend church for forty days, and who went instead to private meetings "contrary to the laws and statutes of this realm [and] being thereof lawfully convicted, shall be committed to prison, there to remain without bail or mainprise, until they shall confirm and yield themselves to come to some church."

In the 1593 Parliament, the speaker, Edward COKE, presented the usual petition to the queen, asking for liberty of speech for freedom from arrest, and for access to her majesty. For answer he was told that privilege of speech was granted, but it consisted in saying "yea" or "no;" and that members of Parliament could have access to her majesty at times convenient, and when she was at leisure from other important causes of the realm. Considering this a sharp rebuff, Peter WENTWORTH again shocked Parliament and the Queen by bringing in a bill for settling the succession to the crown, and again he was promptly committed to the Tower. Parliament, in 1593, forbade the Separatists to hold their own services. Anyone who refused to attend church for forty days, and who went instead to private meetings "contrary to the laws and statutes of this realm [and] being thereof lawfully convicted, shall be committed to prison, there to remain without bail or mainprise, until they shall confirm and yield themselves to come to some church."

A church court was in session in 1597 to consider simony charges against James BREWSTER, vicar of Sutton cum Launde, Nottinghamshire. Before the Rev. Mr. John BENET, L.L.D., "appeared William BREWSTER, gen., brother of the aforesaid James BREWSTER, cleric, which William gave assent to the findings of the court, by which the salary of said cleric was to be withheld."

As early as 1606, a Separatist congregation was formed in Scrooby, which met in the manor house where William BREWSTER lived. "After they were joined together into communion he was a special stay and help unto them. They ordinarily met at his house on the Lord's Day, which was a Manor of the Bishop's [the Archbishop of York]; and with great love he entertained them when they came, making provision for them, to his great charge, and continued to do so, whilst they could stay in England." William BREWSTER was dismissed from his postmaster position at Scrooby, in 1607, because of his Separatist activities.

The Puritan persecution intensified under James I, and William BREWSTER, William BRADFORD and other Scrooby Separatists, at last decided to escape to Holland. "In Autumn 1607, those who had not yet been arrested and thrown into prison resolved to smuggle themselves out of the country. Packing their personal belongings and led by their pastor, Richard CLIFTON, the Separatists set out for the port of Boston, Lincolnshire, England (sixty miles from Scrooby). At Boston, they were betrayed by the captain of the ship that was to have transported them; their goods were ransacked; and they were imprisoned for a month or more. BREWSTER, BRADFORD, and CLIFTON were the last to be set free having served about a year in the prison at Boston, England.

"On 1 December 1607, William Brewster of Scrooby was cited before the High Court of Commission on information that he was a Brownist and disobedient in matters of religion. He was fined 20 pounds." (And apparently he went to prison in addition to the fine.)

A diary entry of 1608 reads, "Seeing themselves thus molested, and that there was no hope of their continuance there, by a joynte consente they resolved to go into the Low Countries, where they heard was freedom of Religion for all men." Their exile to a new and foreign land was not easy. "The ports and havens were shut against them. So as they were fain to seek secret means of conveyance; and to bribe and fee the mariners, and give extra-ordinary rates for their passages. And yet were they often-times betrayed, many of them; and both they and their goods intercepted and surprised, and thereby put to great trouble and charge."

In 1608, another attempt was made by the Separatists to escape to Holland. They were pursued, and in their haste to avoid capture or worse, many of the men were separated from their wives, and families. The women left behind in England were arrested, but their captors, not knowing how to dispose of these women whose only crime was wanting to join their husbands, released them. The families gradually re-united in Holland and settled first in Amsterdam and in 1609 at Leiden, Holland.

In February 1609 permission was granted by the Burgomasters of Leyden, Holland for 150 persons, or thereabouts, to re-settle in Leyden, "provided such persons behave themselves and obey the laws and ordinances. Elder William BREWSTER removed to Leiden, Holland, where he was chosen a ruling elder in the new church. He, at first, made a living as "ribbon maker" in a silk factory, but, as an educated man, he soon was able to earn money by teaching. "His outward condition was mended, and he lived well and plentifully. For he fell into a way, by reason he had the Latin tongue, to teach many students who had a desire to learn the English tongue, to teach them English; and by his method they quickly attained it with great facility; for he drew Rules to learn it by, after the Latin manner. And many Gentlemen, both Danes and Germans, resorted to him, as they had time from other studies; some of them being Great Men's sons."

Elder William BREWSTER, aged about forty-two years, came before the aldermen at Leiden, Holland, 12 June 1609 (eight days before the burial of an un-named child of William BREWSTER), as guardian of Ann PECK, native of Launde (near Scrooby, England), when they granted to Thomas SIMKINSON, merchant of Hull (he probably was son of John and Mary (SMYTHE) SYMKINSON and half-brother of Elder William BREWSTER), the power to receive seven pounds sterling that Ann PECK had left in the hands of William WATKIN, pastor of Clarbrough (six miles south-east of Scrooby) when she left England.

Ann PECK and her brother Robert PECK were wards of William BREWSTER. That they were William BREWSTER's niece and nephew is apparent, for it seems that their parents were Robert and Prudence (BREWSTER) PECK of Everton (about two miles east of Scrooby); which Robert PECK, in his will dated 1598, proved at York the same year, named wife Prudence and left his daughter Ann seven pounds, six shillings, eight pence.

The register of St. Pancras church, Leyden, records the burial on Saturday, 20 June 1609, of a child of William BREWSTER. The age and sex of the child are not specified. (Comment - It might be reasonable to assume that the "child of William BREWSTER" who was buried, 20 June 1609, was Prudence (BREWSTER) PECK, dau. of William BREWSTER, Sr. and wife of Robert PECK, since her brother, Elder William BREWSTER appeared in court eight days earlier as guardian of Prudence's minor daughter, Ann PECK.) -

On 25 June 1609, Elder William BREWSTER, aged about forty-two (other records would make him closer to 45), Mary BREWSTER, about forty, and their son Jonathan, sixteen, appeared in Dutch Court to testify as witnesses in behalf of a merchant of Amsterdam who had a dispute with a supplier of cloth. Their residence was in the "stinckteeck" in Leiden on the "Pieterskerkhof," in the little colony of houses on the estate of John ROBINSON.

William BREWSTER witnessed the betrothal of William PONTUS, weaver, and Wybra HANSON at Leyden in 1610.

In 1611, the Separatists congregation purchased an estate at Leiden, where they lived and worshiped.

William BREWSTER witnessed the betrothal of Randall THICKINS and Jane WHITE, in 1612, at Leyden.

In 1616, William BREWSTER, with the aid of John REYNOLDS, a master printer from London and his 22-year-old assistant Edward WINSLOW, printed several anonymous Puritan pamphlets and books, that were smuggled into England for sale there. The publishing house (an extension on the rear of William BREWSTER's house which faced the Stincksteeg, or Stink Alley) was financed by his young friend, Thomas BREWER. King James's government regarded these publications as treasonable; and the English ambassador to Holland insisted that the Dutch authorities imprison Thomas BREWER. William BREWSTER had to go into hiding to avoid arrest, and the printing equipment was seized and impounded.

In 1619, the twelve years truce between Spain and Holland was about to expire, and Holland was again menaced by talk of war. The Pilgrims were living as exiles in poor circumstances, in a strange land that might turn into a bloody battleground. They could not return to England, but wanted to find a place that they could raise their families as English away from foreign influence. They looked to America. Elder William BREWSTER was chosen their leader, and while he was in England petitioning the Virginia Company of London, for a land patent and passage to the New World, an order for his arrest went out at the instance of the English ambassador in Holland; however he escaped.

On Friday, 31 July, 1620, William BREWSTER, his wife, his sons, Love and Wrestling and two boys "bound out" to him, Richard MORE and his brother, left Leyden along with other Pilgrims for Delfshaven on the Maas River. They boarded the "Speedwell" there and sailed the next day, and after a quick passage to Southampton, England they met the "Mayflower." The rest of the BREWSTER children, including son, Jonathan, remained behind in Holland and came over afterwards. The two vessels set sail on 5 August, 1620; but after covering about 150 miles, the "Speedwell" was reported to be leaking, and both vessels put in at Dartmouth. There it was decided that the "Mayflower" was to make the voyage alone, and it's final departure was from Plymouth on Wednesday, 6 September, 1620. There were 102 passengers aboard. William BREWSTER was the fourth signer of the Mayflower Compact, 11 November 1620 O.S.

William BREWSTER, in 1627, became one of the eight who assumed the Plymouth Colony's debt.

Mary BREWSTER, wife of William BREWSTER, died at Plymouth, Massachusetts, 27 April 1627.

Elder William BREWSTER died 10 April 1643/4, "age about 80 years," at Plymouth, Massachusetts. He failed to make a will, and on 5 June 1644, his "onely two sonnes surviveing," Jonathan and Love BREWSTER, were appointed administrators of the estate. His inventory taken by Capt. Miles STANDISH, John DONE and Thomas PRENCE in May 1644, showed that he was a man of wealth when he died. The inventory included an extensive library of Latin and English works.

- In 1579, William BREWSTER (Sr.) and Mary his wife, in 1579, sued in chancery, William and Francis HOBSON, claiming life settlement of lands in Doncaster, late of John SYMKINSON, formerly husband of said Mary BREWSTER. John SYMKINSON and Mary his wife are first named in YORKSHIRE FINES in the year 1556 regarding lands in Wakefield, while they are last named during his lifetime in a fine of the year 1562 regarding lands at Wakefield.

1580 - Sometime after 1579, William BREWSTER (Sr.) married second to Prudence STOCTON, who was his relict. William and Prudence (STOCTON) BREWSTER probably had children James BREWSTER m. --?- WELBECK; Prudence BREWSTER m. Robert PECK; and John BREWSTER.

1590 - William BREWSTER [Jr.], upon receiving news of the illness of William BREWSTER, Sr., returned to Scrooby in early 1589. Upon the death of the Senior William BREWSTER, Sir William DAVISON recommended his former aide, William BREWSTER (Jr.), for the bailiff and postmaster positions previously held by BREWSTER's deceased father. During his father's illness, young BREWSTER served more than eighteen months as his father's deputy.

On 22 August 1590, a letter was sent from Mr. John STANHOPE to Sir William DAVISON, Queen Elizabeth's secretary. Mr. STANHOPE sent his regrets that he could not comply with DAVISON's request. On the death of old BRUSTER, one Samuel REVERCOTES wrote to STANHOPE for the place of postmaster at SCROOBY, and STANHOPE had complied. He stated his reasons for not conferring the place on young BRUSTER, who had served in that place for his father, old BRUSTER. Secretary DAVISON returned the letter with notes in his own hand in defense of young BREWSTER, and pointed out that since, young BREWSTER had held the positions for over a year-and-a-half during his fathers illness, that he should be allowed to continue. Secretary DAVISON apparently was persuasive and/or able to use his influence. BREWSTER got the positions, which he held until he departed for Holland in 1609. John Brewster

Biography

In 1970 John G Hunt published an account of the family of William Brewster of Duncaster in NEHGR Volume 124 p 253 in 1970.[1] This was a follow-up article to his previously published treatment of this family published in 1965 in TAG Volume 41 p 1-5[2] In 2014 the General Society of Mayflower Descendants published the latest research on Elder William Brewster and the authors call these two articles the current state of research on this topic. [3] William Brewster of Scrooby was born about 1534 to William Brewster and Maude Mann probably in Doncaster, Yorkshire, England where we find the last record of his parents. His date of birth is estimated based on the birth date of his son Elder William Brewster.[1] A William Brewster witnessed the will of his uncle Christopher Mann on 13 Jan 1558 with Thomas and John Simkinson of Doncaster. Although we are uncertain if this was William Brewster of Scrooby or his father, William Brewster of Doncaster, John G Hunt believes it was the former. He was named in the will of Bartholomew Bryan of Scrooby dated 6 May 1564 as William Brewster "dwelling in Scrooby." [1][4] Scrooby, Nottinghamshire, England is a small village on the River Ryton near Bawtry in the northern part of the English county of Nottinghamshire. Scrooby is located just seven miles South of his ancestral home in Doncaster. He married first Mary (Smythe) Simkinson, daughter William Smythe of Stainforth parish in Hatfield. She was sister of John Smythe of Hull and widow of John Simkinson of Wakefield and Doncaster. With her previous husband she had two children:[1][2]

Dorothy Symkinson[1]

Thomas Simkinson who died in 1612 in Hull[1]

Mary Smythe and William Brewster had one child:

"Elder" William Brewster, "Mayflower" Passenger. He was born in 1566 or 1567 in Doncaster, England and died 10 April 1644 in Duxbury, Plymouth Colony. He married Mary, whose parents are unknown.[1]

According to an undated proceeding addressed to Sir Nicholas Bacon, Lord Keeper of the Great Seal (1558-1579) Mary (Smythe) Brewster and William Brewster sued Francis Hobson. She is identified as the late wife of John Symkinson late of Doncaster, Yorkshire, England and she testified that her late husband was seized of lands in Doncaster and in his lifetime he did convey these land to her when she was his wife for the term of her life and afterwards before he died at Doncaster.[5] Since the proceeding is undated we only know that this event occurred during the career of Sir Bacon between 1558 and 1579. Mary probably died by 1567 based on the estimated birth dates of the three children of William Brewster and his second wife. William Brewster married second to Prudence shortly after the birth of his first son. It has been postulated that her maiden name may have been Peck or Perkins but not with any confidence.[1][2] Prudence Peck and William Brewster had only three children. The children are specifically listed on NEHGR Vol 124 p 251.[1]

James Brewster born say 1568 probably in Scrooby died 14 Jan 1613 in Sutton, Nottinghamshire, England. He married Mary Welbeck who died 7 Apr 1637 in Sutton, Nottinghamshire, England and they had four daughters Grace who married William Glaive, Elizabeth, Susanna and Judith who married Edward Oldfield.[6] He is proposed to be the James Brewster who was vicar of Sutton cum Laude. He matriculated at St John's College at Cambridge in 1582, succeeded Henry Brewster (his uncle) as vicar at Sutton on Lound in 1594. His brother William Brewster testified on his behalf.[1][7][7][1] Although it has not been decisively proven that this son James is identical to the man of the same name who was vicar.[3] However, the evidence is fairly strong that he was. [8]

Prudence Brewster born say 1567 probably in Scrooby and probably died before 1609 in Everton, Nottinghamshire, England when two of her children were wards to William Brewster (see below). She married Robert Pecke whose will was dated 1598 in Everton, Nottinghamshire, England. He possibly had a second wife named Jun Jenyver if he was the man of the same name who married in 15 Jun 1589 in Loude, three miles from Scrooby. It is unclear which children were from which wife but in his will he names: Robert the eldest, Ann, Prudence, William, Thomas and George. His children Robert Peck and Prudence Pecke were wards of their supposed uncle William Brewster at Ledyen.[1]

John Brewster who in 1595 and 1613 was identified in the town of Myssen in Nottinghamshire, England where he was twice fined. After that he disappears. Note that this son John is often conflated with Rev John Brewster of Surrey and he is not identical. That John is related to the Strong family and has nothing to do with this family of Scrooby. Our John vanishes it would seem in the town of Myssen after 1613. This is last date and place we find evidence for him.[9][1] The other John of Surrey is discussed by Mary Coffin Johnson in The Higleys and Their Ancestry, An Old Colonial Family. [10] This is the family of a very important historical character and it should be as accurate as possible. A whole list of children are getting copied to GENI, Wikitree, Familysearch, Ancestry and Werelate, etc. and there is no evidence to support their existence. We should raise the bar. If we include a name or a profile in the family tree of the only college educated Mayflower Passenger then we had better pony up a solid source to back up that name or profile. John G Hunt lists no children named Millicent (Brewster) Eames, Elizabeth Brewster, Henry Brewster, Edward Brewster, or Amy (Brewster) Weld. As stated above 2014 the General Society of Mayflower Descendants published the latest research on Elder William Brewster and they called these two articles by John G Hunt the current state of research on this topic.[3] Therefore all profiles of children except for the Mayflower passenger and the three others outlined by John G Hunt in NEHGR and TAG should be removed.

The will of Robert Pecke of Everton, Nottinghamshire, England (2 miles north of Loude) dated and proved in 1598 states:

"I Robert Pecke of Everton, husbandman,... my body to buried in the churchyard of Everton... I give the poor of Everton 3/4. I give William Pecke my son 7/6/8. I give George Pecke, my son, the same. I give Ann Pecke my daughter the same. I give Thomas Hodgson 10/- bequeathed to my mother. I give Thomas Sympson half a rood of Rye. I give Hercules Moore 12d. I give Robert Pecke my eldest son a couple of black steers. I give Prudence my wife and Robert my son all residue and make them executors. I make Richard Perkin guardian of my son Robert during his minority.

Witness Anthony Phan, clerke, Richard Harrison, and William Fletcher".[1]

Prudence (Brester) Pecke was obviously still living in 1598. However, she must have died by 1609 for Elder William Brewster, aged about forty-two years, came before the aldermen at Leiden, Holland on 12 June 1609, as guardian of Ann PECK, native of Launde, when they granted to Thomas Simkinson, merchant of Hull (son of John Simkinson and Mary Smythe and half-brother of Elder William BREWSTER), Power of Attorney to receive seven pounds sterling that Ann Pecke had left with Rev. William Watkin, pastor of Claborough when she left England.[1] The register of St. Pancras church, Leyden, records the burial on Saturday, 20 June 1609, of a child of William BREWSTER. The age and sex of the child are not specified. It might be reasonable to assume that the "child of William BREWSTER" who was buried, 20 June 1609, was Prudence (Brewster) Pecke, daughter of William Brewster and wife of Robert Pecke, since her brother, Elder William Brewster appeared in court eight days earlier as guardian of Prudence's minor daughter, Ann Pecke. That would suggest the widow Prudence (Brewster) Peck accompanied her surviving children, Robert & Ann, to Leyden; that she was taken ill, so William arranged for the transfer of Ann Peck's inheritance. In 1610 William Brewster's wife Mary was living in Leiden with two wards Anne and Robert Pecke.[1] [11] The Pilgrim Records in the Archives of the City of Leiden, The Netherlands contain the following entry "9 Dec 1616 Jan Spoenaert, lintier, nit Engelant, wedr. van Sussanna Benijft verger, van Samuel Lee met Anna Peck, jd. nit Engelant, verges. met Lisbeth." which apparently translates to: "9 Dec 1616. John Spooner, linen-worker from England, widower of Susanna Bennet, accompanied by Samuel Lee, [is married] with Anna Peck, young woman from England, accompanied by Elizabeth Spalding her acquaintance." Some have interpreted linen-worker as ribbon maker which is a line of work Jonathan Brewster was in for a period in Leiden.[12][13] John Spooner was at the time residing at the Douver House, a local house for bachelors in Leiden (the Douver House still exists today). John Spooner died 6 Jul 1628 in Leiden.[13] In 22 Jan 1630 Ann Peck of Leyden was witness to the marriage of Henry Parkgus and Margaret Woodwek. In 1637 an Ann Spooner joined the Salem Church with a Thomas Spooner. Thomas Spooner had a wife Elizabeth.[14] Savage lists Ann as a first wife of Thomas but the original records give no evidence that she was his wife. It is possibly that Ann Spooner was Ann (Brewster) Spooner widow of John Spooner of Leyden and step-mother or mother of Thomas Spooner. A William Spooner also arrived in 1637 in Plymouth as an indentured servant. This may imply that he was still a minor and possibly a second child of this family.[15] However, the identity of Ann Spooner of Salem is not yet conclusive.

The will of Maude Mann's brother Christopher Mann is not only helpful in determining her maiden name it also helps us elucidate the identity of the mother of William Brewster the Mayflower passenger, Mary Smythe. Christopher's will was witnessed by John Symkinson who was the first husband of Mary Smythe, the mother of Thomas Sinkinson of Hull by her first husband and the mother of William Brewster the Mayflower passenger by her second husband William Brewster of Scrooby.[2] In 1609 William Brewster of the Mayflower while living in Leiden gave power of attorney to his half-brother Thomas Simkinson of Hull to receive money that Anne Pecke had left in England. Ann Peck and her brother Robert Pecke were ward's of William Brewster. They have been identified as the children of William Brewster's half-sister Prudence Brewster and her husband Robert Pecke of Everton.[2] These two records link William Brewster of Leiden to his grandfather William Brewster of Doncaster just seven miles North of Scrooby. The will of Thomas Symkinson Alderman of Doncaster dated 29 Jan 1558 proved 2 May 1560 names John Simkinson and his two children Dorothy and Thomas Simkinson as well as Thomas Smythe, John Smythe of Hull, William Smythe and Alice widow of Chirstopher Mann among others.[1][16] The will of John Smythe of Hull dated 8 Aug 1592 proved the following October made it evident that Elder William Brewster and the younger Thomas Smythe of Hull were maternal half-brothers when he named "my nephews" William Brewster, John Smythe and Thomas Simkinson executors of his estate.[1] For an in depth discussion of the will of Christopher Mann please see the profile of Maude Mann.

George F. Willison writes "In 1575 Archbishop Grindal of York addressing him [William Brewster] as "our trusty and well-beloved servant," and commissioned the senior William Brewster as bailiff and receiver at Scrooby manor, an extensive lordship embracing hundreds of farms and many village round about." He collected manorial fees, rents and fines and could act as magistrate in disputes. He also became master of the local station of the royal post and operated a tavern to refresh the delivery men traveling on the Great North Road. The Scrooby Manor House included a blacksmith shop, stables, kennels, dovecotes and a granary, brewery and bake shop. The younger William Brewster received payment for operating it as a bed and breakfast.[11] William Brewster of Scrooby died 1590 in Scrooby, Nottinghamshire, England.[1]

HUSBAND - Thomas Howes Capt.

*Oct 2018 located info on this Thomas Howse from Find A Grave internet site that listd his birth 1608 Eastwell, Eng. and death Dec 1644 age 35-36 Greater London, England. Burial St Stephen Church (defunct), London, City of London, Greater London, England. Parents: John House 1566-1630 and Alice Lloyd 1572-1640. Spouse: Elizabeth Checkett Smith b. ?- d. 1652

Listed 4 siblings.

Note: Born abt 1608 and baptized at Eastwell, Kent on 21 Aug 1608, son of Rev. John Howse, Husband of Elizabeth (Checkett) Howse Smith.

Note: Formerly an officer in the Honourable Artillery Co, he was a captain in the Parliamentarian Army's Red Regiment of Westminster during the English Civil War.

Info from the Lothrop Family Foundation, Inc Newsletter Vol XXI No 3 Summer 2010.

Thomas Howes Bapt Eastwell 21 Aug 1608. Died 1644 London. In his will dated 18 Oct 1643 and he left a codicil dated 15 Oct 1644 he lists his wife Elizabeth, to be sole executrix his brother Samuel of Scituate & Barnstable Mass., his sister Peninah Lynell, his sister Druscilla Player and his son Samuel Howes. He also list as administrators the famous Puritan, Praise God Barbon (influential Member of Parliament of the Commonwealth period, known as "Barebones Parliment") and William Granger, who was brought up before the High Commission along with Barbon's wife Sara. The Barbons, Granger, Peninah and Samuel Howes (brother to Thomas) along with Robert Linnell, were members of the Rev. Lothrop's congregation in London. This congregation is known to modern historians as the Jacob/Lothrop/Jessey church.

Overseers were to be brohter in law Symon Player and Prayse Barbon. Elizabeth the mother left a will dated 14 Oct 1652, proved 23 oct 1652, mentioning children Samuel House and Elizabeth House.

Religious and Political Radicalism in London: The Family of Thomas Howse with Massachusetts Connections 1642-1665 by Craig L. Dalley (copy)

Civil War Service in the Parliamentary Militia:

St Stephen Coleman Street parish records list Thomas's burial as 17 Dec 1644 and identify him as "Thomas House a Captaine". At first glance this appears to contradict both Thomas's will, which identified him as a 'brownebaker' and notarial record for his brother Samuel, which identified Thomas as a 'watchmaker'.

Pg 28 Leadership in London Livery Companies (more about Thomas) pg 29-31 Religious Radiclism of Thomas Howse's Friends. More abt his will and who he listed in it.

Pg 32 Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howes's Siblings:

Pg 33-35 Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howse's Wife's Family: She survived Thomas by 8 years and 12 Jun 1645 she md Robert Smith at St Alphege London Wall.

Pg 36 Radicalism of Thomas Howse's sister Hannah (Howse) Allen Chapman:

More from this site listed Rev. John Howse's info and on his children also. seems the first Hannah md Allen Chapman and the second Hannah md Rev John Lothrop. Also listed info on son Thomas Howse's children as well here.

Just so much different info on this Howse family it is hard to tell what is right.

WIFE - Elizabeth Checkett

As London moved toward civil war in the early 1640s, Thomas Howse stayed in London, while two of his siblings had moved to New England, namely, Samuel Howse and Peninnah (Howse) Linnell, as had his sister Hannah's widower, Rev. John Lohrop, and their children. Those siblings had been arrested for religious non-conformity in London before seeking refuge in Plymouth Colony. Like his siblings, Thomas appears to have been a religious radical. Thomas made his last will and testament on 18 October 1643, even though he was only 35 years old and enjoyed good health. Identifying himself as a London citizen of St. Stephen Coleman Street parish, Thomas explained that he wrote his will due to the "uncertainty of this mortall lyfe."^[1] Although his parish was notorious as a wellspring of religious dissent, his burial record provides evidence that he faced greater risk than just belonging to a radical parish and that the uncertainty in Thomas's life was more than just a conventional expression.

Civil War Service in the Parliamentary Militia

St. Stephen Coleman Street parish records list Thomas's burial as 17 December 1644 and identify him as "Thomas House a Captaine."^[2] At first glance, this appears to contradict both Thomas's will, which identified him as a "brownbaker,"^[3] and a notarial record for his brother Samuel, which identified Thomas as a watchmaker.^[4]

English governmental records clarify why the burial register designated Thomas as a captain. A Parliamentary order issued in August 1644 indicated payment was due to Captain Thomas Howse and fellow captains for having "served in the Entertainment [service] of the Parliament." Ten years later, a petition submitted on behalf of Thomas's widow, a fellow captain, and a fellow of the People in December 1648, Goodwin sided with the Levellers, boldly defending religious toleration.^[21]

Like Thomas Howse, Goodwin supported the Parliamentary war effort, and both men adventured money for lands in Ireland. The subscription of Irish Adventurers was a scheme adopted by Parliament in 1642 by which loans from the Adventurers subsidized the military conquest of Ireland and were to be repaid with lands confiscated in Ireland. In his will, Thomas bequeathed to his son Samuel "my adventure of fifty pounds which I have disbursed for lands in Ireland." A surviving list of Irish Adventurers confirms that "Thomas House, brownbaker," subscribed £50 for Irish lands and Goodwin subscribed £100.^[22]

In June 1643 Goodwin and more than 750 others signed the Parliamentary Oath and Covenant after a Sunday sermon at St. Stephen Coleman Street. Each person promised to assist the Parliamentary forces according to his or her "power and vocation" and not to directly or indirectly assist the forces raised by the King "without the consent of . . . Parliament." Thomas Howse and one of his apprentices, Henry Ebery, were among the signatories.^[23]

Thomas's only known place of business was in Pope's Head Alley, located in the parish of St. Michael Cornhill, but Thomas's name never appeared in the registers of that parish. Since Thomas does appear in the records of St. Giles Cripplegate in 1637 and 1641, it is likely that he maintained a residence in that parish. However, even though Thomas led a militia unit based outside the city of London from 1642 through his death in 1644, he appeared exclusively in records of St. Stephen Coleman Street during the last three years of his life.^[24] Like the members of Goodwin's gathered congregation, Thomas may have selected St. Stephen Coleman Street because of his preference for Goodwin as his minister.^[25]

Thomas's will bequeathed £10 to the poor and charged two "loving friends," William Granger the elder and Praise Barbone, with distributing the money. William Granger was arrested on 29 April 1632 with the separatist congregation of Thomas's brother-in-law, John Lothrop, and was imprisoned by order of the Court of High Commission, the prerogative court of the Crown used to enforce religious uniformity.^[26]

Thomas's friend, Praise Barbone (also known as Praise-God Barbone), was the husband of Sara Barbone, another member of Lothrop's congregation. Like Granger, Sara Barbone was called before the Court of High Commission and imprisoned with Lothrop's congregation.^[27] In 1640 her husband, who was a leatherseller, became the minister of an offshoot from Lothrop's congregation.^[28] Praise Barbone was nominated by Oliver Cromwell to serve in the Parliament of 1653—known as Barbone's Parliament—and was one of about sixty men in the radical faction of that Parliament. After the restoration of Charles II, Barbone was imprisoned in the Tower of London on suspicion of treason.^[29]

William Granger died after Thomas made his will but before the codicil. Because of Granger's death, Thomas assigned to "Mr. Samuell Hyland" the task of helping Barbone distribute money to the poor Highland and a distiller from Southwark, who, like Thomas, subscribed as an Irish Adventurer. In 1640 the churchwardens of St. Saviour Southwark presented Highland and his wife for not receiving communion that year.^[30] In 1647 Highland collaborated with the Levellers in petitioning Parliament. Sabine Staresmore, a founding member of the congregation later led by Lothrop, was one of Highland's fellow petitioners. Parliament voted to have the hangman burn petitions that Highland and Staresmore supported. In 1648 Highland served as a messenger between the army and the Levellers during negotiations for the Second Agreement of the People,^[31] which "anticipated . . . many fundamentals of the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights."^[32] In 1653 his John Lilburne, the firebrand leader of the Levellers, defied his sentence of banishment and returned to England, Highland publicly prayed for him. Later, in Highland's account of the Barbone's Parliament, he treated Lilburne sympathetically.

Highland was selected as a Member of Parliament in 1653, 1654, and 1656. He worked with Praise Barbone on Parliamentary committees during Barbone's Parliament and, like Barbone, he was a non-conformist lay minister associated with the radical faction of that Parliament.^[9] Highland's Parliamentary service was marked by principled opposition to declaring Cromwell king, support for the liberties of the people at risk during Parliament's debate about punishing the Quaker James Nayler, and defense of the right of Englishmen to petition Parliament.^[4]

Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howse's Siblings

In addition to bequeathing money to his minister and to the poor, Thomas also bequeathed money to his two siblings who had moved to New England. Thomas left £20 to his brother Samuel Howse, £10 to his sister Peninah Linnell, and fifty shillings to each of their children.

Like William Granger and Sara Barbone, both Samuel and Peninah had been imprisoned when Lothrop's congregation was raided by Richard Tomlins (alias Tomlinson), a pursuivant, or heretic hunter, working for William Land, who was then Bishop of London. Peninah was identified as Penina Howse, "a maid," when she appeared before the Court of High Commission to be tried for attending a religious meeting in a private home.^[5] Sometime after her appearance in court, but evidently before moving to New England, she married Robert Linnell as his second wife.^[6] John Bellamie, a former member of Lothrop's congregation, wrote a tract in 1646 in which he identified "Robert Lynell" and "Susan his wife" as members of the London congregation which Lothrop later served as minister. This tract also recorded that Robert was a deacon of the congregation and that the Linnells had their daughter Susan baptized at St. Andrew Hubbard on 7 December 1623.^[7] It has long been suspected that Peninah was not Linnell's first wife, and Bellamie's tract provides documentary evidence that Linnell previously had been married.

Another of Thomas' sisters, Hannah, who had married John Lothrop, was also arrested during the raid of Lothrop's congregation. However, unlike her siblings, she was released after being arrested. Hannah died before 24 April 1634, when her husband was released from jail on bond.^[8] Her husband was no stranger to religious trouble, having been suspended from his office as an Anglican clergyman in Egeron before becoming minister of the London congregation that was raided in 1632.^[9]

Religious Radicalism of Thomas Howse's Wife's Family

Thomas followed the "laudable custome of the Citie of London" by dividing his estate into three equal portions: one for his wife, one divided between his two surviving children, Samuel and Elizabeth, and one for enumerated legacies. His will lists approximately £250 of enumerated legacies. Assuming that his estate had enough assets to pay debts, fulfill the legacies, and provide matching amounts to his wife and children, his estate probably was valued at about £750. This valuation would likely place his estate in the upper third of London freemen of that time.^[10]

Thomas designated his wife, Elizabeth, as sole executrix of his will. Elizabeth survived Thomas by eight years. On 12 June 1645, about six months after Thomas's death, Elizabeth had married Robert Smith at St. Alphage London Wall. On the same day, according to Elizabeth's will, she entered into a nuptial agreement with her new husband: "my said late husband Robert Smith by his Obligation dated the twelveth day of June 1645 became bound unto Josiah Checkett, Cooper, and Praise Barbone, Leather Seller, in foure hundred pounds with condition amongst other things that the sayd Robert should

The records of St. Andrew Hubbard for this time period are no longer extant, making Bellamie's accuracy can be confirmed by the other baptisms he mentioned in this tract—that of Bethnah, daughter of Daniel Ray—which does match surviving parish records (London Metropolitan Archives, Saint Saviour, Southwark, Registers, included in London, England, Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials, 1538–1812, online at Ancestry.com). Bellamie's tract also provides the only contemporary witness that Daniel Ray was a member of the congregation eventually led by Lothrop. Ray appeared in the token books of St. Saviour Southwark as early as 1622 and as late as 1627 (William Ingran and Alan H. Nelson, The Token Books of St Saviour Southwark, online at <http://tokenbooks.kina.cipofoundation.gov.uk/>). An early Plymouth church history attests that, about 1629, "severall Godly persons, some whereof had bin of mr Lathrops Church in England," moved to Plymouth Colony (William Bradford and Nathaniel Morton, "History of the Plymouth Church, 1620–1687," in Publications of the Colonial Society of Massachusetts Collections, Vol. 22 [Boston: Colonial Society of Massachusetts, 1920], 64). It remains for future research to confirm if Daniel Ray, brewer's servant of St. Saviour Southwark, was identical with the seaman of the same name who settled in Plymouth by 1630, for whom see Robert Charles Anderson, The Great Migration Begins: Immigrants to New England, 1620–1633, 3 vols. (Boston: NEHGS, 1993), 1560–62.

^[6] The original manuscript of the "Teesey Records" indicated that "Mrs Lathorp" was arrested and released, while the previously published transcription of that manuscript incorrectly transcribed the name as "Mr Lathorp." It would have been very unlikely for the minister (John Lothrop) to be among those who were arrested and released when his congregation was raided. leave mee twoe hundred pounds out of his Estate over and above my said third part in case I should survive him."

In her will dated 14 October 1652, proved 23 October 1652, Elizabeth identified herself as the "late wife of Robert Smith, late Citizen and Sadler of London, deceased," and listed the following children: Samuel House, Elizabeth House, Robert Smith, Hanna Smith, and an unbaptized daughter who had not yet been named.⁽⁴¹⁾

At the time she made her will, Elizabeth probably belonged to Praise Barbone's church since she bequeathed twenty shillings "to the poore of the church of which Mr. Barbone is" and gave "to the church of which Mr. Barbone is twenty shillings more." She named as executors of her will "my loving Brother Josias Checkett and my loving friend Prayse Barbone." Elizabeth made her will one week after her second husband, Robert, was buried, and she was buried eight days after the date of her will.⁽⁴²⁾

Robert Smith's will, dated 1 October 1652, proved 6 July 1653, had named the same three Smith children who were mentioned in Elizabeth's will. Robert's will also named servants James Ashley and Thomas Fairclow, whom Robert had apprenticed through the Clockmakers' Company. Administration of Robert's will was granted to his uncle, Francis Smith, gentleman of Clopton, Warwickshire.⁽⁴³⁾

Like Thomas Howse, Robert was a clockmaker by trade but received his freedom outside of the Clockmakers' Company, having become a free saddler 8 December 1635. In addition to marrying Thomas's widow, Robert also assumed at least one of Thomas' apprentices, Henry Etbery. Robert became an assistant of the Clockmakers' Company in August 1649, was sworn renter warden in February 1650/1, and was continued as renter warden for the following year in October 1651. At a court of the Clockmakers' Company held 4 October 1652, "It was unanimously agreed by all the assistants that if it please God Mr. Robert Smith" recovered his health, he would serve as upper warden the following year. However, court minutes documented news the next day that Robert had died. Three years later, court minutes recorded that Francis Smith, Robert's executor, paid a debt owed to the company by Robert Smith of Pope's Head Alley from the time when he had served as renter warden.⁽⁴⁴⁾

Elizabeth appears to have fit very well with Thomas's other family and friends. She remained friends with Thomas's friend, Praise Barbone, throughout her life. In addition, like Thomas's siblings and brother-in-law, both Elizabeth and her father were arrested by the Court of High Commission, "Elizabetha Chequet" first appeared in High Commission court records on 12 June 1634. Although there is no evidence that Elizabeth was a member of Lothrop's congregation, three other cases involving members of Lothrop's congregation were listed on the same day. One of these other cases involved Lothrop himself, who was ordered to be attached [arrested] if he did not appear on the next court day. On 19 June 1634, the High Commission ordered that "Elizabetham Chequet allia's Howse" of All Saints parish be released from prison on bond. On the same date, Lothrop was ordered to be arrested because he had not appeared in court. Elizabeth next appeared in court records on 9 October 1634, as "Elizabetha Chequet allia's Howse." Another entry involving Lothrop's congregation was listed on the same date: John Lothrop and Samuel Eaton were ordered to be arrested and committed. The last two times that Elizabeth's name appeared on High Commission records, 16 October and 23 October 1634, she was simply listed as "Elizabetha Howse," with no mention of her maiden name. By the last date, Elizabeth had taken the self-incriminatory ex-officio oath to answer the articles against her.⁽⁴⁵⁾

The Court of High Commission minute book does not indicate the nature of the case against Elizabeth. However, surviving records list some of the complaints against her father and indicate that he was imprisoned after refusing to take the ex-officio oath. An order signed in 1611 by Sir Edward Coke, as chief justice of the Court of Common Pleas, decreed that the Court of High Commission was prohibited from proceeding any further against William Checkett without delivering a copy of the charges against him. Contemporary documentation of the legal rationale for the decision indicated that the justices had ruled unanimously in issuing the prohibition. The minister, churchwardens, and other parishioners of William Checkett's parish had complained that he held schismatical opinions and made scandalous speeches. William reportedly said that "there was noe [sic] for the booke of common prater nor for the surplices and other ceremonies" and that "there were yet left in London six or seaven churches which had not submitted themselves [to the] Antichristian rules and government of Lord bishops and popish and wicked cere[m]onies."⁽⁴⁶⁾

By the time Lothrop was ordered to be arrested on 9 October 1634, he had safely arrived in Plymouth Colony (Richard S. Dunn, James Savage, Laetitia Yeandle, eds., The Journal of John Winthrop, 1630-1649 [Cambridge, Mass.: Harvard University Press, 1996], 128-29).

⁴⁶ British Manuscript Project, 814f2, reel 671, f. 327 (prohibition dated 6 February 1610/1). British Library Add. MS. 32096, ff. 171-76 (legal rationale for the prohibition in William Checkett's case). The prohibition identified William Checkett as a cooper of Saint Botolph Billingsgate, naming him as Margaret, Josiah (transcribed once in his will as Isaac), Elizabeth, and a child bequeathed yet unborn (Will of William Checkett of Saint Botolph Billingsgate, City of London, Probative Court of Canterbury Wills, 14 Rudd, PROB 11/125/95). William's burial was recorded 23 January 1614/5 at St. Mary Magdalen, Bernonbury, and the child "yet unborn" was baptized there 26 March 1615 as Sarah (London Metropolitan Archives, St. Mary Magdalen, Bernonbury, Registers, included in London, England, Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials, 1538-1812, online database on Ancestry.com). Elizabeth's will (see note 41) listed a brother Josiah (Josias [also a cooper]), a brother Chapman, and three sisters ("my sister Hanna Chapman," my

Radicalism of Thomas Howse's Sister Hannah (Howse) (Allen) Chapman

The 1652 will of Elizabeth (Checkett) (Howse) Smith mentioned "my sister Hanna Chapman" and also "my brother Chapman and his wife." Since Elizabeth's will allowed the Chapmans to continue renting a shop in Pope's Head Alley under Elizabeth's covenant for that shop, the Chapmans can readily be identified as the publishers Hannah and Llewellyn Chapman, who operated a bookshop at the Crown in Pope's Head Alley when Elizabeth's will was written.^[67]

Elizabeth's will included instructions to cover a £50 debt owed by Llewellyn Chapman in case her second husband's executors should require Llewellyn to pay the debt. Elizabeth directed her executors to loan the same amount to Llewellyn out of the assets she would inherit from her second husband. This proposed loan was a substantial sum, equivalent to about two years' wages for a London construction worker.

Comparing surnames in Elizabeth's family with surnames in Hannah's family allows a plausible identification for Hannah's relationship to Elizabeth. The surnames in Elizabeth's family include Checkett (Elizabeth's maiden name), Muncke (her stepfather's surname), Howse (her first husband's surname), and Smith (her second husband's surname), while the surnames in Hannah's family include Howse (Hannah's maiden name), Allen (her first husband's surname), and Chapman (her second husband's surname).^[68] Since the only matching surnames in these two sets of families is Howse, the most obvious explanation for the relationship between Elizabeth and the Chapmans is that Hannah was a previously unknown sister of Elizabeth's first husband, Thomas Howse. Thomas had a sister named Hannah, who married John Lothrop, as mentioned above. Therefore, if the new Hannah was indeed Thomas's sister, this would mean Thomas had two sisters named Hannah. However, such an occurrence was not unknown in the seventeenth century families, especially when a man had children by two marriages (as was likely the case here; see the Genealogical Summary below).^[69] No sister Miller" and "my sister Checkett"). Comparing the names in Elizabeth's will with the names of Williams children, Josiah and Elizabeth clearly match. Hannah Chapman and her husband do not match (and were probably siblings in-law), but it is impossible to tell, since Elizabeth's will does not list given names—which of the siblings her sister Checkett and her sister Miller might be.

⁶⁸ Elizabeth's mother, Alice, married Richard Muncke as her second husband at St. Mary Magdalen, Bernersday, 14 November 1615 (St. Mary Magdalen, Bernersday, Register [note 46]). According to Maurice Bell's research, Hannah Howse and Benjamin Allen were married on 2 April 1632 at the Collegiate Church of St. Katherine by the Tower, while Hannah Allen and Llewellyn Chapman were married between January 1630/1 and 12 September 1631 (Maurice Bell, "Hannah Allen and the Development of a Puritan Publishing Business, 1646-51," Publishing History 26 (1983): 25, 41, 57; London Metropolitan Archives, St. Katherine by the Tower Registers, included in London, England, Baptisms, Marriages, and Burials, 1538-1812, online at Ancestry.com).

⁶⁹ The standard work on the subject for New England is Robert Charles Anderson, "Siblings of the Same Name in Colonial New England," Names, Northern, Publications III and IV of the Northeast Regional Names Institute (Saratoga Lake, N.Y., 1984), 31-40; John Lothrop's family baptismal record has been found for the second Hannah, but none has been found for her full sister Drusella either.^[90]

Like many of Thomas's other family and friends, the second Hannah had multiple connections with John Lothrop's congregation and left behind records that clearly mark her as a radical. One point of connection with Lothrop's congregation came through her first husband, Benjamin Allen. At the time that Benjamin was apprenticed to his master, John Bellamie, Bellamie was a member of the semi-separatist congregation founded by Henry Jacob. Bellamie continued as a member of that congregation after Lothrop became its minister but left the congregation around 1626 because of disagreement over the authority for ordaining ministers.^[91] Another of Hannah's connections to Lothrop's congregation was that Benjamin published two pamphlets by Praise Barbone, whose wife was a member of Lothrop's congregation.^[92] When the congregation previously led by Lothrop split in 1640, half of the congregation followed Praise Barbone, while the other half followed Henry Jessey. After Benjamin's death, both Hannah and her second husband, Llewellyn Chapman, published works by Jessey.^[93] Hannah's family also published materials by Thomas's friend, Samuel Highland, and Thomas's minister, John Goodwin. Llewellyn published Highland's account of the Baybome's Parliament^[94] and also published a tract attributed to Goodwin that was written in support of executing Charles I.^[95]

Both of Hannah's husbands had run-ins with the law. Benjamin appeared in High Commission court records three times in 1634 and 1635.^[96] In February 1637/8, the English ambassador to Holland sent instructions asking local officials in Leiden to arrest Benjamin, who had "tately fled out of provides another example of having two children with the same given name (Robert Charles Anderson, The Great Migration: Immigrants to New England, 1634-1635, Volume IV, 1-11 [Boston: NEHGS, 2009], 345-51, at 348-49).

⁹⁰ The account of Hannah (Howse) (Allen) Chapman in Original Dictionary of National Biography [note 21], 1792-93, identifies Hannah as probably the daughter of a Robert Howse. However, the evidence presented above shows that Hannah (Howse) (Allen) Chapman was the daughter of Rev. John Howse.

⁹¹ Drusella and the second Hannah were likely born after the last Howse sibling with a surviving baptismal record (Henry, who was baptized 29 June 1612). This would mean the first Hannah had already moved away from home because of her marriage by the time the second Hannah was born. See the Genealogical Summary below.

England.¹⁵¹ Seven years later, Parliament declared a book published by Benjamin to be heretical and ordered it to be burned by the hangman.¹⁵² Benjamin died the following year, and Hannah ran the publishing business from his death until her remarriage in 1651. Hannah freed her apprentice, Livewell Chapman, from his apprenticeship in 1650 and married him by September 1651. During the five years that Hannah ran the business, she published at least fifty-four books and pamphlets and extended the business in a radical direction.¹⁵³

Hannah's second husband, Livewell Chapman, became the leading publisher of the radical Fifth Monarchist sect. The Fifth Monarchists were dedicated to bringing about the fifth kingdom in world history, with Jesus Christ as sovereign. In 1654 Livewell was jailed, and in 1655 he was arrested again.¹⁵⁴ The following year, he succeeded in publishing James Harrington's Oceana, even though government agents seized the manuscript at one point.¹⁵⁵ The Council of State issued orders against Livewell in 1657 and 1658.¹⁵⁶ In the latter year, Oliver Cromwell died, and his son, Richard, became Lord Protector, serving in that position a mere eight months before he was deposed. Austin Woolrych, one of the pre-eminent historians of the English Civil War, wrote that Livewell published so much anti-Cromwellian material that "his share of responsibility for the change of government [when Cromwell was deposed] may well have been considerable."¹⁵⁷

On 28 March 1660, the Council of State issued a proclamation accusing Livewell of publishing treasonous books—which probably included John Milton's *Readie and Easie Way to Establish a Free Commonwealth*¹⁵⁸—and he was arrested within two days.¹⁵⁹ By June 1661 Roger L'Estrange, surveyor of the press, had descended on Livewell's partners who helped him produce two tracts. L'Estrange wrote that one was "a virtulent Pamphlet" and the other was "an imposture of a most damnable Design." In describing Livewell and one of his partners, L'Estrange said that "no men whatever of their Profession have more Constantly, and Maliciously prosecuted the Destruction of the Royal Family."¹⁶⁰ Livewell fled from England for two years and was imprisoned shortly after his return. He petitioned to be released, declaring that he had done nothing against the government.¹⁶¹ In January 1664, a warrant was issued to allow Christopher Chapman and Livewell's wife, Anne [sic], to visit Livewell in prison in response to his wife's petition indicating that Livewell was sickly and that she was "very weakly."¹⁶² Livewell was finally released in May 1664 on £300 bond. The day before the warrant for Livewell's release was issued, L'Estrange certified that he believed the bondman—listed as "Christopher Cope" and "Checker"—were reliable. When Livewell signed his bond, the conditions for his release included that he would not "at any time hereafter by or with the consent & privy of his Wife, or any other person whatsoever, print, publish, disperse, vend, or sell or cause to be printed, published, dispersed, vended or sold any unlicensed, treasonable, factious or seditious Booke or Pamphlet."¹⁶³ A fellow bookseller, Francis Smith, later testified that Livewell and his family had been financially ruined by his continual imprisonments.¹⁶⁴

Livewell's burial record has not been located, but his last publication was issued in 1665. Livewell's wife and three of his daughters were buried within a three-week period in the fall of 1665 at St. Stephen Coleman Street, right at the time that deaths were peaking during London's last major outbreak of the plague. In September 1665, the month when Hannah died, there were 196 burials and only three baptisms in St. Stephen Coleman Street. With existing parishioners dying 65 times as fast as children were being baptized, the parish registers bear sober witness to the devastation caused by the plague.¹⁶⁵

Livewell's nemesis, Roger L'Estrange, was apparently not satisfied with Livewell having been sent to mortal prisons but also wanted to assign Livewell's soul to an immortal prison. In a creative translation of Francisco de Quevedo Villegas's visions of hell, L'Estrange described an encounter in hell with a bookseller who was unnamed in the original Spanish but who L'Estrange chose to identify as Livewell in his "translation." The bookstore, which was described in Spanish as the "whorehouse of books," was converted by L'Estrange into "the very Mint of Heresy, Schism, and Sedition."⁷²

Hannah and her husbands were considered to be radicals throughout their lives, regardless of who was at the helm of the government. They fared no better after the execution of Charles I than they had before the overthrow of the monarchy, or than they did after the restoration of the monarchy under Charles II. They sought for the ideal of the fifth monarchy but never found it among the government of men.

Conclusion

Having started with a man who was described as a brownbaker, a watchmaker, and a captain at the time of his death, the trail of clues led to a circle of family and friends who were considered to be political and religious radicals. It is striking to note how radical several members of the Howse family were and how deeply they were involved with other radicals. Not only was Thomas Howse a radical—who fought against his king while serving in the Parliamentary army and who attended services at one of the most radical parishes of London—but also he married a wife who was arrested by the Court of High Commission and his father-in-law, three siblings, and a brother-in-law were arrested by the same court. In addition, Hannah Chapman, identified by Thomas's wife as a sister, was a radical publisher whose husbands suffered continual legal troubles—before, during, and after the Protectorate—because of their publishing activities.

Thomas's father, John Howse, was serving as rector of Eastwell at the time he died in August 1630 and was described as "a reverent preacher and minister of this parish" in the burial register.⁷³ Knowing how many of Thomas's siblings became religious radicals, it is not surprising to observe that Eastwell was in the middle of one of the hottest Puritan regions in England, the Weald of Kent. In fact, in the fifteenth century, the Weald had been a strong Lollard area, so extreme dissent was a generations-long phenomenon.⁷⁴ One of the most radical Kentish ministers in the late sixteenth century was Josias Nicholls, John Howse's predecessor as rector of Eastwell.⁷⁵ These factors could suggest that John Howse was "a radical of some degree."⁷⁶

Genealogical Summary

Rev. JOHN^a HOWSE was born say 1565. He died 30 August 1630 (according to his probate) and was buried in Eastwell, Kent, 2 September 1630. A wife Alice was mentioned in his will and was buried in Eastwell 17 June 1640.⁷⁷ However, his oldest three children may have been by an unknown first wife. His university affiliation has not been found.⁷⁸ He became curate of Egerton, Kent, in April 1592 and rector of Eastwell in April 1603.⁷⁹ He left a nuncupative will on or about 23 August 1630, proved 28 September 1630, leaving everything to wife Alice. Two of the three witnesses were Elizabeth Champion (identified as a daughter) and Dyrusilla Howes.⁸⁰

Children of Rev. John^a Howse:

- i. ELIZABETH HOWSE, b. say 1590, d. after Aug. 1630 when she testified about her father's will, m. Eastwell 28 Sept. 1607, JOHN CHAMPION. They probably were the parents of John Champion, bp. Eastwell 17 Nov. 1611, son of John Champion, and perhaps other children baptized in nearby Kent parishes; however, none of the entries lists the mother's name.⁸¹

- ii. HANNAH HOWSE, bp. Egerton 5 May 1594;⁸² d. in England before 24 April 1634, when her husband was released from prison; m. Eastwell 16 Oct. 1610, REV. JOHN^a LOTHROP, supposedly the child of that name bp. Eton, Yorkshire, 20 Dec. 1584, son of Thomas Lothrop.⁸³ Rev. John Lothrop, a graduate of Queen's College, Cambridge, immigrated to New England in 1634.⁸⁴ He m. (2) by 14 June 1635 Ann _____. There is a sketch of him in volume 4 of The Great Migration with a list of his children by both wives.⁸⁵

Augustin Davignon and André Brault dit Chailiot,

Brothers-in-Law of Winoski Falls, Vermont

Michael F. Dwyer and Susan L. Valley

Among the 158 heads of household in the 1820 census for Colchester, Chittenden County, Vermont, only one name, that of "Augustin Davino," clearly evokes its origin in French-speaking Canada.^[1] The next name, "Andrew Brough," Augustin's brother-in-law, requires some decoding to recognize him as André Brault dit Chailiot.^[2] Both men, in their early twenties, had recently emigrated from the environs of Chamblay, Canada, seventy-five miles north of the Vermont border. They were at the vanguard of what would eventually become a tide of French-Canadian immigrants who settled in northern Vermont. Though these men traveled only a short geographical distance, they now dwell in a foreign land marked by a different language, a hostile culture, and the absence of Catholic churches.

Rev. Jean Frédéric Audet's Histoire de la Congrégation Canadienne de Winoski au Vermont (1906) states that, in 1814, members of the Chailiot and Cottard families were living in Winoski.^[3] He gives greater detail about Augustin Davignon who came to Burlington in 1816 to work on the construction of the Unitarian Church.^[4] Within the next two years, Augustin Davignon and André Brault dit Chailiot, the men of the 1820 census, would marry daughters of Louis Cottard, another emigrating farmer who had made several moves south along the Richelieu River before arriving in Winoski,^[5] then part of Colchester. No contemporary record documents the date, location, and officiant of the marriages of Augustin Davignon to Esther Cottard or André Brault dit Chailiot to Charlotte Cottard. These marriages likely took place in Vermont, and in the absence of a priest, the couples would have been married by a Protestant clergyman or a justice of the peace. The Catholic Church would only recognize the validity of these marriages if they were rehabilitated or blessed by a priest. A record does survive of the rehabilitation

Notes	WIFE - Elizabeth Hammond *Oct 2018 located info on Elizabeth Hammond from WikiTree site. Info listed her birth abt 1610, parents not listed siblings not listed, wife of Thomas House no dates for him, no mg date or location, death date unknown. (Not sure Thomas and Elizabeth Hammond Howse are actually son of Rev. John Howse but his info listed his as b. 31 Aug 1607- 1644 died 23 Dec 1644 London, Eng.) Another son of John Howse and Alice Lloyd Thomas Howse 1608-by 17 Dec 1644 London, Eng. He was said to be md to Elizabeth Checkett abt 1634 and she married Robert Smith 1645 after Thomas death 1644. The Article from The Nehg Register, Journal of Am Genealogy on this John in his will listed his wife Elizabeth. So isn't any help on which Elizabeth for sure, if same Thomas b 1607 or 1608 is the same person? Much info on this Thomas in this article. Info on his Friends, his Wife's family (No wives name other Elizabeth and two surviving children Samuel and Elizabeth, and his siblings who moved to New England, Brother Samuel and sister Peninnah. So here it listed his wife outlived him by 7 years and married Robert Smith in 1645 and they had 2 children. (So where does Elizabeth Hammond come in?) And which one is this Tthomas Howse b. 1607 or 1608??????????

Samuel House

BIRTH Jun 1610
Eastwell, Ashford Borough, Kent, England

DEATH 12 Sep 1661 (aged 51)

BURIAL Unknown

MEMORIAL ID 37101665 · View Source

Baptized Eastwell, Kent, 10 June 1610, son of Rev. John House. Shipcarpenter from London who came to Massachusetts Bay in 1634 (based on date of admission to Scituate church). First settled in Scituate; moved to Cambridge by 1642, Barnstable in 1645, & Scituate in 1646.

Married about April 1636 Elizabeth Hammond, daughter of WILLIAM HAMMOND {1631, Watertown}. She was presumably dead before 1 October 1661 (when her two eldest children were granted administration on their father's estate) and was certainly dead before 1 July 1662 (when her father called her "my daughter Elizabeth House deceased.")

Rev. JOHN LOTHROP {1634, Scituate} had married in England as his first wife Hannah House, sister of Samuel House. A third House sibling, Pennina, married ROBERT LINNELL {1638, Scituate}. Samuel House and Pennina House had been as early as 1632 members of Lothrop's Separatist congregation in London. Because of his participation in these Separatist activities, Samuel House was imprisoned in 1632 in London, as a result of which he was interrogated at a Court of High Commission on 8 May 1632, during which he testified that "I have served the King both by sea & by land, and I had been at sea if this restraint had not been made upon me. My conversation I thank God none can tax." (Burrage confused this immigrant with another Separatist, Samuel How, a cobbler and preacher.)

In his will of 18 October 1643, "Thomas Howse of the parish of St Stephen in Coleman Street, London, a citizen and brownbaker," included bequests to "my brother Samuel Howse" and "my sister Pininna Lynnell." On 18 November 1645, "Samuel Howse of Barnstable" made a letter of attorney to "Hezekiah Usher of Boston to receive twenty pounds of the executor of Thomas [blank] given him by the last will of the said Thomas [blank]." On 20 July 1649, "Samuel Howse of Scituate shipwright" made a letter of attorney to "Tho[mas] Tarte of the same merchant ... to ask &c. of the executor &c. of the last will & testament of Thomas House late of Lond[on] watchmaker, all such legacies as due unto the children of the said appearer by virtue of the said last will."

Samuel House married about April 1636 Elizabeth Hammond, daughter of WILLIAM HAMMOND {1631, Watertown}. She was presumably dead before 1 October 1661 (when her two eldest children were granted administration on their father's estate) and was certainly dead before 1 July 1662 (when her father called her "my daughter Elizabeth House deceased."

They had 7 children: Elizabeth Sutton, Samuel, Sarah, John, John again, Joseph & Hannah.

In his will of 1 July 1662, William Hammond, Samuel House's father-in-law, included a bequest to "the four children of my daughter Elizabeth House deceased." These four surviving children would be the two eldest, who were granted administration on their father's estate, and the two youngest, who chose their guardian not long after.
